Police Believe Blonde Sought In Patrolman's Murder Is Seeking Captive Child

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Irene Schroeder, whom police are seeking in three states in connection with the killing of a state highway patrolman, is trying to reach her 4-year-old son, Donnie, who boasts "my mother shot two cops," police believe.

At least two attempts, authorities revealed, have been made to reach the child, who has been placed under heavy police guard in a secret "hide-out" either in this town or Butler.

All day yesterday the bright-eyed youngster who proudly boasts that "my mother shot two state cops," looked over photographs taken from the bertillon records of state police in an effort to identify the likeness of the woman alleged to have shot and killed Corporal Brady Paul in a gun battle last Friday, in which one of her male companions twice wounded Patrolman Ernest Moore.

MEN UNIDENTIFIED

Thus far the quest has been unsuccessful. Lieut. Thomas Boettner, of Troop D., State Police, at Butler, and his aides at the local sub-station have shown the boy numerous photographs in the hope that he would recognize one of them as his mother.

Bertillon photos of men answering the description of the woman's companions also have been shown to the boy without success. It was

Killer Trio Reported in Wilkinsburg

The trail of a blonde woman and two men, followed from Harrisburg to East Pittsburgh in the belief that they might be the three persons sought in the murder of State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul, of New Castle, was lost in Wilkinsburg shortly before 3 o'clock today.

Motorcycle Patrolman C. N. Cargo, of East Pittsburgh, at the behest of an unidentified motorist, who said he had driven behind the three from Harrisburg, attempted to pick up the chase, but the car and its three occupants had disappeared.

East Pittsburgh notified county and city detectives, who started out in the hope of running down the clue.

Warden Tarpped in Auburn Riot Quits

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(INS.) ⅞Edgar S. Jennings has resigned as warden at Auburn prison, it was learned from sources close to Gov. Roosevelt this afternoon. During the recent riot at Auburn Jennings was held hostage by 15 ringleaders and compelled to send out a note begging the guards to open the prison gates, but finally was saved. Jennings has been Auburn warden for 12 years.

DRY SHAKEUP REVEALED BY U. S.

Ousting of 12 Prosecutors Cited in Mitchell Reply To Borah Laxity Charges

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—An even dozen United States district attorneys have been ousted in the shake-up instituted some time ago by the Department of Justice, it was announced today by Attorney General Mitchell.

Mitchell's statement apparently was designed to answer Senator Borah's recent charges that 17 district attorneys were not doing their duty by prohibition.

One of the dozen district attorneys was removed from office, Mitchell said, the other 11 being permitted to resign.

CHARGES SUPPORTED

Mitchell declared that the Idaho Senator had not submitted any evidence to the Department of Justice to back up his charges of inefficiency on the part of the 17 prosecutors.

"If anyone has information that United States attorneys are not qualified, I should be delighted to have it," said Mitchell, pointedly.

Mitchell said there were still 15 vacancies to be filled among the 91 United States district attorneys. He said some of the incumbents were candidates for reappointment and that one, the district attorney for Arkansas, had signified his desire not to continue in office. He said that all the vacancies were due to the expiration of four year terms of office.

Soon after coming into office Mitchell directed a broad investigation into the activities of all United States attorneys. He explained today that this investigation was of a continuing character and that the work of these officials would be scrutinized carefully in the future.

SENATORS CLASH

Meantime, the prohibition flare, with ever widening range, thrust President Hoover's law enforcement commission back into the congressional spotlight with anti-prohibition and dry leaders clashing over its functions.

An announcement by Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, noted dry, that the commission would not consider the "wisdom or unwisdom of the Eighteenth amendment," provoked a new attack from the antis. The latter charged the commission would "surrender one of its principal functions" if it failed to investi-

Father Run Down, Killed by Son, 14

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Merle Sprenkle, 35, a farmer residing near here, was dead today as a result of being run down accidentally last night by a bicycle ridden by his son, Junior, 14. He suffered a fractured skull which proved fatal while he was being taken to a local hospital.

The father was returning to his home from the residence of Washington Kipe, here, where he was employed, when he was run down by the boy who was returning home on an errand for his mother. In addition to Junior, the widow and four children survive.

JAILED MAYOR FIGHT IN COURT

Johnstown's city treasurer, Winston Davis, appealed to the State Supreme Court here from the ruling of Cambria County courts that Mayor Joseph Cauffiel was not entitled to rule as chief executive from jail, where he is serving a two-year sentence.

It is understood that Davis is not in sympathy with Cauffiel's stand, but simply wants the higher court's ruling.

HEARS APPEAL MONDAY

Davis' appeal will be heard before the higher court in Philadelphia Monday.

Cauffiel, from jail, notified Davis that all pay vouchers for city employes must bear Cauffiel's name. However, the Cambria court's decision is interpreted as assuring the employes their checks on payday, which is tomorrow.

OVERDORFF ACTING MAYOR

In Johnstown today, Councilman Calvin Overdorff was in the Mayor's chair, and Council was prepared to function without the jailed executive.

Cauffiel was convicted of perjury, maintaining a gambling house and misdemeanor in office.

MAYOR'S FRIEND SENTENCED

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Jonathan Rager, the state's chief witness in the conviction of Mayor Joseph Cauffiel, of Johnstown, on charges of conspiracy, misconduct in office, and protecting gamblers, was sentenced today to serve one to two years in the Cambria County jail for conspiracy and keeping a gambling house.

Rager, who admitted at the trial of Mayor Cauffiel that he was a gambler of Johnstown, pleaded guilty to the charges against him last March. He was indicted jointly with the mayor.

In addition to the jail sentence, Rager was fined $500 and costs. He was turned over to county officers immediately after sentence was passed and began serving his sentence.

Weygand, Foch 'Heir,' Heads French Army

PARIS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, considered the military heir of Marshal Foch, today was officially named chief of the French army general staff. His promotion has been generally known since last March. Weygand was considered by Foch the ablest active military chief in France.

WCAE TO USE HIGHER POWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(Special).—Permission for WCAE to use the new 1,000-watt transmitter recently installed at Pittsburgh will be granted tomorrow or Saturday, the Federal Radio Commission assured J. L. Kaufmann, manager, today.

The new license will be for the period ending January 31, on which date all broadcasting licenses expire, but its continuation will be merely a matter of form, unless the increase in power is found to affect the broadcasting activities of other stations.

WCAE now operates on a power of 500 watts and a frequency of 1,200 kilocycles, which will be retained.

HUNT SUITORS IN BOMBING

SEAT PLEASANT, Md., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Police today were seeking several rejected suitors of Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 18-year-old bride of a few months, for questioning in their attempt to discover the sender of a crudely made bomb, wrapped in Christmas paper, which caused Mrs. Brady's death and seriously injured six members of her family.

One middle-aged man and several youths are known to have been admirers of the young woman before she married Herman Brady, a farmer, and all are being traced in the widespread investigation.

TAKEN HOME BY BOY

The package containing the bomb was left at the doorstep of a neighbor, Mrs. Anna Buckley, apparently by mistake. Mrs. Buckley, seeing that it was addressed to Mrs. Brady, who lived at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nora Hall, several blocks away, gave it to Leslie Hall, 16-year-old brother of the dead woman.

Leslie brought the package home and all the family peered over Mrs. Brady's shoulder as she unwrapped it, thinking it was an unexpected Christmas gift.

Smith Aid to Oppose Simmons for Senate

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, Democratic National Committeeman from North Carolina, who gave his support to Herbert Hoover in the last presidential campaign, will have opposition in the Democratic primary next June from Josiah William Bailey, Raleigh attorney and one of the staunchest campaigners for Alfred E. Smith.

Simmons has been Senator from North Carolina more than 30 years and has not been opposed by a Democrat since 1912, when the late Claude Kitchin, former representative from North Carolina, was an unsuccessful candidate.

PITT'S DEFEAT STUNS FANS

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Stunned!

That is about the only word that tells the true story of the reaction of the football world to the result of the 1930 Rose Tourney football game in the beautiful Rose Bowl here yesterday afternoon in which the hitherto undefeated University of Pittsburgh eleven, claimant of the Eastern championship, went down to a decisive 47-14 defeat before the University of Southern California Trojans.

On December 14, these same Trojans defeated Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh, 45 to 13, at Los Angeles. That was bad enough, but Tech was not rated along with Pitt, and the result of yesterday's game gives Tech the edge over the Panthers by a single point.

WORST DEFEAT IN BOWL

Going into the battle yesterday an even choice to win, Pitt's Panther prowled into stark disaster in the form of the worst defeat ever handed a team in the Rose Bowl. It was a rout, especially in the opening half, which ended with the score 26 to 0 in the Coast team's favor. The Panthers fell before a dangerous and well-conceived attack by air. They were ridiculous in their efforts to break up the passing game of the Trojans. Never noted as being obdurate against an aerial-minded foe, Pitt yesterday was a total loss.

GALA CROWD ATTENDS

A gala crowd, numbering better than 70,000, sat under Southern California smiling skies and witnessed the debacle. The beautiful Rose Bowl in the emerald and gold setting of the Arroyo Seco, bedecked with garland of flowers, crimson, gold and rose, saw its first Waterloo yesterday, but it also saw a great football team, an

MAYOR'S AID TO BE GIVEN $8,000 JOB

Eighth Ward Republican Chairman Scheduled for Position in New Cabinet

Roy D. Schooley, political confidant and a personal friend of Mayor Charles H. Kline, is slated to become city treasurer, effective Monday, reports from reliable sources indicated today.

Schooley was one of Mayor Kline's most intimate political advisors during the last four years and was strategist of the mayor's campaign for re-election.

He is Republican chairman of the Eighth Ward and a member of the County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

His present position pays $5,000 a year. The salary of the city treasurer is $8,000.

Since the time Mayor Kline's re-election was assured, reports have been current that Schooley aspired to one of the other cabinet jobs, but evidently the mayor feared to disturb an official who had formidable backing in and out of political circles.

Richard W. Thompson, who was promoted from chief clerk to city treasurer after the death last October of Wallace Borland, will be returned to his former position, it was said.

MARY MINTER'S NERVES GIVE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Following the recent revival of investigation of the mystery surrounding the slaying in 1922 of William Desmond Taylor, Mary Miles Minter, one-time famous film actress who was starred by the murdered director, has entered a sanitarium following a nervous breakdown, it was learned here.

Former Gov. Friend W. Richardson today revealed at Berkeley that he had uncovered further new evidence in connection with the mysterious slaying of Taylor.

Richardson, now retired, said he had telegraphed his former secretary, Joseph Vickers, now a Los Angeles attorney, to lay the information before District Attorney Buron Fitts here.

The former governor refused to disclose the nature of his evidence, but it was reported to have been transmitted to him after his recent statement blaming Asa Keyes, predecessor in office of Fitts, with blocking solution of the murder mystery.

Keyes is now in the Los Angeles County jail, awaiting the outcome of an appeal from his conviction a year ago of accepting bribes while district attorney.

P. R. R. Passengers to Get Train Tieup Refunds

The Pennsylvania Railroad will refund money spent by commuters who, December 21, were forced to leave suburban trains and use other means of travel in reaching the downtown district when trains were tied up due to congestion caused by blizzards in the west, Vice President E. W. Smith announced. His statement is as follows:

"Refund will be made of actual taxicab, street car, and bus expense incurred by patrons of the Pennsylvania Railroad in going from East Liberty, Federal street or Smithfield street stations to downtown Pittsburgh Saturday, December 21, when certain trains were terminated short of the customary destination because of terminal congestion due to blizzard and fog conditions.

"Statement of expense can be mailed to R. M. Klocker, passenger traffic manager, or application can be made in person to the Redemption Bureau, 702 Pennsylvania Station."

Widow, Once Immigrant Maid, Left Millions

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—In a rambling, gabled old mansion where for 17 years she served as chambermaid and in which her brother still is the butler, a middle-aged Czecho-Slovakian immigrant reigned today as mistress and possibly sole owner.

She is the former Anna Mary Schleis, who two years ago became the fourth wife of her employer, Frank W. Savin, retired millionaire broker, then 76 years old.

Savin died Tuesday after an appendicitis operation. His will has not yet been filed. Among the heirs are his son and daughter and two adopted children, but presumably his widow will be one of the principal beneficiaries.

The size of the estate has been variously estimated all the way from $5,000,000 to $20,000,000.

"Twenty million dollars would be far too much, I think," the widow said today. "Five million would be nearer right."

When he retired, Savin sold his seat on the stock exchange, for which he had paid $5,000 30 years before, for $475,000.

With the house of towers and gables, the widow today also had at her sole command several automobiles and a staff of servants, of which her brother, Joseph Schleis, the butler, is the head.

LIBERALS PLAN ORGANIZED FIGHT AGAINST VOLSTEAD A

UNITED ANTI FRONT NOW ASSURED

Halt Invasion of Private Rights, Less Bloodshed Aim; Drys Already Split

By WILLIAM S. NEAL.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—An ambitious program designed to halt the alleged invasion of the constitutional rights of citizens in enforcement of the prohibition law and ultimately to bring about modification of the Volstead act is being developed by congressional anti-prohibitionists, it was disclosed today.

This is the answer to the plans of the administration to reorganize the whole system of dry law enforcement, and the controversy raging among Senate drys.

The campaign is expected to bring before Congress and the country for the first time since national prohibition became effective a real anti-prohibition platform around which all liberals may rally.

END SNIPING

During the entire congressional war over prohibition, it is pointed out by leading antis, there never has been a concrete program presented in opposition to the dry forces, and the opposition has been largely confined to sniping.

Among the planks which may be included in the anti-prohibition platform are:

Legislation providing heavy penalties for prohibition officers who violate the constitutional guarantees against search and seizure in raids.

Modification of Section 581 of the Tariff Act of 1922, under which, it is alleged the coast guard and customs officers have virtual wartime powers to shoot and kill suspects.

Measure indemnifying innocent victims of the bullets of enforcement officers.

Bill prohibiting telephone and telegraph wire-tapping to obtain evidence, as an invasion of personal liberties guaranteed the individual under the constitution. The Supreme Court has held wire tapping legal.

CENSUS REFERENDUM

Modification of Volstead law and provision for taking of a nation-wide referendum as a part of the 1930 census also may become a part of the platform.

"I am confident the anti-prohibitionists of the House will present a real platform to Congress and the nation in the near future," said Rep. Schafer (Rep.), of Wisconsin, explaining the plan.

"Several methods of modifying the Volstead act will be considered. I shall advocate a program in line with the temperance plan of Justice Franklin Chase Hoyt, of New York, in the Hearst papers' contest.

"Repeal or modification of section 581 of the tariff act of 1922 certainly will be urged. Under this provision and the present interpretation, customs officers have powers equal to sentries in war-time. They may shoot if someone fails to stop at their command. Abuse of this has already led to the killing of many innocent people.

RECOGNIZE CRITICISM

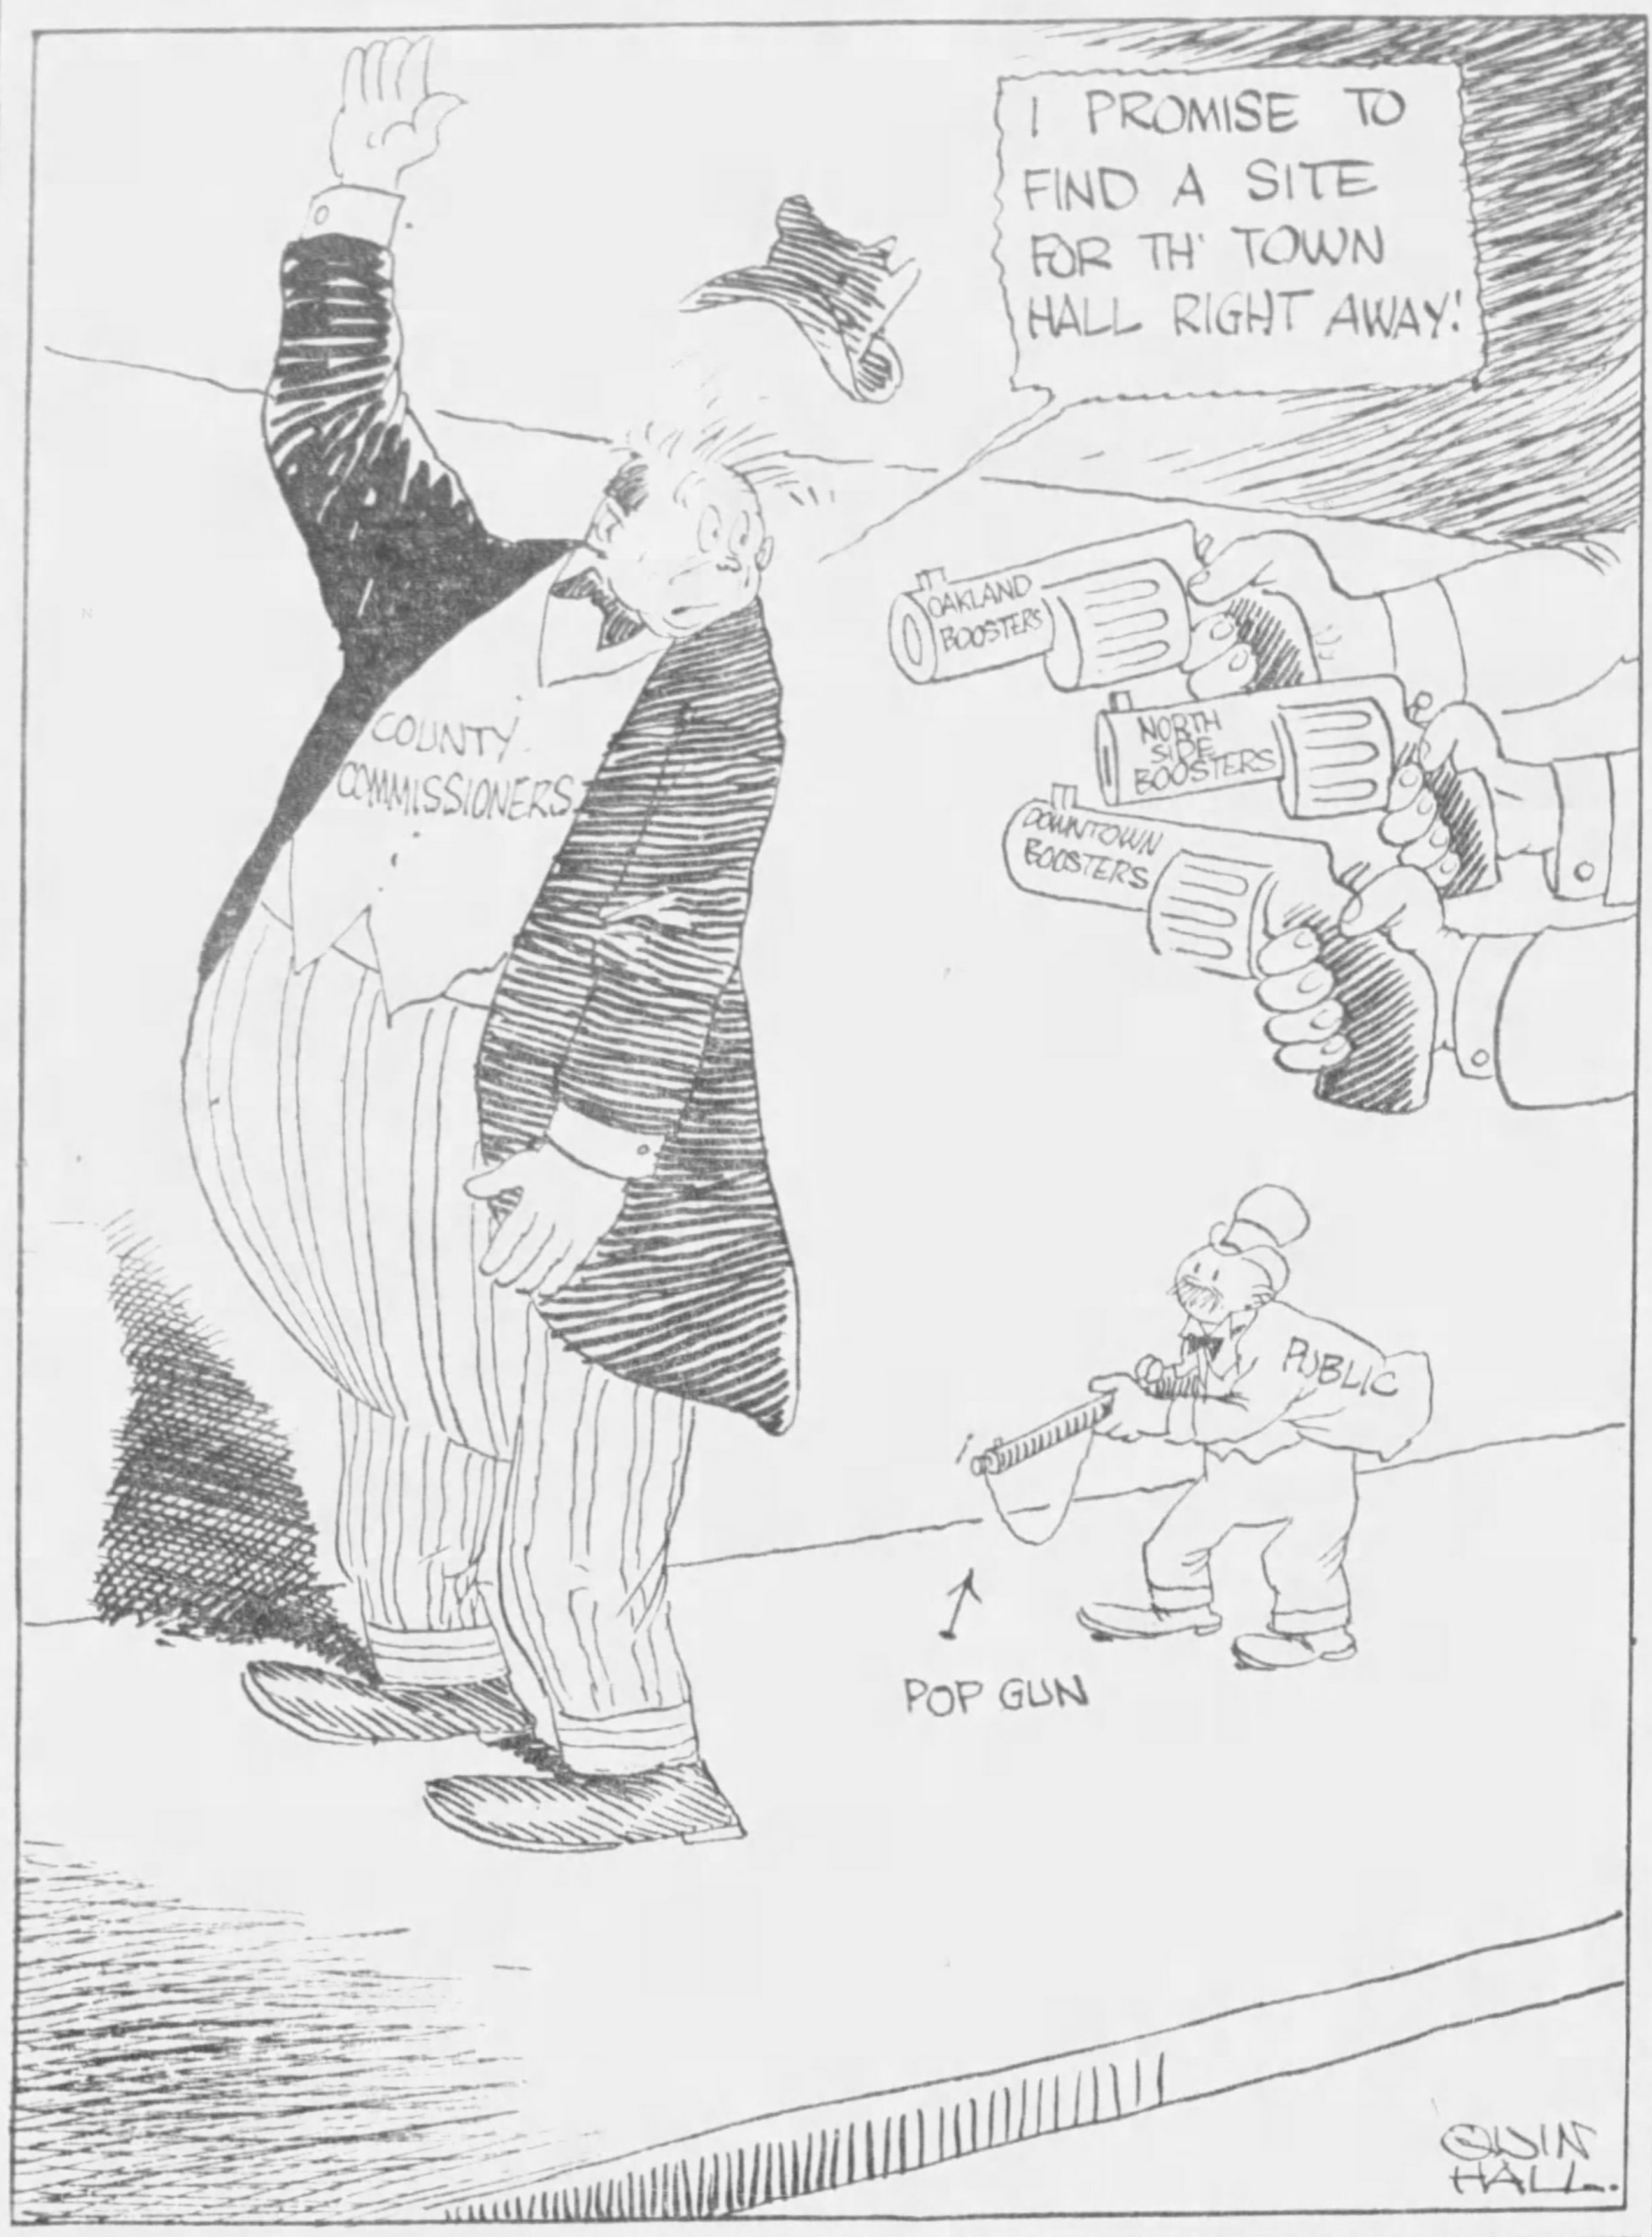
"The criticism of Judge McCormick of the President's Law Enforcement Commission, of the illegal acts of prohibition officers and their failure to recognize the doctrine that 'a man's home is his castle' will be the subject of another plank.

"The antis never have and never will attempt to block the reasonable demands of government agencies charged with administration of the law. Some anti-prohibitionists would appropriate hundreds of millions just to prove the law can't be enforced. I am opposed to pouring the taxpayers' money down a sewer."

'Trick Bomb' Found Underneath Porch

A "trick bomb," made of bolts and nuts and a section of clothes line, caused excitement in Paulson avenue Tuesday night, after it had been discovered beneath the porch of a residence. Police were called to the home of Daniel Sparano at 248 Paulson avenue after someone had noticed the object, the clothesline smoldering, beneath the porch. An investigation revealed that it was nothing more than a few bolts and nuts attached by the smoldering rope.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION By Quin Hall



TOWN HALL SITE PROTEST FILED

be given the opportunity to reply to it in writing.

"It is not our intention at this time or in this manner," the association states, "to advocate any particular district or site. We think that, as citizens from all parts of the county and as taxpayers in the section from which the largest financial contribution for the institution must come, we have a duty to the community as well as ourselves, to call your attention to the wealth of evidence in the record which seems to have been ignored by the Planning Commission, and for that reason should be the more carefully examined by you. What we as business men desire is to make certain that this community enterprise, more important that any other single one, be studied by the responsible officers of the county in detail, feeling certain that almost any other conclusion than the one reached by the Planning Commission will be wiser and to the public benefit.

"Entirely aside from our advocacy of a particular site or sites, it is our mature judgment as men of business, experienced in dealing with the public, that any investment in Oakland will not only be a total loss, except sentimentally as it the Memorial Hall, but it will entail an annual liability on the county budget instead of providing a self-supporting community asset."

LISTS ARGUMENTS

The Town Hall Association's letter declares:

"That the entire success of the project depends upon the accessibility of the building.

"That no town hall in the United States is located in a residential district.

"That experts admit that a suburban or residential location would be fatal to the town hall's use.

"That the streets surround the proposed Oakland site are inadequate for a town hall's traffic problem.

"That automobile parking would be next to impossible near the site.

"That the success of a town hall depends largely on trade and industrial conventions, which require railroad sidings to the hall, and this would be impossible in Oakland.

"That the cost of the Oakland plan is lower only because of the relatively smaller size of the Oakland site.

"That a town hall which would increase taxable values in the business section, will actually decrease them in Oakland.

"That the idea of using other public buildings in the Schenley Farms district as auxiliaries for large conventions involves too many conflicting schedules to make it feasible. That a town hall in Oakland will entail an annual liability on the county budget instead of being a self-supporting community asset.

In conclusion the letter states:

"We express the opinion after full deliberation that rather than follow the recommendation of the Planning Commission, the public interest will be better served by abandoning the town hall project altogether."

Footprints Cause False Alarm Arrests

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Dan Fidele, 24, and Alex Rinier, 23, were fined $25 each for turning in a false fire alarm.

A half hour after they had turned in an alarm to see the firemen racing over icy streets, they were tracked to their homes by footprints in the snow.

Malten, Famed Opera Singer, Dies in Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Therese Malten, famous Wagnerian opera singer and a member of the former Royal Saxon Opera House, died at Dresden today, aged 74.

After her debut in 1873, she was principal soprano at Dresden for 30 years, and played in London, Berlin, Vienna and numerous other cities at intervals. She was appointed chamber singer to the King of Saxony in 1880, and was chosen by Wagner to play Isolde at Baireuth in 1883, although the death of the composer caused abandonment of the performance.

DRY SHAKEUP REVEALED

BORAH, JONES SPLIT

Another statement by Jones that the commission had filed an "important report" with President Hoover led to a fresh split in the dry ranks. Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, a constitutional dry, disputed Jones' assertion and declared the commission had submitted no such report in recent days. Jones apparently referred to the preliminary report, which the commission sent Mr. Hoover a month ago, while Borah indicated he meant the commission had been silent since the start of the present controversy some 10 days ago.

The commission's preliminary report, thoroughly aired though never made public by the White House, dealt with court congestion, the transfer of the enforcement machinery from the Treasury to the Justice Department, the codification of prohibition statutes and unification of the border patrols. Mr. Hoover, according to Jones, will send these recommendations to Congress as soon as a joint congressional committee is formed to handle them. This committee will be created shortly after Congress returns next week.

COMMISSION UNDER FIRE

The commission, however, will face serious attacks from the antis' ranks on the issue of its functions. The antis have asserted all along that the commission was created to determine first, whether the dry law can be enforced, and second, the means of enforcement if it can be enforced. They will argue that the commission, by abandoning the first half of this program, has rendered its findings worthless.

CHARLES P. TAFT GIVEN QUIET FUNERAL

Simplicity Marks Services For Noted Ohio Politician, Philanthropist, Publisher

CINCINNATI, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The simplicity that ruled the life of Charles P. Taft, philanthropist, newspaper publisher, politician and business man, who died Tuesday night at the age of 86, was retained in death as his body was laid to rest today.

Although city and county officials planned to attend the services at Christ Church in a body, and many organizations of which he was a member designated honorary pallbearers, only the customary rites of the Episcopalian Church were arranged in keeping with Cincinnati's memory of Mr. Taft as a kindly and until a few years ago a familiar figure on the streets.

STRING QUARTET PLAYS

A selection by the Hedermann string quartet of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, one of the many beneficiaries of the millions given away by Mr. Taft, was the single addition to the regular Episcopalian services conducted by the Rev. Frank H. Nelson, rector of Christ Church and friend of the philanthropist for many years.

Like the Taft home, just a few blocks away, Christ Church stands in the old financial district, amid factories, stores and apartment houses. Mr. Taft was one of the city's few wealthy men who refused to move from the district when its mansions were swallowed up by business firms.

PRIVATE BURIAL

Private services at the home preceded the public rites at the church, after which the funeral procession was to go to Spring Grove Cemetery, where burial ceremonies were private.

Chief Justice William Howard Taft, half-brother of Charles, and his wife arrived from Washington this morning. Gov. Myers Y. Cooper came from Columbus.

Tributes poured in at the Taft home today from prominent men over the world, but they were not made public. Civic leaders announced they would formulate plans for a public memorial.

Neighbors immediately sent calls to Washington for ambulances, meanwhile attempting to extricate the victims from the debris.

Mrs. Brady died soon after reaching a hospital to which she was rushed. Both her hands were blown off.

VICTIMS MAY DIE

Her mother, the wife of a cemetery caretaker, suffered severe lacerations and shock. Leslie Hall suffered a badly-torn hand, possible loss of his eyesight and possible internal injuries. His condition was believed to be grave.

Eight-year-old Thomas Hall was also in a critical condition. One arm was almost torn off and it is believed he will not regain his eyesight if he recovers. Four-year-old Dorothy Hall similarly was blinded and may not recover.

The youngest member of the family, 18-month-old Samuel Hall, was believed to have suffered fatal injuries, and also probably will be blind if he survives. Mrs. Brady's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Bromley, 86, was in serious condition suffering from shock.

Va., under cover of a snowstorm early Sunday morning, leaving Donnie at the home of Mrs. Schroeder's father, Joseph Crawford, who later in the day took the little fellow to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray Schroeder, in Bellaire, O., just across the river.

PAIR BEING HELD

Both Mrs. Schroeder's father and Ray Schroeder were released on their own recognizance by Bellaire authorities while Pennsylvania state police and highway patrolmen search nearby communities for trace of the trio. The woman has relatives scattered around Southeastern Ohio and in the Panhandle section of West Virginia and all these places are being watched in the event that Mrs. Schroeder attempts to get into communication with any of them.

Another theory is that the fugitives may be hard pressed for money, their flight having drained their resources in the past few days. If they have not reached a safe harbor from the police, it is thought, they may have to obtain funds in some manner and police throughout the section in which they are believed to be hiding are on the lookout.

Louis Leibold, Vet Police Officer, Dies

Lieut. Louis Leibold, 48, veteran member of the Pittsburgh police force, died today at his summer home in Searey road, Millvale. He had been ill for two weeks. He had been connected with the police bureau for 22 years, most of the time in the Lawrenceville and Squirrel Hill districts.

35 MILLIONS IN COUNTY PLANS

Allegheny County's building program for 1930 will amount to $35,100,000, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong announced today.

This will be spent in the construction of bridges, roads, public buildings and the installation of voting machines.

The statement says:

"The road construction contemplates the expenditures of $12,000,000, assuring immediate employment to hundreds of workmen and the turning of the wheels of many materials industries.

ROADS, BRIDGES

The road program contemplates the construction of the Allegheny river boulevard, Moss Side boulevard, Ohio River boulevard, state aid highways, participation in state highway construction and miscellaneous new road construction, reconstruction, curve elimnations and grade-crossing eliminations.

"The contemplated bridge construction program, totalling $14,000,000, comprises the McKees Rocks bridge, the West End bridge, the Tenth street bridge, Boston bridge, minor bridges and the Turtle Creek cut-off on Lincoln highway, the County sharing the cost with the state.

OFFICE BUILDING, AIRPORT

"These bridges will serve to knit together neighboring, but hitherto isolated, communities, save time and distance, create new property values and stimulate trade between communities.

"The building construction program of the county includes the completion of the new county office building, and the expenditure of several million dollars for other buildings now contemplated.

Du Pont Renewing Offer to Buy Falls

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The offer of Gen. T. Coleman du Pont, native Kentuckian and former Delaware senator, to purchase Cumberland Falls and present it to the State of Kentucky will be renewed, according to letters mailed today by the Cumberland Falls' Preservation Association to all members of the Kentucky General Assembly, and its acceptance by the Legislature will be asked again at the 1930 session.

Wales Sailing for Africa As 'Ordinary Passenger'

LONDON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales was back in London today after spending the holidays with his parents at Sandringham, to make final preparations for beginning of his African trip and to say good-bye to friends.

He will leave tomorrow from Southampton aboard the Kenilworth Castle to resume the jaunt interrupted last year with illness of King George. He will go first to Capetown, and will return to England probably in April. He expects to do considerable hunting while away.

He sails aboard the Kenilworth Castle as an ordinary salon passenger, all ceremony being ignored in accordance with his own wish. The liner will carry about 500 passengers, most of them tourists.

He will take his meals in the ordinary dining salon, otherwise sharing the ship's ordinary accommodations. The only exception will be when he sleeps, for a bedstead has been provided for his stateroom in place of the usual bunk.

Would-Be Burglar Sticks In Chimney, Caught

WON'T HARM PITTSBURGH, HE CLAIMS

Scheme Will Benefit Entire Western Pennsylvania, Senator Declares Here

Senator David A. Reed, departing from Pittsburgh for an indefinite sojourn abroad at the London naval conference, accepts hopefully the fatherhood of the "dead-end" canal project from the Ohio River to Youngstown, O.

"While [illegible] heart still is in Pittsburgh [illegible] my chief interests are here, nevertheless I am Senator for the entire commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for New Castle and the Beaver valley district as well as the Pittsburgh industrial area," was Senator Reed's answer to the question propounded by the advocates of the Lake Erie and Ohio River canal who have declared that the Youngstown scheme would hinder Pittsburgh's development.

WON'T HINDER CITY

He argued against the contention that the bill introduced by him authorizing a survey of the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning rivers would create a second canal project and side-track the plans for a canal from the Ohio to the Great Lakes.

"I do not understand it so," he said. "We know that the improvement of the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning would benefit Western Pennsylvania and, moreover, so much time will be required for the surveys—these things take a lot of time—that Pittsburgh will have opportunity to promote its own interests. The bill authorizing the Board of Army Engineers will of course carry an appropriation to start the work. The entire project will be left in the hands of the engineers."

During his stay in Pittsburgh during the holidays Senator Reed wound up his personal affairs requiring attention here and with Mrs. Reed will sail on the George Washington January 9, with the American delegation for London. Including the delegates, experts, technicians and secretarial force, there will be 67 persons in the American group.

SEES LENGTHY PARLEY

Senator Reed anticipates extended "conversations" and a prolonged stay in the British capital. "I am taking along all my shirts," he said.

Of the outcome, he expressed himself as most sanguine of results looking toward a more permanent establishment of peace.

"Our preliminary conferences in Washington have been most satisfactory," he said, "and we are hopeful of constructive work to be accomplished with conclusions that will yield substantial fruits. The Washington conference lasted three months—in London we may remain longer."

No attention was given to politics during his holidays in Pittsburgh, according to Senator Reed. Nothing definite is developing in the political situation just now, but he found the air full of rumors, he said—and the mention of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as a possible candidate for the Senate against Joseph Grundy, he classed as conspicuously as rumor. This being the closed season for slate-makers, he hinted, the rumors were as harmless as they are numerous.

STUDY INLAND WATERWAYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—The Commerce and War Departments have launched an investigation to determine the economic and engineering facts necessary to carry out the administration's policy for the modernization of the inland waterways.

Explaining the co-operative plan today, A. Lane Cricher, chief of the Commerce Department, Transportation Division, said the department has in preparation a bulletin outlining the economics of inland waterways transportation.

"It is the plan to appoint in the near future an advisory committee representing all sections of the country, to confer with the Commerce Department on phases of inland waterways operation," Cricher said.

"It is felt that such a committee, in daily touch with the situation in the various districts can aid materially in the determination of authoritative data."

1929 AUTO TAG DRIVE ON HERE

Having rounded up almost 100 auto drivers who operated their machines outside the city without new registration plates on the first day of the year, state highway patrolmen today came into the city to check cars being driven here.

Between 1,000 and 1,500 motorists were arrested in the state yesterday, Capt. Wilson C. Price, of the state highway patrol, stated.

Twenty-five violators were given summons to appear for hearings by members of the Perrysville detail, which patrolled the Butler Plank road, Perry Highway and the Babcock boulevard.

OFFENDERS POST BAIL

South of the Liberty tubes on roads between here and Washington, Pa., the Washington detail arrested 25 more offenders. Unlike the Perrysville squad, the Washington patrol took the offenders to justices of the peace offices where they posted bail.

Two violators with Pennsylvania plates and two others with Ohio plates were nabbed by the New Eagle squad on Monongahela and Elizabeth road. Fourteen were summoned for hearings on the Freeport road, members of the Parnassue unit said.

OVER MILLION LICENSES

The highway department announced that when the office closed at 4 p. m. December 31 it had issued 1,144,513 sets of plates, which included 1,006,735 for passenger cars and 137,778 for trucks. This was the first time that more than a million pleasure motors had been licensed January 1.

Traffic Inspector Ben R. Marshall, with the sanction of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, is co-operating with the state officers, he said. So far only two drivers have been arrested here. Marshall said that any car bearing 1929 plates found parked in the street will be towed in and the owner arrested.

GARY, Ind., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Physicians here predicted the recovery of the Rev. Father John B. Deville, who was taken seriously ill with pneumonia after he had given his overcoat to a vagrant on Christmas Day. Father Deville was knighted on Christmas Eve by King Albert of Belgium for heroism in the World War.

NEW YEAR RUM KILLS 5 IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Liquor was blamed by hospital physicians today for the death of one woman and four men as an aftermath of the New Year's celebration here. Hospitals treated 79 cases of alcoholism.

The bodies of the woman and one of the men were found by police on Brooklyn streets.

The number of persons admitted to hospitals suffering from effects of over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages was 28 more than were treated a year ago and 41 more than New Year's Day, 1929.

Police officials said the New Year's eve crowds were more disorderly, destructive of property and harder to handle than ever before.

1,500 Bow Heads Over Seized Liquor

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Closely guarded by armed soldiers and coast guards, 2,000 cases of whisky, gin and champagne, seized at Ocean City, Md., were brought here today in 10 army trucks. The liquor was stored in the customs warehouse.

When the trucks left Ocean City yesterday, 1,500 people stood in mockery with bowed heads as the procession moved down the street. Two persons were reported to have placed the American flag at half mast staff on their premises as a mark of protest.

REDS MAR FETE TO ORTIZ RUBIO

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 2.—After a reception marred by a hostile demonstration on the part of 200 or more men and women who mingled with a friendly crowd at the railroad station, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, today was scheduled to receive the official greetings of the city of Detroit.

The president-elect appeared unperturbed by the unfriendly attitude of the noisy group which was outnumbered 10 to 1 by those who cheered as he left his train at the Michigan Central Station last night. The hostile crowd was said by police to have been composed principally of local Communists. Two were detained by police. They gave their names as Philip Ramone, 30, and Lawrence Gosman, 16.

Some 2,000 Mexicans, about two-fifths of the Mexican population of Detroit, gathered at the station to welcome the president-elect, and police had no indication of the intended demonstration until it started.

University Given Papers Of Gage, British Chief

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The papers of Gen. Sir Thomas Gage, British commander-in-chief in America from 1763 to 1775 have just been obtained by the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, through the gift of William L. Clements, it was announced to the American Historical Association here by Randolph G. Adams, director of the University of Michigan library. Mr. Adams is attending the annual meeting of the association.

"The documents naturally cover the North American continent, from the West Indies on the East to the Mississippi on the West, and from New Foundland on the North to Pensacola on the South," Mr. Adams said.

"Involved in the documents is the correspondence between Gen. Gage, as the king's principal representative in America, and all of the colonial governors; all of the British commanders, both on the eastern seaboard and on the frontier posts; and thousands of letters with the disgruntled merchants and business men, whose irritation caused the American Revolution.

BAY STATE DRY FUND PROPOSED

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—State Representative Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, Democrat and a Congregationalist minister, today filed with the clerk of the House two drastic prohibition bills. The first provides an appropriation of $2,000,000 to enforce the state prohibition law while the second would make possession of a quart or more of liquor "prima facie evidence of intent to sell."

Gov. Frank G. Allen in his message reconvening the Legislature yesterday told both houses that as long as the Eighteenth Amendment to the federal Constitution was on the books, the state's duty was to co-operate in enforcement.

He specifically assailed a plan to repeal the state enforcement act, an initiative petition for which is to come before this session.

Break Into Jail Cell, Beat Negro Prisoner

ELKINS, W. Va., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Lawson Beard, Negro, was taken from a cell in the jail here early today by five men and severely beaten. Beard escaped and went to his home, where his injuries were attended by a physician. Beard was held in jail on charges of using profane language and of puncturing a motorcycle tire. Police doubted these charges were the actual cause of the violence. The jail was not guarded when the Negro's assailants entered it. Beard said his assailants were masked.

Twins' Birthdays In Different Years

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Despite the fact that two boys born Tuesday night to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kalb, of this city, are twins, they will celebrate their birthday anniversaries in different years.

One of the twins was born shortly before midnight just as the year 1929 was expiring and the other a few minutes later, while revelers were welcoming the arrival of 1930.

'DOPE' SLEUTH SHOT, AID HELD

SEATTLE, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—An investigation by federal officers into the shooting of Philip L. Jourdin, government narcotics agent, by a fellow officer, J. L. Jensen, got under way here today. Jourdin, who was wounded New Year's Eve, remained in a critical condition in a hospital while his assailant was held.

The shooting took place in front of Jourdin's home.

Mrs. Jourdin said her husband and Jensen returned late, and that Jensen was intoxicated.

Efforts to question Jensen yesterday, officers said, proved useless. Police quoted him as having said: "I'm not telling—I'm just drunk, that's all. I tell nothing when I'm pop-eyed."

Jourdin's condition was such that he could not be questioned.

2 CARS OF BEER SEIZED HERE

Prohibition agents returned to Wilkinsburg for the second time within 24 hours yesterday and made a second seizure of high-test beer. The two carloads of beer are valued at approximately $12,000 by the federal agents. The cars were both seized in the Wilkinsburg yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

One hundred and twenty barrels were included in the seizure yesterday. The beer was emptied into a sewer in the yards by prohibition agents, who used axes and sledges. Both carloads of beer had been shipped prepaid from Newark, N. J., to fictitious concerns in East Liberty.

Seek Plane Downed On Lake Erie Island

SANDUSKY, O., Jan. 2.—(AP.) A search both by air and water was organized today on a report that a plane fell last night after dropping a flare over Johnson's Island, four miles out in Sandusky Bay. Coast guardsmen attempted to reach the island shortly after the report was received, but ice blocked their boat. They were to make another effort today and Sheriff John W. Parker ordered an airplane to join in the search.

Pair Wed as Sirens Announce New Year

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, of Wilson, were on their honeymoon today after a marriage ceremony conducted while whistles were announcing the entrance of year 1930. Mrs. Anderson, the former Alberta Owens, of Park avenue, Clairton, and Anderson, were married at midnight Tuesday. The Rev. L. E. Evans, pastor of the Clairton Methodist Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony in the parsonage.

Church Platter Brings $3,500 Top

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—An ordinary plate dinner of the kind served at church affairs sold here last night for $3,500. The dinner was held in the Linwood Christian Church to raise funds to pay off the church debt, and diners were permitted to pay any multiple of $50 for their meal. The name of the high bidder was not announced. Dr. Burris Jenkins, pastor, said $100,000 was paid by the diners.

Alcohol Death Toll Continues High

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 2.—With the dawning of the second decade of prohibition, a report from the State Health Department disclosed that 13,035 persons have died from alcoholism in California since 1921.

It was stated that during the first nine months of 1929 there were 139 deaths from the same cause, while the toil for the entire preceding year was 197.

Diver Salvaging Sunken Liquor Cargo Jailed

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Having been under water five and a half hours trying to salvage liquor, William Gregoire, 74-year-old diver, was in jail today awaiting a hearing Friday.

Gregoire was the only man arrested when city police arrived to assist two inland revenue agents who early on Tuesday morning encountered a gang attempting to salvage the contents of a sunken motor boat.

The gang dispersed when city police arrived, and two cars were then seized. Shots were fired during the melee and the agents were severely handled.

Gregoire said he had been working under water from 9 p. m. until 2:30 a. m. Tuesday morning, and had been promised $300 for the job.

COMMUNISTS REPUDIATE NEARING

Professor Twice Ousted By Colleges Expelled by Reds; Quits Two Boards

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Dr. Scott Nearing, whose radical preachments cost him professorships at the University of Pennsylvania and Toledo University, has been expelled from the Communist party, the New York Times said today.

He also has resigned from the board of directors of the Civil Liberties Union and the board of trustees of the Garland Funds, a foundation which gives financial aid to progressive and radical organizations.

Confirmation of the expulsion and resignations, the Times said, was obtained from Roger Baldwin, noted liberal and a director of the union and trustee of the fund, who said:

"I am not a Communist nor in the confidence of the Communist organization, but a member of the party who should know told me that Dr. Nearing had been expelled by the central committee three weeks ago."

PLANS RESEARCH

In his letter of resignation sent to the Garland fund which gives financial support to liberal and radical organizations, Dr. Nearing explained that he planned to devote his time to research, writing and speaking.

Possible reasons for his expulsion from the Communist party were seen in the fact that while on the board of the Garland fund he had voted to give aid to the conference for progressive labor action, an organization opposed by the Communists, and had written a thesis on imperialism which was said by Communist leaders to deviate from the line of their party tenets.

SIMPLE LIFE

Dr. Nearing's friends say that in recent years he has adopted an extremely simple mode of life, wearing coarse clothes, eating only the simplest foods and shunning all refinements of modern living.

He held a professorship at the Wharton school of economics at the University of Pennsylvania from 1906 until 1915, when he was dropped because of his radical activities. Opposition to his radicalism caused him to resign from the faculty of Toledo University at Toledo, O.

JURY SPLITS IN DRY KILLING

ABINGDON, Va., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—After deliberating 18 hours without reaching a verdict, a jury in Washington County Circuit Court considering the fate of James McReynolds, Abingdon city policeman, charged with slaying J. W. Kendrick, 16, on the night of May 6, was dismissed, hopelessly deadlocked.

It was learned that 10 jurors stood for conviction with punishment at one year in prison and a fine of $500, and that two were adamant for acquittal.

Crain Will Reopen Rothstein Inquiry

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Former Judge Thomas C. T. Crain took over his new duties as district attorney of New York County today by beginning a study of records in the Rothstein case, with a view to reopening the investigation into the murder of the famous gambler. Crain promised newspapermen he would institute a policy of revealing to the public details of all cases he handles as far as possible without endangering the state's case.

Defers Sentences Of Guilty Bankers

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Sentencing of nine former executives and employes of the Union Industrial Bank who pleaded guilty of charges of embezzlement in connection with the $3,592,000 defalcation recently revealed today was deferred by Judge James S. Parker in Circuit Court until January 20. The delay was made on motion of Charles D. Beagle, prosecuting attorney.

POPE PRAYS AT BROTHER'S BIER

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI.

Universal Service Special Cable.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 2.—The second exit of Pope Pius XI within the boundaries of the Vatican state was a sad and tragic one, in which he visited a hotel in Rome to consecrate the body of his brother, Count Fermo Ratti, who died Tuesday night.

Shortly before 5 o'clock this morning the pontiff in a small procession of motor cars was whisked from the Vatican to the Quirinal hotel, where his brother died.

At the porch of the hotel the pontiff was assisted from his car and shown quickly to the elevator with the other relatives who accompanied him. Present at the bedside were the Pope's sister, Camilla Ratti; the Marquis Persichetti Ugolino and his wife, niece of Pope Pius.

The pontiff knelt in prayer near the body and afterward celebrated mass at a small altar erected in an adjoining room. The mass lasted for half an hour. The Pope granted a special blessing to the body of his brother and to all those present, then departed for the Vatican.

The funeral of Count Ratti will be held Monday morning at the Church of St. Mary of the Angels, at which it is believed Pope Pius will participate.

OFFICER FINED FOR 'SASSING'

Patrolman Thomas McDunn, 32, of 179 Forty-third street, was fined $10 with the alternative of serving 10 days in jail on a disorderly conduct charge filed by Lieut. William Fullerton, in East End Police Court today.

Lieut. Fullerton testified that McDunn had disregarded an order to prohibit parking in an alley adjacent to Motor Square Garden during a boxing bout there yesterday.

Later McDunn "sassed" the lieutenant and took to his heels. Fullerton overtook McDunn and after a scuffle took his badge and keys, he testified, then suspended him pending a hearing before the police trial board.

McDunn admitted to Magistrate W. J. Soost using improper language to his superior officer.

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure area centered over eastern Ontario and extending southwestward over the valleys is causing rain over the lower lakes, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Western Tennessee and Southern Illinois. The rainfall for the last 24 hours includes the Southern Plains states. High barometer is spreading over the West and Northwest, and is causing a decided drop in temperature over the Plains states, and as far east as Indiana. There is no zero weather this morning except over Alberta and Saskatchewan, but near-zero weather prevails over the Northwest Border states. Freezing temperatures extend as far south as Oklahoma and the panhandle of Texas.

River Conditions.

The Allegheny River is rising slowly due to melting snow, while the Monongahela is falling and the Ohio about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 3.8 feet, Lock No. 7, [illegible], Pittsburgh, 13.2; Dam No. 4, 10.2, Dam No. 6, 11.0, Dam No. 9, 11.4 and Dam No. 12, 9.0. The dams are down. The rivers will rise slowly.

Chile Feels Tremor Of Slight Quake

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Santiago and other points in the republic felt a brief slight earthquake at 4.50 p. m. yesterday.

Thieves Return Laundry Taken From Home

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 2.—Thieves, who entered the residence of Morris Goodman and took the family wash, along with his Christmas cigars and candy, complied with the request that the laundry be returned.

Goodman offered to let the burglars keep the cigars and candy.

The laundry was found along a hedge fence near the Goodman home.

ATOMIC WAVES DEMONSTRATED

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—A new proof of the peculiar wave motion, believed by some scientists to cement the universe, today was awarded the highest honor of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the $1,000 reward for "An Outstanding Paper."

The author was A. J. Dempster, physicist of the University of Chicago. The award was the final action of the annual meeting of the association, which closed this forenoon.

Mr. Dempster demonstrated indirect, but visible, veidence of the wave motion of very tiny bits of hydrogen. They were nearly full-sized atoms, 2,000 times heavier than anything in which this odd motion previously has been conclusively shown.

According to one of the latest sensations in science, called wave-mechanics, there is thought to be a wave motion of the particles in all substances. It is believed that this motion in some manner effects the very nature of material substance.

Extremists have gone so far as to suggest that everything which exists is in the last analysis merely some form of wave motion.

Tangible proof of this motion is regarded with great interest. Only a few physicists have attempted demonstrations and it was barely two years ago that Davisson and Germer, of New York, obtained one of the first evidences. That was of wave motion in electrons, particles far lighter than the bits of hydrogen used by Dempster. One or two other physicists have reported evidence of the hydrogen motion, and the award to Dempster was made on account of the convincing nature of his demonstration.

In a vacuum tube he stripped a stream of hydrogen atoms of their electrons. He had left nearly full-sized atoms which he directed in a tiny stream against a calcite crystal. From the manner in which these atoms rebounded off the crystal surface he showed that they were hitting it with a wave motion.

Mr. Dempster is known among scientists for work on vacuum tubes and for analysis of isotopes, which are minute differences in weight of elements that do not affect their chemical actions.

Boy Scout Course To Start on Monday

East Boroughs Council, Boy Scouts of America, will open a training school in scout leadership Monday evening in the Edgewood High School building. N. A. Wahlberg, a national figure in scouting circles, will be in charge. The course, which will continue for 12 weeks, is open to scoutmasters, their assistants and others interested in entering scout work.

Frank C. Demmler, president of East Boroughs Scout Council, will be the principal speaker of the first session, and his lecture will be followed by four talks by scout leaders of the district.

LINDY PREDICTS AIR PROGRESS

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Science in flying kept well abreast of other progress and development in both North and South America in 1929, in the opinion of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and he believes that progress will continue at the present rate, and perhaps at a more rapid pace, in 1930.

Pausing here on a flight across the country with Mrs. Lindbergh, the trans-Atlantic flier conferred with officials of the Trans-Continental Air Transport, Inc., with which he is connected, paid a surprise visit to a historical memorial maintained here in his honor, and in an interview took stock of the status of aviation.

Col. Lindbergh said he believes that commercial aviation, particularly passenger transport lines, has developed in America to the point where it compares favorably with European air lines.

The development of radio connections with airplanes was viewed by the colonel as an outstanding recent development in aviation passenger lines.

PLAN NIGHT SERVICE

The T. A. T., of which he is chairman of the technical committee, is looking forward, Col. Lindbergh said, to inauguration of night schedules as its next principal development.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, who were guests of St. Louis friends during the day, expect to resume their westward journey today on an inspection trip of the T. A. T. line. The colonel said he plans to continue flying this year much as he has in the past, and that he expects to keep closely in touch with the T. A. T. lines during the year, making frequent inspection flights over the transcontinental route.

HOLDS PRISONS IMPROVED

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—New York state prisons today are 1,000 per cent better than they were 25 years ago in the opinion of Lewis A. Lawes, who yesterday observed his tenth anniversary as warden of Sing Sing prison.

"Statistics will show that 73 per cent of the men leaving prison on parole make good," Warden Lawes said. "Three out of four never come back to Sing Sing. For all the criticism leveled at New York state's prisons today, I will venture to say that they are 1,000 per cent better than they were when I began prison work 25 years ago."

TORONTO BEATS PLAN SCHEME

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Bert S. Wemp, member of the 1929 board of control, was elected mayor of Toronto. In a three-cornered contest that brought out a record vote Wemp had a plurality of 4,376 over Mayor Sam McBride, who sought a third term, while Controller Albert E. Hacker received 3,210 votes. Wemp polled 54,309 and McBride 49,433.

The electors rejected a proposal for expenditure of $19,000,000 in a town planning scheme that would have provided for openings of new streets and extensions. The vote was: For 26,996; against 29,524.

Three of the successful candidates for the board of control opposed the town plan scheme. Of the four elected, only James Simpson had been a proponent of the plan. Nine names went before the electors and these were elected: William Summerville, 47,418; Claude Pearce, 46,692; James Simpson, 44,921; W. D. Robbins, 39,023.

College "Grind" Believed Due to Unpopularity

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Prof. Robert C. Angell, of the University of Michigan, thinks he has found at least one of the reasons for the college "grind."

In his opinion the student who buries himself in his books does so, in frequent instances, because he is socially unwelcome to other students.

"It is quite apparent," he said in the report of a survey of undergraduates, "that frequently those who find difficulty in making an adequate social adjustment put themselves into their academic life with re-doubled vigor, with the hope that they may compensate for ill success in one with good success in another."

The professor's conclusions are to be published by the University of Chicago Press as "a study in undergraduate adjustment."

1,200 NEWSIES GIVEN DINNER

Boxes containing sufficient food for a New Year's dinner were distributed to 1,200 newsboys yesterday when the lads attended the annual newsboy dinner at Old St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Seventeenth street. In previous years the boys were invited into the church basement and served by women members of the parish.

Yesterday it was intended that the boys should take the food home, but most of the "newsies" ate their dinner before they had gone far from the church. The Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of the church, headed the committee in charge.

JERUSALEM, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Archeologists working in Palestine wonder whether the ruins of Sodom, which the Bible says was so wicked it was burned to the ground, finally have been found.

Milk of Family Cow Divided In Divorce Case

VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Half of the milk from the Hinkalman cow was being delivered to Mrs. Annie Hinkalman, for a Superior Court judge ruled that Godfrey Hinkalman, defendant in a divorce case, must share all goods with his wife.

Hinkalman was ordered to deliver to his wife a sewing machine, two beds and bedding, her clothing and "also give her one-half of the milk from the cow."

Retired Coffee Man Dead in Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—William Raymond Robbins, 70, retired coffee factor of South America and formerly New York representative of a London banking and insurance firm, died Tuesday night in a hospital here. Death occurred two days after his arrival from New York.

WILKINS MAPS NEW COAST

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS

Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Jan. 2.—(Via SS Melville and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station.)—Three hundred miles of coast line were added to the world's map on the last day of 1929.

After once being balked by a curtain of snow in an attempt to penetrate the unknown Antarctic regions which lie before us, we completed a successful flight of 450 miles today in the Lockheed monoplane, "Los Angeles."

Charcot Land we found to be an island.

LAUDS EIELSON

Looking beyond it, we saw more than 100 miles into the depths of the great white south. We flew on westward over Hearst Land, discovered last year with Carl Ben Eielson, who is now lost in the ice-bound regions at the other end of the world, and we succeeded in charting the coast line for 300 miles along the great Antarctic Continent.

Our success of today is due to the great pioneer piloting of Eielson—one of the best companions we have ever known.

The start of our flight was made from the side of our small vessel, the Williams Scoreby, which was hove to at the edge of the icepack some 115 miles from the nearest land, and when we finally returned to the side of the Scoreby, disaster frowned on us, but we luckily escaped.

As we were lifting the plane aboard the vessel, the sling broke and the plane almost went to the bottom of the sea—1,300 odd feet below the surface. The plane suffered little damage, however. (Capt. Wilkins has evidently taken the wheels off his plane and fitted it with floats. He is apparently using it as a seaplane).

Our first attempt three days ago was blocked just at the moment when success seemed within our grasp. We had been waiting for days within the lee of a great iceberg, planning to take off when the swell died down. Attempting to take off, the floats hammered against the lumpy waves and the bracings were strained. It was necessary to lift the plane aboard the Scoresby again.

BLOCKED BY SNOW

Later, we steamed into the icepack and found smoother water and were able to take off. Flying more than 200 miles over the ice, headed due south, we came within a few miles of Charcot Land when our path was blocked by an impenetrable wall of falling snow. It was too high to climb over, so we dropped to 500 feet altitude and tried to fly beneath it.

We could see the dim outline of the land-fast ice, and the edge of Charcot Land lost in a whirl of snow. However, we were forced to turn back with nothing accomplished at that time.

But today success favored us.

TWO IN ATTACK HELD FOR COURT

James De Basi, alias Babe Kelly, 28, of Penn avenue, arrested in numerous fist fights during political wars, and John Moran, 26, of Mulberry way, were held for court today on a charge of having attacked the manager of Child's Restaurant, 937 Liberty avenue.

Hugh V. Hayden, 372 Boquet street, the restaurant manager, said the men went into the place yesterday morning and began throwing paper around. They beat him when he remonstrated with them, he testified.

De Basi and Moran said they had been "celebrating" and that they hadn't meant to do any harm. Hayden's eyes were blackened in the fight.

Making Honey Big Job for Little Bee

CINCINNATI, O.—A nature note says the bee has to gather nectar from 62,000 clover blossoms to make a pound of honey. Just offhand, we'd say the only one busier than the bee was the person who followed it around to check up on it that the world might have that all-important information.

Boy Must Attend Church or Go To Jail

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 2.—Relatives of George Turick, 20, Stratton, O., appealed to Father Andrew Beros, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Toronto, O., for assistance in obtaining a parole for the young man who was confined in the county jail here in default of a fine of $200 and costs for possessing moonshine.

The priest interceded with county officials and obtained Turick's parole on a condition that he pay his fine in monthly installments of $5.

The priest then added another condition to the parole. This one written into the official document reads:

"George Turick must attend church every Sunday for forty weeks or return to jail."

All Clerks Sing In Turkish Store

LONDON — A German department storekeeper in Smyrna, Turkey in Asia, makes all the help sing. They must sing, from the counter girl to the floorwalker, even if there is only one customer in the store. The salesgirl must sing while she is waiting on the customer. She can only stop to give the price of the goods or to answer a question. In is catching. During the busy hours singing captivates even the customers.

BOARD STUDIES DRUG POLICY

By KENNETH CLARK.
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Federal Narcotics Control Board has come to the crossroads in determining the future policy for regulating the import of opium and the manufacture of narcotic drugs, it has been learned.

As result of a situation unprecedented in the board's history, the method which the board has followed for five years in controlling the drug traffic may be discarded. The problem is causing considerable anxiety not only among Federal enforcement officials but among American drug manufacturers.

The board, composed of the secretaries of state, treasury and commerce, is charged with permitting the import only of such quantities of raw products, opium and coca leaves, which are required to supply the country's medical and scientific needs for drugs. Manufactured drugs cannot be imported, but are made in this country by four registered factories.

Last October, representatives of the three secretaries held hearings here to determine the amounts of opium needed next year. A maximum quota, less than last year, was agreed upon. At the same time the representatives denied the applications of two factories to import and manufacture drugs, on the grounds that the nation's medical requirements can be well met with the present set-up without increasing the number of registered drug dealers.

The two recommendations were sent to the secretaries for approval. It is understood that Secretary of Treasury Mellon and Secretary of State Stimson immediately indorsed the report. However, Secretary of Commerce Lamont has not attached his signature. He is studying the question whether the board should deny manufacturing permits to reputable factories, and thus create a virtual monopoly in the drug manufacturing business.

Chicago Has One Divorce to Four Weddings

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—For every four arrows that Cupid shot in Cook County in 1929, the divorce courts retrieved one of them, according to a survey completed here.

A total of 43,059 couples were united in matrimony and a total of 10,366 were severed, statistics revealed.

County Clerk Sweitzer said that marriages were on the increase—and so were divorces.

'Old Houn' Dogs' Value on Increase

The major portion of coon and fox hounds in the United States are furnished by this section of the country. Each year, prior to the opening of the hunting season, buyers from all over the country come into the Ozarks to purchase hundreds of dogs.

And the value of the "old houn' dawg" has increased until a first-class one is now worth $100.

MORGAN YACHT TAKEN BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—After a notable career of high adventure upon the seven seas, the J. P. Morgan yacht Corsair will be formally, and for the second time, transferred to the service of the United States today, the Department of Commerce has announced.

During the World War the vessel was accepted as a government auxiliary at a time when shipping facilities were imperatively needed. Now, as a gift from Mr. Morgan, the ship will become a part of the permanent maritime equipment of the Department of Commerce and will be assigned to the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The yacht was renamed the Oceanographer by Mr. Morgan before the transfer was made and it is stipulated that the vessel shall never be disposed of by the government until it is scrapped.

The gift came at a time when there is urgent need for a new ship to accelerate the surveys of ocean depths by means of the recently perfected fathometer and other new devices now so extensively used in hydrographic work in the protection of shipping.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont, accepting the gift on the part of the United States, wrote the donor:

"I can assure you that this ship, which means so much to you and your family, will have excellent and sympathetic care; and I can also assure you that she will serve a very useful purpose in this government."

This gift will save the government the immediate expenditure of $450,000 for a new ship of similar type.

The formal transfer of the Oceanographer to the flag of the Department of Commerce will take place at Tebo's Basin, Brooklyn, where Capt. F. L. Peacock, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, will take command. The ceremonies will be simple and the ship will be taken immediately to Norfolk, Va., which has been designated by Secretary Lamont as the Oceanographer's home port.

POWER FINANCE QUIZ READY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A mountain of documentary and other evidence has been assembled by the Federal Trade Commission for public hearings on the finances of the big electric power combinations.

The hearings are expected to start on the next few weeks, following a short series of hearings, beginning next Wednesday, dealing with propaganda.

For 18 months commission accounts have been examining books and records of any of the largest public utility holding companies in the country and their numerous subsidiaries.

Summaries of the material obtained are being prepared to be put into evidence at the hearings and made the basis for questioning of utility company officers will be called to testify.

"Watering" of stock is one of the chief subjects to be dealt with. Another is the commissions, bonuses and the like charged by affiliated bankers or others in connection with the issuance of securities.

The real cost of the management, engineering and construction services furnished to utilities by service companies in the same holding company group will be disclosed, it is expected, for the first time, so will the profits made on these services.

The fees charged for them have been widely attacked as excessive.

In its fight for information about the fees of the Electric Bond and Share Company specifically, the commission soon will present additional evidence before a special master acting for the Southern New York Federal Court. A stipulation has been signed providing for this.

NEW YEAR'S DAY REVELER FINED

Three men were arraigned in East End Police Court today as a sequel to a belated New Year's celebration staged in front of the home of Councilman John S. Herron, 7043 Hamilton avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Earl Lynn, 31, of 7035 Hamilton avenue, one of the three, fired a revolver several times, alarming Mrs. Herron, Patrolman James O'Donnell testified. Lynn was fined $25 with the alternative of serving 30 days in the workhouse by Magistrate W. J. Soost.

The other two arraigned, Neil Moriarity, 31, of 6955 Upland street, and Charles Shomaker, 22, of 7421 Annan way, were discharged.

Crawford Pair Wed 62 Years

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Spence, of Woodcock borough, near here, yesterday celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary. Mr. Spence is 85 and his wife 84. They have always lived in Crawford County.

Fire in Radio Calls Firemen From Feast

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 2.—A short circuit in an electric radio at the home of N. F. Osmer, Franklin attorney, sent firemen scurrying from a banquet table to the Osmer residence. The family had just tuned in on a New Year's eve program when jazz stopped, sparks flew and puffs of smoke, instead of concert notes, floated out of the machine.

Firemen, extinguishing the blaze, returned to consume the roast pig.

LIBERIA RULER QUITS COLLEGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—(AP)—A Chicago scientist, who claims to be the rightful ruler of 25,000 Liberians, left the University of Chicago campus to return to his people, not as chieftain, but as an anthropological investigator.

Charles G. Blooah ran away from his native African home 20 years ago, when, as heir apparent of the Grebo people, he was about to be placed under surveillance for protection. Aided by missionaries, he found his way to the United States, worked his way through grade school, high school and college, and, since 1926, has been employed by the university in compiling the first dictionary and grammar of the Grebo tongue and in writing an anthology of the folk lore and customs of his native culture.

Accompanied by Dr. George Herzog, research associate in the university, Blooah will seek social data on his own clan as an original contribution to the science of primitive man.

YOUNG HOOVER TALKS SAFETY

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., in the first of a series of articles appearing in the January issue of Aero Digest, says that radio eventually will give to commercial air transportation "just that added degree of positive safety and regularity of service which characterizes well-operated railroads."

He tells of weather broadcasting stations and directive radio beacons installed by the airways division of the Department of Commerce and says he would "not be at all surprised" if the Department of Commerce requires at least a receiving set on every mail and transport plane.

"But quite outside from any government regulation to this effect," the article continues, "every transport company, every professional pilot and every private flier owes it to himself to make use of this service every time he undertakes to make a cross-country hop."

Mr. Hoover is radio technician of the Western Air Express.

WEIRTON PLANS EXPANSION

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 2—The Weirton Steel Company, recently merged with National Steel, will spend six millions in 1930 for expansion, J. C. Williams, president, announced. All will be spent at the Weirton, W. Va., mills.

One new steel mill will be added to produce standard rails, tie plates and other railroad equipment, a new field for Weirton steel. One blast furnace will be rebuilt to increase capacity and additions will be made to coke ovens and by-product plant.

President Williams said the company's mills were gradually increasing operations and said the prospects for the new year were particularly bright.

Coach Selected County Detective

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 2—District Attorney-elect John S. Powers has announced that H. Martin Lee, better known as "Peck" Lee, of Ellwood City, will be the next county detective.

His name will be presented to the court on January 6, the day on which Attorney Powers is inducted into office. Lee, a former football star, and ex-service man, has been coach of the Ellwood City High School football team for a number of years.

Killings, Auto Deaths Decrease in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—(AP.)—Chicago slayings during 1929 decreased 21 per cent and auto fatalities 13 per cent, compared with 1928 statistics, the annual report of Commissioner of Police William F. Russell showed. There were, however, 42,976 more arrests in 1929 than in the year preceding, the report stated, bringing this year's total to 186,774.

Sir Herbert Austin Will Visit Butler

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 2—(AP.)—Sir Herbert Austin, British motor car manufacturer and a director of the American Austin Car Company, which has a plant soon to begin operations here, will pay his first visit to Butler on Saturday. He will inspect the plant in the afternoon and be the honor guest at a banquet in the evening. The Austin company will make a small, low-priced machine.

Man Killed, Another Hurt, in Collision

BADEN, Pa., Jan. 2—Michael Sullivan, 41, of Baden, was fatally injured and Charles August, 37, of Freedom, is in the hospital at Rochester with severe cuts and bruises, sustained when their automobile skidded and collided head-on with a truck on the highway between here and Ambridge. Harold P. Shaney, of Wellsville, O., driver of the truck, was released by police.

Johnstown Trolley Fares to Be Raised

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 2—Johnstown Traction Company officials here announced that street car fare will be increased from seven and one half to eight and one third cents, effective January 29. Notice of the increase has been filed with the Public Service Commission.

Most of the coats are newly purchased, and all are of this season's styles and colorings.

. . . . In varying brown tones, black, black oxford, navy, and some colors in ombre effect. All with furs beautifully harmonized to the fabric in texture and coloring—black and brown caracul, brown kit fox, gray kit fox, raccoon, squirrel and beaver. All have gorgeous collars of fur, and some also have fur cuffs.

Hudson Seal* Coats

NEW Coats
at January Prices

$195 $295

This is an unique event, from at least three standpoints.

First, the coats are all NEW!

Second, $195 is an unusual price for a handsome coat of Hudson Seal* — with all of our specializing in coats of this fur, this season, we have not before had them to sell at nearly such a low figure.

Third, the coats at $295 are trimmed with rich qualities of kolinsky, mink and skunk, as well as having collars and cuffs of self fur.

The coats at $195 are straightline models with youthful johnny collars or large, pouch collars. At $295 there are both straight and flared models.

Women's and misses' sizes at each price.

Crystal Clips

A New Jewelry Mode With Various Uses

$6.50

It's smart now to wear a gleaming ornament at the shoulder, at the neck of the frock, on the hat, the handbag, the belt . . . or wherever the flash of crystal and the gleam of rhinestone would be attractive.

These crystal clips — with a fastener attachment that obviates the need of pinning—may be selected in a number of interesting designs, most of them with baguette cut crystals and small rhinestones. And the one clip may be used in each of the ways suggested above.

CASTLE SAILS FOR TOKIO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—William R. Castle, Jr., President Hoover's special ambassador to Japan during the coming London disarmament conference, is on his way across the Pacific.

"The world wants peace," Castle said just before sailing, "and the world knows naval reduction will help peace. The conference, although there may be some dispute, will, nevertheless, be successful. Japan is really as anxious, all along the line, as the United States in regard to naval reduction."

He referred to the recent engineering congress in Japan as "a successful thing both from a scientific standpoint and for an understanding of each other."

Castle, for 12 years assistant secretary of state in Washington, recently completed an eight-month tour of Europe. He is regarded as an authority on the United States Navy. Traveling with him as secretary is Edward Page, Jr., of West Newton, Mass.

Castle said he would remain in Japan through the conference. He does not expect to return before next June.

TWO SHOT DEAD IN CELEBRATION

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Two men were shot to death in Chicago before the year 1930 was barely an hour old. Both slayings were attributed to New Year's Eve celebrations.

William Hevenamm, 35, was shot and wounded fatally at a party which ended in a quarrel. His slayer fled.

Fred Leon Roe, 52, a member of the Chicago Real Estate Board, was found shot to death in front of a Kedzie avenue address. Police believe revelers with firearms were responsible for his death.

John Simonis, 70, collapsed shortly after midnight in the midst of a street celebration in which several hundred persons took part. His death was attributed to heart disease.

A stray bullet sent Morris Kent to the hospital with a wound in the neck. Merrymakers were blamed for this, too.

Pasteur
His Work Lives After Him

The story of medicine since Pasteur reads like a romance. A wonderful story of achievement, of work and struggle, disappointment and hope. A constant fight against ignorance, which cloaked diseases. Though no longer living, the influence of his noble lifework, zeal and devotion will never die, but will live on forever, for those upon whom his mantle has fallen carry on the work as conscientiously as he did, being attracted by the same motives.

BLOOD CELL SERUMS

were developed after years of exhaustive and painstaking research work. Their therapeutic value has been conclusively proven. The missing protein substance is supplied to the impoverished blood stream and raises the count of white cells. When you realize that most of the cases we treat are chronic cases, you will appreciate the great work our Laboratory is performing.

There are always patients in the reception room for the newcomers to talk with and learn what Blood Cell Serum is doing to help them.

We are successfully treating such diseases as Anaemia, Asthma, Rheumatism, Kidney and Stomach Troubles, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Acne, Nervous Disorders, Impure Blood, Skin and Chronic Disease, Catarrh of the Nose, Throat and Ear.

Reliable Laboratory Examination of Blood or Urinalysis Free.

One serum affords immediate relief. Chronic cases which have long resisted treatment yield quickly. Our physicians make NO CHARGE. Patients pay only for the Serum they take. Everybody pays the same price for the same serum. Specific Vaccines to prevent Colds and Influenza.

Office Hours: Daily, 9 to 5; Sunday, 10 to 1; Wednesday and Saturday, 9 to 7.

ASSERTS EARTH CRUST SHIFTS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—That the earth's crust actually shifts as a result of the gravitational pull of the moon on the earth, was a theory advanced in a paper written by Dr. Harlan T. Stetson and read before the annual meeting of the American Astronomical Society at Harvard College. He is the director of Perkins observatory at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Dr. Stetson's object was the study of the variation in latitude with the moon's position. While movement of the earth's crust has long been known to scientists, it was believed to be too slight for measurement. Observations analyzed by Dr. Stetson showed, however, that the change of position may amount to five or six feet or more.

Changes in the position of the moon, Dr. Stetson's paper pointed out, produce a change in the direction of gravity causing the shift in the earth's crust and thus the variation in latitude. Dr. Stetson contended that his theory supports newer theories recently advanced by geologists that the earth's crust, being far from solid, rests on a mobile basaltic layer overlying the nickel iron core of the earth itself.

From the astronomer's point of view, the paper revealed, the land-tide theory is of fundamental consequence since knowledge of the position of the stars is no more accurate than the accuracy with which the position of the observer at the time is known.

Two Ex-Governors Quizzed in Shooting

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Two former governors of the state of Chipas have been detained for questioning into the attempted assassination of governor Raymundo Enriquez in a hotel here Friday.

The assailant entered the governor's room and fired a shot which failed to take effect. Friends overpowered the man and turned him over to the police. The ex-governors held are Constantino Herrera and Rosendo Delabebre. Jose Moran Castillejos, who did the shooting, alleged they had paid him to attempt to kill Enriquez, police said.

Radio Scientist Electrocuted By Own Bolt

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Victim of a product of his own mind and hands, Dean R. W. Goddard, of the Engineering School of New Mexico Agricultural and Mechanical College, was killed by a charge of 12,000 volts of electricity received while he was preparing equipment at Radio Station KOB for a New Year's Eve broadcast.

A resuscitation crew from El Paso was unable to revive him. The scheduled broadcast program was canceled.

PRINCESS BIDS STAFF ADIEU

BRUSSELS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Princess Marie Jose who will leave Brussels tomorrow for Rome where she will be married to Crown Prince Humbert, took leave of the personnel of the royal house, each member being presented with the Princess' photograph and an autograph inscription signed "Marie Jose."

The leave-taking was a very moving one for both the Princess and the household personnel who had known her all her life and few eyes remained dry during the half hour's interview.

The presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies will present the Princess with a crystal vase from the Val St. Lambert works, engraved with the Belgian coat of arms, other presents include an old Greek amphora from the Court of Justice, an ancient English silver cup from the Belgian colony in London and an original Epergne from the Val St. Lambert works.

Beaver Clearings Total 29 Millions

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Prosperity in the Beaver Valley is indicated by a report from the Beaver Valley Clearing House Association. With the close of business, December 31, clearings for 1929 reached $29,492,206.72 for 10 county banks.

SCORE SENT UP IN OPEN TOWN

MULLAN, Idaho, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Not a horn was heard, nor a whoopee note as Mullan greeted the new year. A score of the little mining village's most prominent citizens had just been sentenced to prison terms because Mullan licensed liquor and vice.

E. J. Muchmore, night policeman, gave a half-hearted pull at the rope of the fire siren at midnight. That was the extent of the celebration. Few Mullan miners took pulls at bottles. There was a dance, but it ended at midnight, and everybody went home.

Mullan was accused by the Federal government of passing an ordinance authorizing collection of fees from saloons, gambling halls and disorderly houses.

Defendants in the conspiracy case admitted it, and prominent citizens admitted it today. But, they said, the license system provided them with a police force, paved streets, fire protection and playgrounds for the children. So J. B. Wilcox, cashier of the First National Bank; J. B. Newberry, postmaster; C. E. Wethered, Morning mine superintendent, and C. K. Cartwright, superintendent of the Hunter mine, talked of an appeal to President Hoover for the 24 men and women sentenced yesterday at Coeur D'Alene for conspiracy against the national prohibition act.

ANCIENT RUINS UNIDENTIFIED

JERUSALEM, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Father Mallon, who directed excavations that were reported to have brought to light the biblical city of Sodom, said the identification of the ruins as Sodom was prematurely made.

He said he thought further research would be necessary before real identification was possible and hoped to resume in the spring the excavations that were begun in November.

The ruins, which Father Mallon said certainly were those of an intersting ancient town, were discovered by accident when members of the expedition sent out by the Pontifical Biblical Institute of Jerusalem found some flint objects and potsherds on the exact spots where their tents were located.

The findings caused closer investigation, which brought to light ruins of a town that had never been observed before. The remains of an ancient wall, built partly of stones and partly of bricks, much broken pottery, a few vases and flint instruments were subsequently unearthed. All were said to be of the early bronze age.

Large layers of ashes covered the houses, causing the investigators to assume the place had been destroyed by fire in the bronze age and had never been inhabited since.

The ruins are in the eastern plain of the Jordan, about six kilometers north of the Dead Sea. Several British archaeologists have been hunting in the region for the site of the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which the Bible says were destroyed by fire and brimstone because of the great wickedness of their inhabitants.

Watchman Faints, 5 Die on Crossing

INSTERBURG, East Prussia, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Five passengers were killed and 11 seriously injured when a motor bus in which they were traveling was hit by a train at a grade crossing between Insterburg and Tilsit.

The crossing was unattended at the time because the watchman on duty was suffering from a fainting spell.

Walsh Portrait Taken by State

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—The Tarbell portrait of former Gov. David I. Walsh, now United States senator, which the state art commission for a time refused to sanction until changes were made by the artist, was approved by Gov. Frank G. Allen and executive council.

Babies Die, Parents Hurt When Hit By Bus

DETROIT, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Two young children were knocked from their parents' arms by a skidding bus and were killed in Highland Park, a suburb.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Elrich, had just stepped from the bus and were waiting to transfer to another, holding the children, Alexander, Jr., 2 years old, and Betty, 4 months. The bus skidded, swung around onto the sidewalk and struck the Elrichs. The children were knocked to the ground and fatally hurt, and both parents were badly injured.

EXPORTS OF U.S. SHOW GAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Distinct gains by American exporters in the face of continued foreign competition during the first nine months of 1929 were reported by the Foreign Commerce Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The chamber's report said that Canada, once more the leading market of this country, bought nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars worth of United States merchandise, an increase of nearly sixty million dollars.

"The United Kingdom, in second place," the report continued, "took 15.3 per cent of our total exports, totaling $590,000,000, a gain of 7.5 per cent over last year. Our third leading market, Germany, showed a decline of $28,738,000, or nearly 10 per cent, due mostly to the severe falling off in her purchases of unmanufactured cotton."

Sales to France were said to have increased more than $25,000,000 to a total of $179,508,000, those to Japan declining by nearly $12,000,000 to $172,174,000, and those to Argentine increasing nearly one-third to $163,957,000.

Substantial export gains in 21 other national markets were listed, together with declining sales to Italy, the Netherlands, Soviet Russia and Haiti. In the matter of purchases by the United States, the report said the country bought nearly one-tenth more than a year ago, and that 49 of its 68 chief supplies showed export gains over the corresponding period.

OPIUM CONVICT SURRENDERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Neal MacKay Heath, fugitive from justice since his conviction as go-between in the $25,000 Shanghai opium bribery case, has surrendered to Federal officials here.

"I want to start the New Year right," he explained.

Heath said he had been "making good" with a Los Angeles realty firm.

Heath, former Shanghai lawyer and said to be a member of a prominent Miami, Fla., family, is under sentence of 18 months imprisonment in the Federal Penitentiary at McNeil Island. He was convicted with Leonard Goodwin Husar, then United States attorney at Shanghai, who was charged with accepting the $25,000 in exchange for government evidence against an internationally-known narcotic smuggler later named as A. M. Tracey Woodward, American resident of Shanghai and formerly in the American Consular Service in Persia.

Heath had been a fugitive 10 months.

Probation Officer Dismissed by Court

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Frank H. Mitchell, for 15 years probation officer, has been dismissed by a majority vote of the Common Pleas Court judges. Judges Erwin Cummins and Howard W. Hughes voted to request his resignation, with Judge James I. Brownson, president judge, dissenting. Mitchell refused to resign and a decree dismissing him was issued.

No statement was issued as to the reason for Mitchell's dismissal.

Whisky, Beer, Wine Confiscated in Raid

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 2.—Charles Dreher Marshall, of Strasburg, is at liberty on $1,000 bond for a hearing in Probate Judge J. H. Lamneck's court following a raid at his home where Sheriff Harry Smith and a state officer found two bottles of whisky 57 quarts of beer and seven gallons of wine.

Hip Bootlegging Charged to Man

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 2.—Tony Serrian, is held charged with possessing, selling and transporting liquor. The arrest was made by Chief of Police Hilton and State Policeman Richards. Police allege that Tony has been selling liquor by the glassful from a bottle carried in his pocket.

Mather Girl Escapes When Car Overturns

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Miss Bertha Harrison, 20, Mather clerk, escaped yesterday when a machine in which she was riding skidded and upset on the highway near here.

Fayette City Lodge Now 75 Years Old

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan 2.—Fayette City Lodge No. 511, I. O. O. F., yesterday rounded out 75 years with a banquet and celebration.

'PINKS' SCORED BY ATTERBURY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2 (AP.)—Gen. W. W. Atterbury president of the Pennsylvania Railroad declared here that "the great combinations of industrial enterprises, once feared and antagonized under the name of trusts, are now recognized as among our greatest national assets and absolutely necessary to maintenance of our place in the world's trade."

He was the principal speaker at the New Year's Day exercises at Girard College.

After referring to Stephen Girard, founder of the college which educates fatherless boys without charge, Gen. Atterbury spoke of radicalism in scholastic circles.

"Many of our colleges and schools, though certainly not this one," he said, "have in years not so far distant been the breeding grounds of a good deal of subversive and radical thought. Ideas were encouraged, and even directly taught that were entirely out of harmony with human society as it has come to be organized, and that if allowed to go far enough would surely destroy that society. Would they set up something better in its place?

"Radicalism in scholastic circles, I think, may be traced to two main sources. One is recourse to theory without contact with the practical affairs of real life. The other is the reflex of the unsound political movements of the last generation or two. Such political movements, for the most part, have been aimed to prevent the accumulation of wealth in individual or corporate hands, in the mistaken idea that wealth is a dangerous or evil thing."

KIWANIS OFFICE OPENS HERE

Mr. Charles Donley

One hundred twelve Kiwanis clubs will be represented in the 10 divisions under the Fulton Building office. W. F. Burress, retiring secretary of the Kiwanis Club, of Pittsburgh, began duties as district secretary.

Donley has been active in Kiwanis Club affairs since 1919. He has held many offices, serving as president for three years beginning in 1926. Prior to assuming office today he had been lieutenant governor for this district.

Executive Heads Radiotron Concern

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—T. W. Frech, of Cleveland, Ohio, vice president of the General Electric Company, has been granted a year's leave of absence and will become president of the new RCA Radiotron Company, Gerald Swope, president of the General Electric Company, announced.

Filling the position vacated by Mr. Frech's leave, J. E. Kewley, general sales manager of the National division of the Incandescent Lamp Department at Cleveland, has been named acting manager of the department.

Alcohol Output Reduced in Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Maj. Maurice Campbell, prohibition admistrator for the New York City district, issued a statement saying the "yearly withdrawals of specially denatured alcohol in this district have been reduced 1,781,860 gallons in 1929." The reduction was gratifying "because it appears" it has resulted in "the prevention of a like quantity being diverted to bootleg or beverage channels."

Austrian Fascists Will Combat Strikes

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The headquarters of the Fascist Heimwehr has announced the formation of a new semi-military organization composed of anti-Socialist employes of the Austrian Post and Telegraphs Departments. The suppression of strikes and similar manifestations by the socialistically organized members of these public services is the avowed object of the new group.

Greensburg Store Held Up, Robbed

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—When William Davey, 38, a confectionery store proprietor, glanced up from his newspaper he found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver, back of which was a young man who demanded his money. Davey handed over the cash, $25, and the stranger backed out of the store and drove off.

Man Shot, Arrested For Defying Quiz

James Winthrop, 20, of 6601 Frankstown avenue, was arrested at Pittsburgh Hospital where he was taken yesterday suffering from a gunshot wound in the left knee, according to police report. Police say Winthrop refused to tell them how the shooting occurred.

Magnified Shot Large as World

Natural scientists tell us that the familiar buck shot, if magnified 10,000,000,000 times would be as large as the earth; and that an atom magnified 10,000,000,000 times would be less than three feet in diameter.

HEFLIN, LOCKE PLAN FOR RACE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Senator J. Thomas Heflin arrived here from Washington to attend a meeting tomorrow night at which his candidacy for re-election to the United States Senate and the candidacy of Hugh Locke for governor on independent tickets will be discussed.

Senator Heflin would make no statement except that he would speak at the meeting.

Soon after his arrival here he was met by Locke and other friends at a dinner, and later the group adjourned to the Senator's room at a local hotel.

Both Senator Heflin and Locke announced, following action of the State Democratic Executive Committee in barring them as candidates in the Democratic primary, that they would be candidates as independents.

The executive committee set up regulations barring persons who actively opposed the party's presidential ticket in 1928 from participating as candidates in the 1930 primary.

PIANO CLASSES FILL RAPIDLY

Pittsburghers are engaging in a rush for favorable schedules in the new school which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is supporting for piano students. Conducted by the Wurlitzer Music Foundation, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has arranged for anyone in the city to take piano lessons without cost.

The lessons are taught by melody instead of scale. Anyone may nominate a deserving friend for these free lessons by filling in the coupon which appears elsewhere on this page. One new 26-week subscription to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is sufficient to enroll a person as a candidate for these lessons.

The candidate may then register and obtain the remaining two new 26-week orders for home delivery of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph anytime before his first class. The only cost to him for the entire course will be that of $2.50 for necessary materials, which become his property as soon as he pays for them.

The demand for these lessons has become so heavy that many have thought it best to join in the rush for reservations. Good schedules are, however, still available, according to officials of the school.

CURTIS WINS SAFETY PRIZE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The first prize of $100,000 in the international safe aircraft contest conducted by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics has been awarded to the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company entry. Capt. E. S. Land, vice president of the Guggenheim Fund announced.

Award of the prize will be made at Mitchel Field on January 6.

Twenty-seven manufacturers entered planes in the safety contest, but only 17 craft competed in the tests which started last June at Mitchel Field to determine the plane which under special rules could demonstrate the greatest advance in aero dynamic safety without lohss of efficiency.

The Curtiss entry passed all of the qualifying requirements and eliminated the necessity of final competitive tests.

Newton Steel Plans 3 Million in Notes

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 2.—President E. F. Clark, of the Newton Steel Company, has called a special stockholders' meeting for January 9 to authorize a $3,000,000 note isue. The offering will be made by a banking group headed by the Midland Corporation, Cleveland. Funds will be used to supplement an amount originally raised by issue of common stock for cost of construction of the company's new $7,000,000 plant at Monroe, Mich.

The company manufactures full-finished automobile sheets and caters to the automobile trade.

Soldier Shot, Two Boys Held by Police

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Two 16-year-old boys were arrested here in connection with the shooting of Petty Bequette, Bozeman, Mont., an infantryman on furlough from West Point.

The boys, Edgar Fredericks and Franklin Benson, told the police they were candidates for a high school rifle team and had been practicing marksmanship when Bequette was wounded. Bequette is in a serious condition at a hospital. He was shot through the neck.

Two Boys Accused Of 12 Auto Thefts

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Faced by 12 different charges of breaking, entering and larceny of autos, John Hale, 19, of St. Louis, Mo., and Ralph McCreery, 21, of Derry, have been arrested. It is claimed the youths stole cars from owners in Latrobe, Derry and Greensburg.

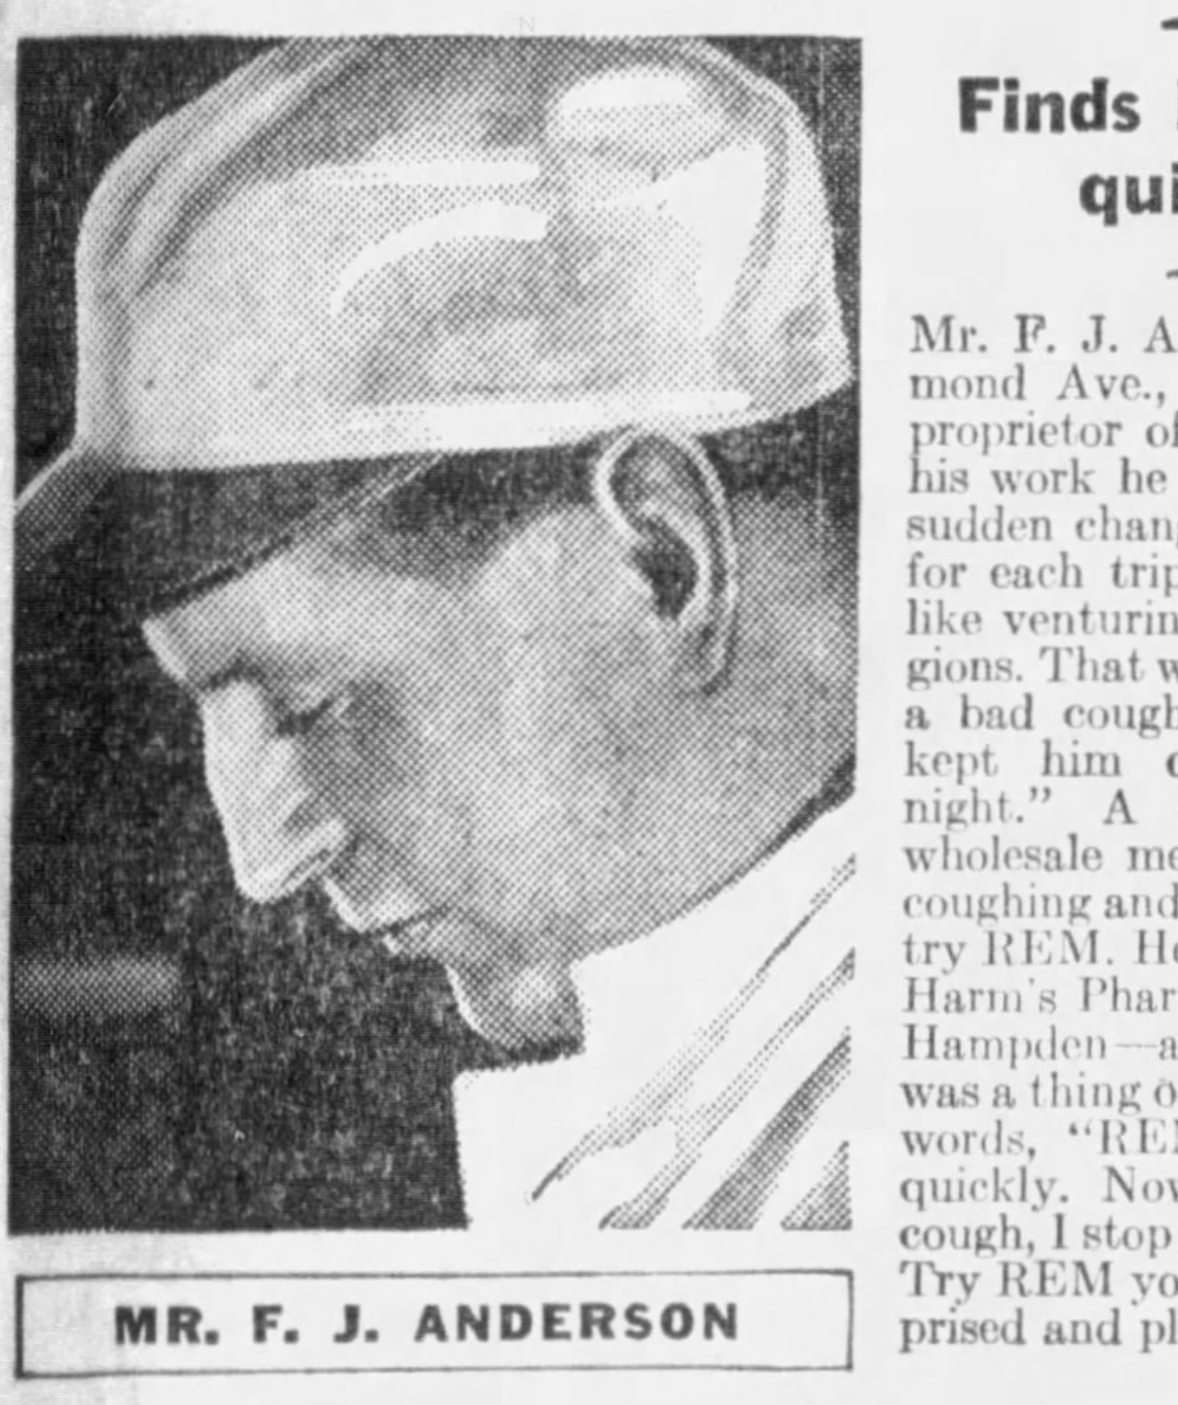
BUTCHER BLAMES COUGHS ON TRIPS TO ICE BOX



MR. F. J. ANDERSON

Finds REM brings quick relief

Mr. F. J. Anderson of 987 Raymond Ave., St. Paul, Minn., is proprietor of a butcher shop. In his work he must undergo many sudden changes of temperature—for each trip into the ice box is like venturing into the Arctic regions. That was the way he caught a bad cough not long ago that kept him coughing "day and night." A salesman from his wholesale meat house heard him coughing and told him he ought to try REM. He did—got a bottle at Harm's Pharmacy, Raymond and Hampden—and soon his cough was a thing of the past. In his own words, "REM relieved me very quickly. Now whenever I get a cough, I stop it quick with REM." Try REM yourself—you'll be surprised and pleased.

CAPITAL HAVEN OF WILD DUCKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP)—A haven for wild ducks scattered from Potomac River marshlands by the fire of hunters' guns has been opened within the nation's capital.

The game birds have been coaxed in ever-increasing numbers to the tidal basin within the shadow of the Washington Monument by food scattered at the order of Col. U. S. Grant III, of the office of public buildings and public parks.

This winter's experiment—which brought ducks to the capital for the first time in recent history—is looked to as one which will mark Washington as haven for great flocks of the birds during the yearly hunting seasons. They gather in great numbers to feed upon the wild celery which grows in abundance in the Lower Potomac marshes.

Threat Frightens Man; He Leaps 2 Stories

Awakened by two men hammering at his front door early this morning Herman Hansell, 51, of 970 Columbus avenue, became so frightened when one of them threatened to shoot him, he said, that he leaped from a second floor window and ran to the Woods Run Police Station.

Both Hansell and Sam Graham, 35, of 1607 Reddour street, were arraigned before Magistrate E. M. Hough, charged with being suspicious persons. Hansell failed to positively identify Graham as the man who threatened to shoot him. Both were discharged.

Two Liners Damaged In Crash at Havana

HAVANA, Jan. 2.—(AP)—The liners Statendam of the Holland-American Line and Franconia of the Cunard Line, were slightly damaged here last night when the Statendam swung on her bow moorings while docking and crashed into the Cunarder.

TRAIN ESCAPES BRIDGE BLAST

ENID, Okla., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Dynamiting of a St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company bridge east of Enid just after a westbound passenger train from Tulsa had passed over it, was revealed by the Garfield County sheriff's office here.

A farmer named Easley said his sons saw three men in an automobile at the bridge just before the explosion.

County officers believed that an attempt had been made to wreck the train. Apparently only one stick of dynamite was used under a rail. Damage consisted of torn-out ties and was slight.

Autos Show Big Gain in Spain

MADRID, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—It is estimated that Spain had 240,000 automobiles at the end of 1929, an increase of 38,364 automobiles. Of the total, Madrid has 5,628 and Barcelona 6,773.

Band Leader Sees Canned Music Boom

BELLAIRE, O., Jan. 2.—Canned music is increasing rather than decreasing interest in tonal art, according to William H. Columbo, band leader of the Wheeling district. Discussing the effect of phonographs, radios and talkies on the musical world, Columbo said there had been progressively advancing interest in music by people generally.

"I believe more musical instruments were sold in 1929 than ever before," Columbo declared.

He cited the increase in the number of high school orchestras. Columbo said two orchestras are organized and working in the Woodsfield schools where he teaches, and said other schools in Monroe County are uniting with Woodsfield in plans for a county school orchestra.

2 NEW ORLEANS CARS BOMBED

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Two women fainted last night when a street car was bombed on the edge of the central business district. A few minutes later another street car was blasted in a different section of the city.

The first explosion occurred when a car ran over a dynamite charge in rounding a curve.

None of the 10 passengers was hurt, but Mrs. N. McPhierson and Mrs. Whitney David fainted and were taken to a local hospital suffering from shock. They were later sent to their homes.

The windows in the car were shattered, and floor boards above the front trucks were torn up. In the home of Christian Madsen, nearby, 26 panes of glass were broken and windows were also broken in a cigar factory.

As police and federal marshals were investigating the bombing, a similar blast damaged a car on North Peters street. No one was injured, but the blast tore a flange off a wheel, broke windows, and ripped up floor boards.

Noted Architect's Death Held Suicide

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Theodore Wells Pietsch, architect and art patron, was found dead in a draughting room over the garage in the rear of his home in the Roland Park section of the city. Police said he had been shot through the head and had been dead several hours.

Pietsch, besides having been architect for a number of prominent Baltimore buildings, had been active in civic affairs concerning art and was a member of the municipal art commission.

Group to Urge Arabs Return to Palestine

LONDON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Jerusalem said that a delegation of Arabs headed by Emir Adel Arslam will leave on Friday for the United States to persuade Arabs who have achieved success there to return to Palestine. The Arabs in the United States will be urged to employ their money and their western training and experience in building up an Arab nation.

Another delegation will leave soon for England to urge the case of Arabs in Palestine against what they regard as Zionist domination.

Inventor of Trolley Devices Dies at 57

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—James A. Duffy, 57, superintendent of equipment for the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, died here of pneumonia. The body will be taken to Pittsburgh tomorrow for burial. Mr. Duffy, who started his career in Pittsburgh, was the inventor of several street railway appliances. His widow and six children survive.

All Mexico Peaceful First Time in Years

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Reports from military commanders throughout Mexico to the secretary of war disclosed the entire country at peace for the first time in several years.

The secretary of war announced that not a single governor had reported a military problem of the slightest importance.

Real Estate

A three-story building known as the Cambridge Apartments at Hobart and Wightman streets, Squirrel Hill, has been sold for S. Irwin Kamin to William Galbraith Stewart, Jr. The building contains 12 suites. Mr. Stewart conveyed in part payment the Valeska Apartments, a three-story structure with 21 suites at 1036-38 Brushton avenue, East End. The Union Real Estate Company closed the deal.

For the Best Letters on

The First Installment of

"LOVEJOY"

A New and Thrilling Serial Story by Beatrice Burton Will Appear in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

Next Wednesday

Here is a new offer. Take advantage of it! You will all want to read "Lovejoy" and you will want the Sun-Telegraph delivered directly to your home every night so that you will not miss a single installment of this absorbing story.

The Sun-Telegraph will award DOUBLE THE AMOUNT OF THE PRIZES IN THE LIST to winners who are having the Sun-Telegraph delivered to them by carrier. In judging the letters, home delivery and mail subscribers will not be given the preference—the letters will be absolutely judged on their merits no matter how and where the readers get the Sun-Telegraph.

But if you are a regular reader on the home delivery list or are having the Sun-Telegraph delivered to you by mail, you have by this new arrangement the added chance of winning just twice the amount you would receive if you are not getting the Sun-Telegraph by carrier or by mail.

This means that you will win $100.00 in gold as the first prize instead of $50.00 in gold, if you have the Sun-Telegraph delivered to your home every night or get it by mail outside of Pittsburgh.

If you have already sent in your letter and want to take advantage of this added offer, cut out and fill in the home delivery order blank in today's Sun-Telegraph and you will be on record as a candidate for the double award. If you have, as yet, not written your letter and want to take advantage of this offer, use the subscription blank.

"Lovejoy," the sweetest story ever frankly told, deals with the problem of marriage and divorce. That's why the Sun-Telegraph is offering prizes totaling $250.00 in gold for the best letters in answer to the above question. The Sun-Telegraph wants to get suggestions from readers that may be helpful in the solution of this serious problem.

Prizes in Gold Doubled

The Sun-Telegraph offers $250 in gold for the best letters submitted. The prizes will be divided as follows: For the women: First prize, $50 in gold; second prize, $25 in gold; third prize, $10 in gold; next eight prizes, $5 in gold; next 50 prizes, two tickets each for the best attractions at the leading motion picture theaters in Pittsburgh. The same prizes will be given men contestants. These sums will be doubled under circumstances described above.

CHINESE FREE 800 RUSSIANS

HARBIN, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Chinese officials have released 800 Soviet prisoners in a military internment camp here. Thirty-seven communists, who were arrested in a Chinese raid on the Russian Consulate last May, also were freed.

Mo Tes-Hui, newly-appointed Chinese director general of the Chinese Eastern Railway, has been named chief delegate for China at the Sino-Russian conference to be held in Moscow January 25. A final settlement of the dispute between China and Russia over the railway will be attempted at that conference.

Julius Rudy, new Russian manager of the railway, and his assistant, Denissov, arrived here and took up their duties.

MASONIC BURIAL FOR APPERSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Last rites were celebrated with Masonic solemnity for Elbert Clark Apperson, 78, brother of the late Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst and uncle of William Randolph Hearst.

For more than 50 years Apperson had been active in the affairs of the Masonic fraternity, and all the honors that can be accorded a member in death were his.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Apperson; his son, Randolph William Apperson, and a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Marshall Flint, wife of Dr. Flint, former professor at the University of California. The Flints now reside in Vienna.

Chicago to Coast Freight Rates Cut

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Reduced through freight rates from Chicago and other Illinois points to the Pacific Coast by way of the Panama Canal, were announced by the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway. The reduction will save shippers approximately 30 cents on each 100 pounds of merchandise compared with all-rail rates. The new rates will apply on iron and steel products, canned goods, soap and soap powder, lye, tinplate and similar articles. Steamship terminals to be used by the railroad are Mobile and New Orleans. The rates are effective February 1.

Order Strict Guard For League Delegates

GENEVA, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Special police measures will be taken to protect members of the League of Nations Council at the session beginning January 13 because of disclosures to the police after the arrest of three Italian anti-Fascists in Paris.

Geneva police authorities said that Alberto Cianca, Giuseppe Sarbelli and Alberto Partiani were not known in Geneva, but investigation into the ramifications of the affair will begin today. The three men were arrested on suspicion of plotting against the Italian delegation to the London naval conference.

Stabbing Affray Costs Man's Life

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Bruno Cangine, 53, was stabbed to death at the Frank Pantallo home near here, yesterday. Cangine leaves a wife and four sons. State police are searching the coal mining community for Pantallo.

Ring in New Year For Five Hours

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Residents of West Waynesburg know there is a New Year. Tuesday evening eight school boys started ringing the bell in the West Waynesburg school house at 7 p. m. and kept it ringing continuously five hours, until midnight.

Washington Sends 1,595 Dead Letters

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Postmaster T. J. Langfitt has sent 1,595 unclaimed letters to the dead letter office, the missives being received during the Christmas rush. No return addresses were on the letters.

FAMED BRITISH PASTOR DIES

LONDON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Mark Guy Pearse, one of the foremost among England's preachers for many years, is dead here at the age of 88.

Mr. Pearse, who had a great reputation within and without the Methodist church, was noted for the wit with which he spiced his sermons, often upsetting the gravity of the congregation.

He won a wide popular reputation as a writer, and his "Daniel Quorm" captivated Queen Victoria, who after reading it, ordered that all of Pearse's writings should be immediately added to her library.

BURGLARS GET $15,000 HAUL

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Returning to her apartment after dining with friends, Mrs. Anna Tenneau, widow of Alexander Tenneau, formerly vice president of Cartier, Inc., Fifth avenue jewelers, found she had been robbed of jewelry and clothing valued at $15,000.

Police believed entrance to the apartment in East Seventy-second street was effected by a skeleton key. Mrs. Tenneau said she had permitted her maid to have the night off. On her return she found the apartment door ajar and her belongings scattered about the place.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Keep VAPEX handy . . . and breathe your colds away

ITS CRISP VAPOR KILLS THE GERMS OF COMMON COLDS

VAPEX is very concentrated. Just a drop on your handkerchief gives off a healing vapor that keeps its strength for a whole day. Breathe it any time, any place. It relieves colds instantly . . . delightfully. At night, put a drop of Vapex at each end of your pillow. Breathe your cold away while you sleep. . . . For Vapex kills the germs of common colds. The ingredients in Vapex are the same ingredients which kept chemists in a government laboratory in England immune to influenza while a deadly wartime epidemic raged all around them. . . . Particularly for the children's colds—nothing could be simpler or more convenient. Simply put Vapex on their handkerchiefs or on their blouses when you send them off to school. Put them to sleep with Vapex on their pillows. Keep your family as free as possible from colds this winter . . . keep Vapex always handy to stop a cold at the start. . . . A dollar bottle of Vapex contains fifty applications—an average of only 2c for all-day-long relief. Do not accept a cheaper substitute. Insist on V-A-P-E-X, in the trim white box with the green triangle. Its secret formula is very complex and cannot be duplicated. . . . E. Fougera & Co., Inc., New York City. Sold at all druggists.

RAISE MILLIONS FOR NEAR EAST

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The executive committee of the Near East College Association has announced the completion of its 3½-year campaign to raise a $15,000,000 endowment as a memorial to the late Cleveland H. Dodge. The endowment will be used for the American University of Beirut; Robert College, Constantinople; Constantinople Woman's College; International College of Smyrna; American College of Sofia, and Athens College, Greece.

Mr. Dodge for years was president of the board of trustees of Robert College.

Contributions to the fund were received from Africa, Europe, the Near East and in North and South America, the committee announced. The largest single gift was $3,500,000 from the estate of the late Charles M. Hall.

Three other large gifts, which were conditional on the obtaining of the entire amount by January 1, 1930, were $1,000,000 from Edward S. Harkness; $500,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and $250,000 from Julius Rosenwald.

Among other gifts was one of $60,000 from Prof. J. R. Jewett, of Harvard University, for endowing a chair of Arabic at the American University of Beirut. The presidency of Constantinople Woman's College was endowed by a committee in Boston. The Athens College presidency by a Cleveland committee; the presidency of International College by a Los Angeles committee; a Philadelphia group endowed a professorship at Robert College, and a Pasadena, Cal., committee endowed a Millikan chair of science at the American University of Beirut.

SCOTS BURYING 70 FIRE DEAD

PAISLEY, Scotland, Jan. 2.—(AP.)— This tragedy-saddened town was engaged today in the task of planning funerals for the victims of Tuesday's fire panic.

A few private funerals have already been held but nearly 70 others were being arranged for tomorrow when special services will be held in Paisley churches.

Meanwhile undertakers, both in Paisley and Glasgow, have been working night and day preparing coffins for the victims. There will be double or triple funeral in five families which lost two or more children.

Most of the injured children are on the road to recovery and 14 have been sent home from the hospital. Of the 22 remaining in the hospital only two were in a serious condition.

French Physicians Views on Clothes

LONDON. — (INS.)—Although Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, famous specialist, approves of many alterations in men's wearing apparel, he is against shorts displacing trousers.

"It is difficult to find a man without bow legs. The dress reform party advise the wearing of shorts, but I think that would be dangerous at the present because trousers cover a multitude of ugliness," he declared.

Boy, 17, Elected Sunday School Head

DAWSON, Pa., Jan. 2. — The Baptist Sunday School here is believed to have the youngest superintendent in Western Pennsylvania. John Valentine, elected to that position, is 17 years old and a member of the junior class of the Dunbar Township High School. He succeeds A. M. Kimmel, who had held the position for 15 years. Mr. Kimmel was an unsuccessful candidate to succeed himself.

INDIANA MOUND BONES FOUND

WINCHESTER, Ind. — Prof. Frank M. Setzel, of the University of Chicago, who has had a force of men excavating a mound on the A. E. Fudge farm, northwest of here, has unearthed two skulls and other bones of what are supposed to be members of the race of mound builders. They also found two leather pouches containing copper bracelets and a quantity of ochre.

"The leg and arm bones appeared to have been buried under the skulls and thrown in promiscuously," Prof. Setzel said

Before this find, Prof. Setzel had uncovered beds of ochre and charcoal and found a broken spear point, a gadget used in burial ceremony and a sandstone having the appearance of a whetstone. The skeletons were found at a depth of eight feet.

This mound is the center of what was called "The Old Fort," which comprising 30 acres, walled around with ridges of dirt which 50 years ago were about 12 to 15 feet high and having an opening on the west side. Prof. Setzel is working under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution and the Indiana Historical Society.

Ellwood City Man Found Shot Dead

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 2.—Another gang killing was seen by state police in the finding of the body of Samuel Miller, 45, construction foreman of the Ellwood Consolidated Water Company, near his garage early today, shot three times. He boarded at the home of Nick Lombardo. Police believe Miller was slain by the same gang that shot to death Rocco Zappia a year ago, presumably in a feud.

Oakmont Youth Hurt When Hit By Auto

Clarence Hulton, 21, of Oakmont, is in a serious condition in the Pittsburgh Hospital as a result of being hit by an automobile Tuesday night in Oakmont. His skull is fractured, the hospital report states. County detectives say that Hulton was struck by the machine of Samuel Difatta, of Oakmont. Difatta took the injured man to the hospital.

FARMS TO HOLD POPULATION

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—A prediction that the agricultural population in the United States never will become less, and that both the corporation and "family" farm will thrive in the future, was made before the land reclamation division of the American Society of Agricultural Engineering by Prof. E. R. Jones, of the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Jones said that the agricultural population of the country has reached a rock bottom figure of 25 per cent. He pointed out that city labor now exceeds the demand and that the average farmer no longer is able to go to the city and step into a lucrative position.

SHRINE LEADER TALKS ON ARMS

ATLANTA, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Leo V. Youngworth, of Los Angeles, imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, declared here that unless the forthcoming disarmament conference in London achieved results, the United States would be faced with the necessity of spending $1,500,000,000 for armaments within the next five years.

Speaking to Shriners from southeastern states, who came here to dedicate a new mosque, Youngworth declared that the Shrine, in sponsoring a world peace movement, hald found "a cause worthy of its best efforts."

"Armaments throughout the world are on the increase," he said, "and signs are pointing to another conflict. Unless something can be done at the forthcoming disarmament meeting in London, the United States stands to face with the necessity of spending $1,500,000,000 on armaments within the next five years.

"This amount will have to be matched by other countries, and thus he will have another race similar to the one that brought on the World War."

SHEET, TIN PAY SCALE STANDS

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 2.—Tonnage rates for sheet and tin mill workers in Midwestern plants continue unchanged in January-February, from the November-December rate, as a result of the bi-monthly examination of sales sheets. Average price of Nos. 26, 27 and 28 gauge black sheets shipped during the 60 days ending December 20 was disclosed at 3.05 cents per pound, or unchanged from the bi-monthly average two months ago.

Spain Denies Asking Part in Navy Parley

MADRID, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—An official note here denied that Spain had sought an invitation to participate in the London Naval Conference in January. It was said the government only had expressed its wish to be included as an interested nation in any negotiations toward a Mediterranean agreement.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Children Like This Safe Prescription

Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly

Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous ills. Thoxine, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gargling. Just ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Sold by all druggists.

NATIONAL PIKE GETS U. S. AID

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Jan. 2.—The United States government has indicated that it intends to co-operate in widening the National road in Ohio, Harvey F. Brown, New Philadelphia, division highway engineer, and his assistant, Homer Althar, said at St. Clairsville yesterday. Brown said he had received a request for a preliminary outline of the work that will have to be done on the Belmont County end of the road between Bridgeport and Fairview in connection with widening, reduction of curves and elimination of sharp grades. The request came from Federal highway officials in the Department of Agriculture.

Brown believes elimination of the Baltimore and Ohio grade crossing at the foot of Blaine hill will not be accomplished this year. It is believed that preliminary work looking to correction of some of the 17 curves will be undertaken. It is proposed to build culverts, walls and fills and have them used when weather is favorable, with the present brick highway continuing in service until the project can be completed.

TRAIN SERVICE INAUGURATED

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—After more than 50 years, broad gauge railroad service will be extended into Waynesburg, the 136-year-old county seat of Greene County, today. Several merchants will receive shipments of merchandise over the extension of the Charziers Southern from Mather to Waynesburg on the first train.

Although no celebration has been arranged, residents are looking forward to the arrival of the first train with enthusiasm.

Rubber Worker Killed by Fall

Bowler Loses Arm In Plant Mishap

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Morris Connelly, 35, lost his right arm in an accident at the P. I. W. plant. Connelly is well known in valley bowling circles.

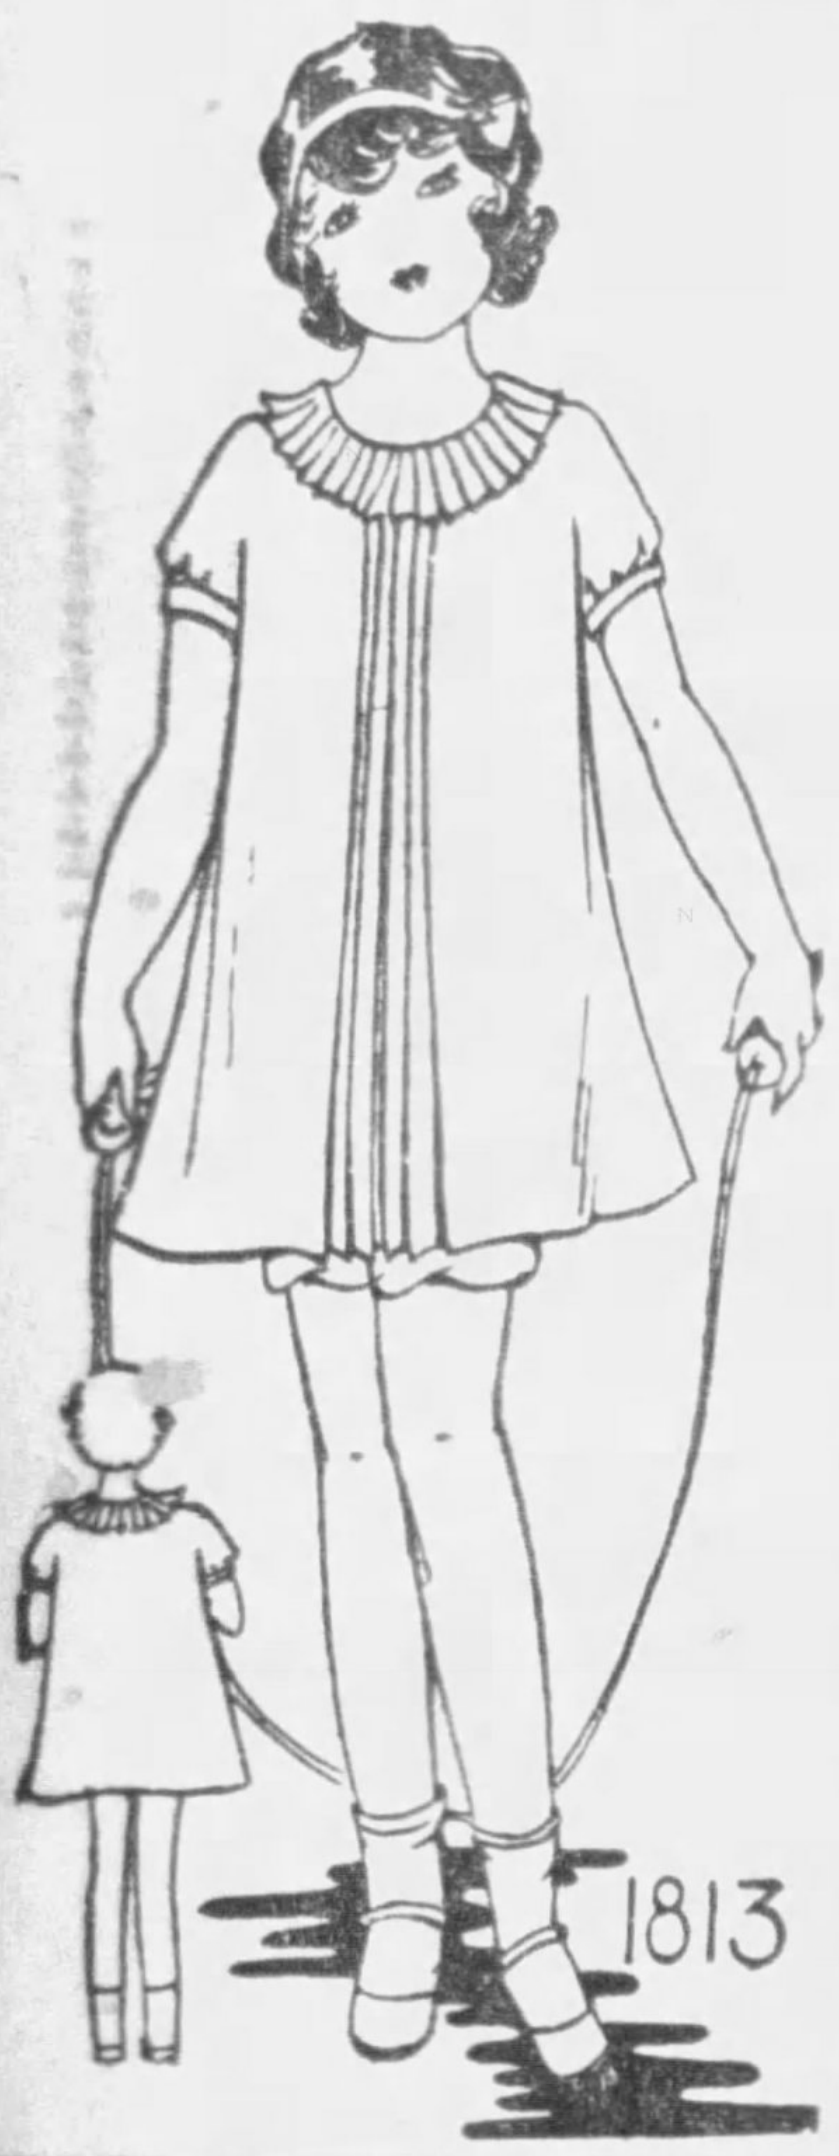
"Adorable Kiddie Frock"

Pattern 1813

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS



Isn't this an exquisite little model for a tiny girl? Front pleats give grace and fullness to the frock. The short sleeves are puffed and held by narrow cuff bands. Pleating finishes the neck in most becoming manner.

Design 1813 may be cut from cotton or silk material, crepe de chine, pongee, dimity voile, handkerchief linen, etc. White, tan or one of the pastel shades would be delightful.

May be obtained only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and order to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

POLICE BAFFLED BY ART THEFT

M. Bechabache, of Brussels, shipped a famous Van Dyck painting, "Concert Des Anges,' of estimated £30,000 ($150,000) value, to Godfrey Phillips, West End art dealer here.

When the packing case was opened at the latter's gallery the frame of the picture was found intact but the canvas, which measured five feet six inches by four feet three inches, was completely cut out.

The outside of the case appeared perfectly normal and police said they had no clue as to how the painting had been extracted.

Sir Anthony Van Dyck was the court painter to Charles I, of flemish painter who became England in the early seventeenth century. He was known particularly for his delineations of what since has come to be known as a "Van Dyck Beard."

Youngstown Bank Dividends Steady

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 2.—First National Bank has paid its two hundred and thirty-fourth consecutive dividend, and the Dollar Savings and Trust Company an allied institution, its one hundred and eighty-sixth dividend. First National was organized in 1863. Dollar Bank was formed in 1887. The two banks were combined in 1908. Since that time they have paid to stockholders cash dividends totaling $7,740,000.

Double House Burns On Greenville Farm

GREENVILLE, Pa., Jan. 2.—A double house on the J. O. Anderson farm was destroyed by fire, with a loss of $6,000. Flames started near a chimney.

SCHOOL BURNS; SEEK FIREBUG

OAKMONT, Cal., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The destruction by fire of Fremont High School, Oakland's oldest educational unit, and the attempt a few hours later to set fire to Lockwood Junior High School by use of a bomb resulted today in an intensive search for a pyro-maniac here.

The incendiarist is believed to be the same whose activities have reduced to ashes a dozen schools, churches and public buildings in Sonoma, Mendocino, Lake and Suisun counties in the last few months.

Fremont High School, built in 1907 at a cost of $1,000,000, was a ruin. Only a small building housing the R. O. T. C. arsenal, a concrete machine shop and three blackened chimneys remained. The loss was estimated at $800,000 by H. D. Blasefield.

Christmas Lighting Winners Announced

Homewood—J. M. Selden, 414 Dallas avenue.

Sheraden — James T. Herrington, 3416 Allendale street.

North Side — Mrs. E. S. O'Rourke, 554 Perrysville avenue.

Bellevue was awarded the community lighting prize. The Civic Club of Pittsburgh will award silver plaques to the individual and community winners.

Plea Averts Revolt At Colorado Prison

PUEBLO, Col., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—An open revolt on the part of 123 convicts at the Broadacre prison farm, south of here, on New Year's eve, in protest against the removal of Earle E. Bennett, farm superintendent, was averted only through the pleading of Bennett, it was learned today. The discharged superintendent was said to have finally exacted the felons' promise not to revolt and to co-operate with Kessinger, Bennett's successor.

Man Given $25 Fine For Chasing Woman

Thomas Daily, 43, of 9½ Norton street, Mt. Washington, was fined $25 in Morals Court today for chasing Cornelia Ostermeyer, of 93 Westwood street.

Dailey asked her to help him down the steps off Westwood street. When she refused he chased her a block. He explained he had been drinking.

Exiled Leon Daudet, Royalist, in Paris

PARIS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Leon Daudet, amnestied royalist leader, returned to Paris today after several years of exile in Belgium. He was greeted by enthusiastic followers, but there was no untoward incident.

Journey's End

BILLIE DOVE

SEPARATION FOR BILLIE DOVE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Hollywood's film colony was buzzing today with the report that Billie Dove, popular motion picture actress, and Irvin Willat, her director-husband, have decided to separate after six years of married life.

Billie admitted the report was true yesterday, but the actress denied that a divorce was imminent.

"We may get a divorce later, but I will never say a word against Irvin," she said. "We just reached the point where we could not agree and it's better for us to separate when obstacles arise that prevent our happiness."

Willat is now in New York.

Wouldn't Crank Car, Slapped, Girl Says

When Jane Collins, 27, of 6200 Penn avenue, refused to crank their stalled car, Anthony Sansome, of Uniontown, slapped her, Jane testified in Morals Court today. One of Jane's eyes was an unnatural black today. Sansome said he was just fooling. He was fined $10.

3 Burned to Death At New Year Party

NASHVILLE, Mich., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Vern D. Andrews, a farmer who lived three-and-one-half miles southeast of here, and two unidentified men, evidently guests at a New Year's party, were burned to death in a fire at the Andrews home this morning.

1 KILLED, 4 SHOT BY CELEBRANTS

DETROIT, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Random gun fire by celebrants brought death to a 7-year-old boy and serious wounds to four other persons as Detroit greeted the new year in what police said was a "subdued" manner.

Leonard Volpi, 7, was shot and killed by an unknown celebrator as he played in front of his home. Mrs. Adelaide Deman, 24, was wounded in the breast as she stood on the front porch of her home listening to the welcome to the new year. Howard Jones, 31, was shot in the chest as he sat at a window in his home. Two other men are near death from similar wounds. None of the persons who fired the shots was apprehended.

OIL CASE FIGURE ILL IN FRANCE

CANNES, France, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—James E. O'Neill, American oil magnate, who has been living in France since the beginning of the United States government's investigations into the Teapot Dome oil scandal more than four years ago, today was reported seriously ill in his villa here.

O'Neill and H. M. Blackmer refused to attend a grand jury investigation in Washington in 1925, where evidence tending to show that former Secretary of the Interior Albert B Fall accepted a bribe, in the form of Liberty bonds, in connection with the leasing of government oil lands, was sought.

SIDE WALKS

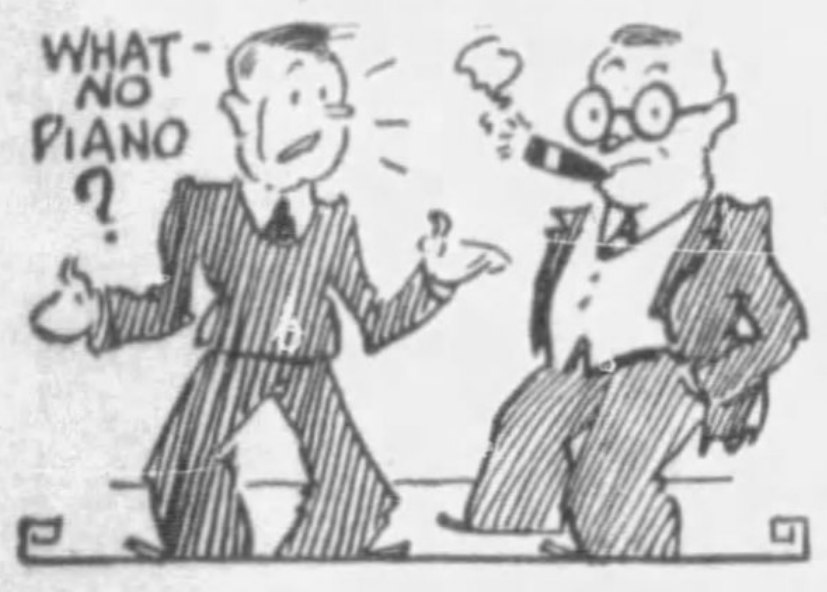
by WILLIAM PFARR

PROF. MILTON D. CRANDALL, the well-known philosopher, has asked Sidewalks to give voice to his official denial that he is sponsoring the marathon pianist who is enlivening the hectic night life of the East End.

"For the time being, I have gone straight," Prof. Crandall announces. "I have promoted so many dance marathons and rocking-chair marathons and flagpole marathons and horse marathons that my public was beginning to suspect that I was goofy. I am not goofy, of course, and I find consolation in the fact that Benjamin Franklin was not appreciated until after his death. Where would this country be today without the kite?



WHAT-NO PIANO ?

"Prof. Burt, the marathon pianist, is an old friend of mine and an admirable pianist. He and I enjoyed several conferences recently in which we discussed the future of the piano, but we were unable to come to terms. How could I possibly promote a piano marathon, my friends, when I don't have a piano?"

Mr. C. J. Braun, Jr., treasurer of the Philadelphia Company, owns two treasured letters, one written by Victor Herbert in 1903 while the famed composer was living at 518 Aiken avenue, the other from the pen of John A. Brashear, the scientist and astronomer.

Mr. Herbert complains about the bother of paying his gas bill during his secretary's absence and Mr. Brashear, with equal good nature, finds his electricity bill difficult to understand. Here are the letters:

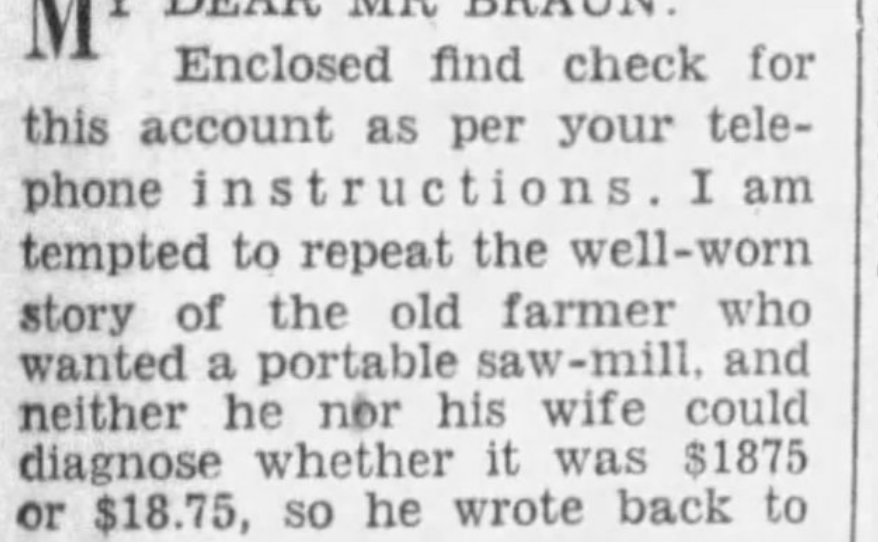
MY DEAR MR BRAUN:

Enclosed find check for this account as per your telephone instructions. I am tempted to repeat the well-worn story of the old farmer who wanted a portable saw-mill, and neither he nor his wife could diagnose whether it was $1875 or $18.75, so he wrote back to the manufacturer, "If your saw-mill is $18.75 I will take one; if it is $1875, what the devil does a man who has that much money want with a saw-mill?"



WE'LL SEE 'BOUT THIS SAW-MILL STUFF !
RFD

If this bill is $75, I will quit on electric lights, but if it is 75c, as is indicated on the right-hand side, I will surely burn it from morning until night, and from night until morning.

Pleasantry aside, I presume it is an error and your meter man will likely be able to fix it without the error occuring again.

I am,

Yours very sincerely,
JNO. A. BRASHEAR.

My dear Braun:

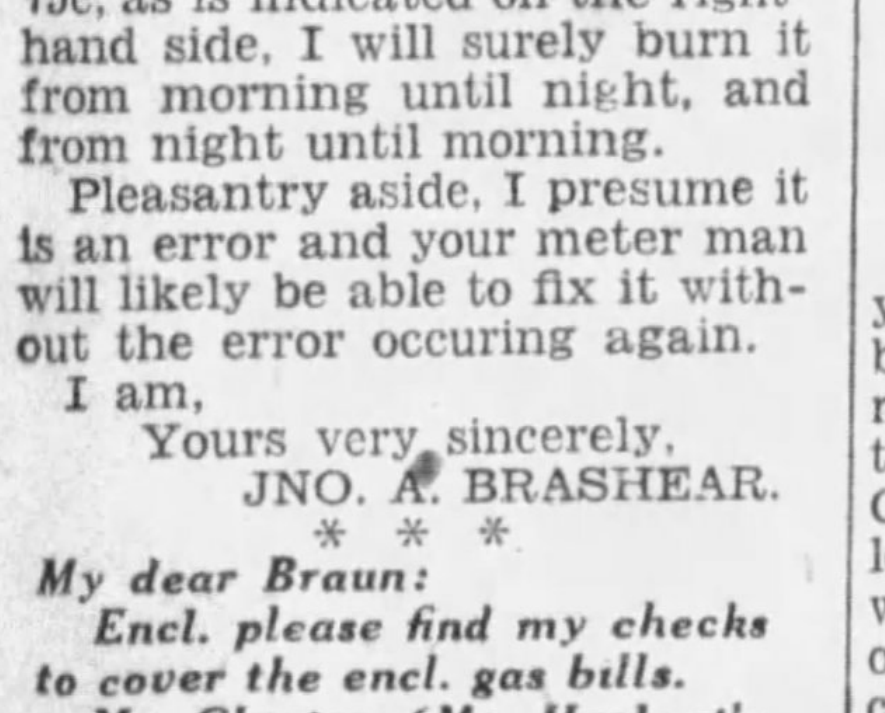
Encl. please find my checks to cover the encl. gas bills.

Mr. Clayton (Mr. Herbert's secretary) has been away for more than three weeks and it's almost impossible for me to attend to this kind of bus.

He will return next Wedn., thank God, and straighten out affairs.

Please remember me to Mr. Zitterbart.

Very sincerely yours,
VICTOR HERBERT.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 2.—

WENT over to the big football game at Pasadena between the Presbyterians of Pittsburgh, and the Methodists of Los Angeles. This game don't decide anything but the Protestant championship of a hundred per cent Catholic football nation.

It certainly was a hot day (but I let Graham McNamee describe the heat to you, that's what we bring him out every year for.) Even the old timers that came to this country in the early days with Mary Pickford and Bill Hart say they never saw a hotter day.

This game wound up the most successful financial season that higher education has experienced since they took professors out of universities and replaced them with coaches.

YOURS,
WILL.

WOMAN KILLED, FOUR HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Machine Skids on Curve and Smashes Against Pole Near Glenwood Bridge

Miss Mary Adamson, 40, of St. Ann street, Castle Shannon, was killed and four other persons were injured when their automobile crashed into a telephone pole on Second avenue, near the Glenwood bridge, early today.

The car was driven by James Kelley, 42, of 3010 Bergman street, Sheraden, police said. Kelley, his wife, Charles McNichols, who said he lives at 1300 Bergman street, and Mrs. Mary Fagan, who said she lives at the Kelley home, were taken to Mercy Hospital, where it was said their injuries were slight.

Kelley, who was charged by police with reckless driving, told police the automobile skidded on a curve and crashed into the pole.

WELFARE FUND SEES BUSY YEAR

New Year's day ushers in what is expected to be a full year for the Welfare Fund, according to the president of that organization, August K. Oliver, who today expressed gratification with the record of the past year, and outlined a program of extended and intensified service for the year to come.

"Our situation seems entirely satisfactory," said Mr. Oliver. "Thanks chiefly to the people of Pittsburgh, it has been our privilege to succeed in everything of an important nature that we have attempted. We have bent every effort to merit the confidence of the public, to serve our member agencies well, and to bring the largest possible measure of comfort and benefit to the unfortunate and underprivileged members of our population. In this we believe have been successful. And now, with six strong new members, with a more nearly adequate working force throughout the agencies, with renewed devotion to the permanent improvement of the people among whom we work, and with ample funds assured, we look forward to a well-filled year."

An important feature of the year's work, Mr. Oliver said, will be a thorough study of child care methods as now practiced among the 60 agencies in Allegheny County that deal with this problem. This work is already under way, headed by a local committee of which J. Rogers Flannery is chairman, and conducted by several of the county's most eminent specialists in this field. The final report is expected by May 1.

BLAST KILLING BOY UNDER INQUIRY

Six Persons Injured as Gas Explosion Wrecks Home In Ambridge; Leak Blamed

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Police and firemen today were investigating a gas explosion in the home of John Bratmeyer, 1010 Bernadine avenue, which resulted in the death of his 9-year-old son, Chester, and injury to six persons.

The boy died late last night in Valley Hospital, Sewickley. He was blown up a stairway when the blast occurred in the basement early yesterday.

Others injured were his father; his mother, Mrs. Mary Bratmyer, 48; Joseph Bratmeyer, 20; Frank Scoff, 22; William Morak, 22, and John Morak, 60.

The concrete block foundation in the rear of the home, a two-story frame, was blown out by the explosion which, police said, was caused by leaking gas. Windows in the house were shattered.

Chester, with several companions who escaped uninjured, was building a boxing ring when the blast occurred. Fire which followed the explosion, was extinguished by Ambridge firemen.

67,077 WRITE ESSAYS

Completed statistics of the Better Traffic Committee's traffic essay contest show that 67,077 essays were written this year by the pupils of 164 public and parochial schools. This traffic safety project was sponsored by the education section of the committee, Walter Rosenbaum, chairman, during the month of November last year. Three scholarships and $810 in the form of 100 cash prizes will be awarded the winners after the work of the contest judges is completed.

After a process of elimination in the schools, approximately 1,215 essays were submitted to the contest judges. These essays represented three from each contest division in each school. The awards will be announced at the time of the awarding of the prizes later this month.

Lecture on Indians Offered Children

A lecture on the Iroquois Indians will be delivered Saturday afternoon in Carnegie Museum lecture hall by Miss Mable Powers. Miss Powers represented the Iroquois tribes in the world congress of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom in Washington.

"ENDURANCE PROFESSORS" IN EAST LIBERTY CONTEST TO SEE IF PIANO-PLAYER CAN STAY AWAKE LONGER THAN "RIDER"

PIANO, BICYCLE VIE IN TEST

It is a much-mooted question being settled in the East End today, "Can a man pedal a bicycle longer than a pianist can play the piano?"

The pianist, Prof. Burt, marathoner, passed his fifty-fifth hour at 1 p. m. today. A soft boiled egg, fed to him by his wife, was the pianist's only nourishment. His opponent, Prof. Percy Sparling, who does or doesn't pedal the bicycle, was at his heels.

Prof. Sparling explained today that he pedals the bicycle only for relief from the monotony of remaining awake. If he merely keeps awake he wins $100. If he goes to sleep he wins a much-needed rest.

"It is all for science," Prof. Burt announced to the crowds that visited the East End storeroom in which the exhibition is being staged.

Too Much New Year Costs Man $25 Fine

Because Charles O. Lewis, 52, of 1316 Grotto street, carried his New Year celebration too far, he was assessed $25 fine in the Frankstown Avenue Police Court yesterday. Police say that Lewis had been drinking and showed fight when Patrolman Frank Delaney tried to quiet him Tuesday night at Frankstown and Lincoln avenues. During the scuffle which followed, Lewis is said to have bitten the patrolman's hand. A riot call brought additional police to the scene and Lewis soon was lodged in the police station.

Another Girl Loses Right Shoe to Slipper Thief

Police renewed their search for the "slipper thief" today, when his latest victim, Miss Christine Tueber, of 1615 Westmont street, Carrick, reported she had been robbed of her right shoe by the man, who accosted her in Thielman avenue, near Westmont street, Tuesday night.

She was thrown to the street by the thug, who removed her slipper. He did not take her money or jewelry.

More than a half dozen young women have been robbed in a similar manner in the last few months.

TRIO IN STOLEN AUTO HELD

Three 16-year-old boys were arrested at the south end of the Liberty Tubes last night in an automobile they were alleged to have stolen in Manhattan street 15 minutes before.

The trio, James Hutchinson, of 1256 Decatur street; Jack Carlin, of 1107½ Laurel street, and Pollard Moore, of 1304 Beaver avenue, were halted for a traffic violation and an investigation disclosed that they had stolen the car, police said. The automobile was owned by A. Mithabati, of 146 Forty-fifth street.

POLICE BATTLE DANCE RIOTERS

The roll call in the North Side Police Station ended abruptly last night when a riot call from a Federal street dance hall was turned in.

Efforts of several dancers to mob Patrolmen Conrad Dietz and Joseph Patton when they arrested Lawrence Ours, of 1321 Federal street, and Albert Tessmer, of 2149 Brighton road, were frustrated by more than a score of policemen who hurried to the place. Ours and Tessmer were charged with disorderly conduct.

28 MADE ILL BY FUMES SAFE

Twenty-eight workmen, victims of carbon monoxide fumes, were being released from observation today at St. John's General Hospital, where they were removed yesterday from the Brunot Island station of the Duquesne Light Company.

The men, none of whom was overcome, suffered ill effects when fumes seeped through the wood flooring from the cinder ground on which a construction shed had been erected. Company officials stated that for some time the cinders had smoked after being dumped there, beginning several years ago. It has been a year since any sign of smoldering had been noted.

The shed was used by workmen to change clothing. Approximately 40 men were waiting to start work when the first sign of fumes was noted. One workman was assisted to the emergency hospital, while others were able to walk from the shed.

Among those suffering illness from the fumes were: B. J. Conley, of 151 Hazelwood avenue; James Houlihan, 1237 Holmes street; H. M. Wagner, 756 Frederick street; Joseph Wuenstel, 4742 Sylvan avenue; George Lukas, 2316 California avenue; John Richards, 827 Lincoln avenue; Clements Marfins, 1513 Chateau street; William Bray, Imperial, Pa.; Thomas Zimmerman, Parnassus; John Wasco, Leetsdale; R. F. Michaels, 604 Sandusky street; P. D. Marshall, 1327 Warner street; Catonrine Atinatonaric, 1910 Chateau street; Eugene Greene, 3219 Huxley street; F. W. Fowler, 1737 Brighton road; Thomas Sinagra, 1106 Langtry street; Thomas Bond, 1104 Sheffield street; Angelo Matloi, 1104 Langtry street; John Vatovich, 1436 Wilmont street; Matt Bosh, McKees Rocks; Guiseppe Cziongo, 1504 Jerome street; Joseph Williams, 757 Montclair street; Frank McGuire, 219 Lincoln avenue; Edward Regan, 4 Holmes street; Joseph Ross, 1809 Chateau street, and Amicia Peto, 78 Frazier street.

Still Found in Home, Sharpsburger Held

Frank DeSanter, of 1825 Main street, Sharpsburg, was at liberty today under $1,000 bail pending a hearing tomorrow night before Justice of the Peace Anthony Ferraro following a raid by Sharpsburg police on his home. A 150-gallon still, 41 barrels of mash and 10 gallons of moonshine whisky were seized, according to Lieut. S. W. Fair. Motorcycle Patrolman Chester Dygello and Patrolman John Janascek were the other raiding officers

Club Attache Dies As Result of Fall

Frank Fischer, 49, of 2811 Grandview street, McKeesport, assistant steward at the McKeesport Elks club, died yesterday in McKeesport Hospital from a fractured skull suffered in a fall in the club several hours before, according to morgue report.

Fischer tripped on a stair landing and struck his head on the tile floor. Members of the lodge summoned police who took him to the hospital where he died without regaining consciousness.

DRAGNET OUT FOR ARMED ABDUCTORS

Police Search District for Suspects as 21 Robberies Are Reported Over Holiday

Nine holdups, 12 robberies and two kidnapings early yesterday and last night caused police to spread a dragnet over the city and gather in a number of suspects for questioning.

Victims of both kidnapings were girls, separated from their companions with whom they were sitting in parked automobiles. Neither was harmed.

Miss Mildred Reidenbaugh, 18 of 1402 Dickson street, North Side, was taken from an automobile which she occupied with Henry Arnold, of the Fox Trot Gardens Bellevue, at Jacks Run and Brighton roads shortly before midnight and taken to a lonely spot in Riverview park where she was ejected from the automobile. Three men who drove up to where they were parked, robbed Arnold, tied him and transferred him to their car driving off with the girl in the Arnold car.

ROB GASOLINE STATION

At the Davis avenue bridge in Riverview Park, five miles from the scene of the robbery the bandits stopped their car and forced the girl out.

"We'll leave the car in the business section of the North Side," the leader told Miss Reidenbaugh, when she protested to them she owned a half interest in the automobile.

Two hours later a car answering the description of the one stolen from Arnold, and bearing three men, drove to the American Oil Company service station at Beech and Irwin avenues. After obtaining nine gallons of gasoline, two of the men went into the office, held up B. U. Nolan, of 1304 Superior avenue, and W. J. Tidd, of 3537 Fleming avenue, and took $28.76 from the cash register.

In the meantime Miss Reidenbaugh reached a store at Woods Run avenue and Brighton road, a mile from which she had been forced out of the automobile, and called North Side police, who had received a telephone call a few minutes before from Arnold, who had worked himself free of the rope which bound his hands and feet.

Several hours after the gasoline station holdup, Arnold's car was found abandoned in an alley near River avenue. A short time later, Patrolman Joseph Scanlon saw three men leave an automobile near a gas station on Arch street, near Erie street, and commanded them to halt. Instead of complying with the command, they ran away. Scanlon fired two shots, but the men escaped. The car was towed to a garage.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—

MELLON predicts a prosperous year. He also prophesied a prosperous year for 1929 and we would have had it, too, if not for the stock market crash, business being bad, money being tight, prices being high and things in general being on the bum.

Mellon having failed several times in his predictions, why not give a real financier a chance. Now I'll tell you about 1930.

People who work will have money. The unemployed won't. The rich will get richer and the poor will establish new credits. The market will be stronger, but it will have its weak moments. See great prosperity for certain industries and for others a good substantial increase over 1929, with the outlook for 1931 much better, unless some financial crisis towards the end of 1930, or, if it is carried over to 1932, which leaves 1933 wide open.

P. S.—If these predictions fail, remember it puts me in the same class with Mellon.

Cupid Fails; Tell Why And Win Gold Award

Cupid is far from the infallible—just like the rank and file of real human beings. Cupid worked overtime in 1929, according to all reports, and Cupid will continue to be just as active as ever in 1930.

Cupid never gives a guarantee of marital bliss, and is responsible for a lot of unhappy marriages—marriage knots that sooner or later get into divorce courts to get untied. The knots should never have been tied.

Divorce is a problem that seems to have run out of control. The divorce mills are grinding harder and harder every day. Why?

Is there a solution for the problem. The Sun-Telegraph believes that there may be many of its readers who can suggest some tangible, practical solution for the assurance of happy, continuous marriages. What are your ideas on the subject? The Sun-Telegraph will pay $250 in gold for the best letters of 250 words or less on "How to Hold Your Wife" and "How to Hold Your Husband." You may have had personal experiences bearing on the subject. You may have personal friends or relatives whose lives have been such that a recital of their marital mistakes or the story of their happiness may be beneficial to others.

The Sun-Telegraph offers $250 in gold for the best letters submitted. The prizes will be divided as follows: For the women: First prize, $50 in gold; second prize $25 in gold; third prize, $10 in gold; next eight prizes, $5 in gold, next 50 prizes, two tickets each for the best attractions at the leading motion picture theaters in Pittsburgh. The same prizes will be given men contestants.

The above awards will be doubled for winners who have the Sun-Telegraph delivered to their home by carrier boys or get it by mail subscription. For full detals see the advertisement in another part of today's Sun-Telegraph.

This letter writing contest is being conducted at this time on accaunt of the launching of a new serial story by Beatrice Burton under the title "Lovejoy." The first installment appears next Wednesday. Don't miss it! Miss Burton you know, has written a number of understanding successes such as "The Flapper Wife," "The Hollywood Girl," and "Sally's Shoulders." Many Sun-Telegraph readers are familar with her love romances and they will be more than ever interested in "Lovejoy" because the writer carries the theme of marriage and divorce throughout the story—one of the sweetest ever frankly told.

The contest is just starting in the Sun-Telegraph and will end Sunday, January 12,. All letters must be in before Tuesday, January 14, addressed to Lovejoy Contest Editor, the Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh Pennsylvania.

You don't have to wait until the end of the contest. Yau can submit your letter today—if you wish.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Should men only hold legislative jobs in the government, such as Congress?

BLOSSOM LOMAX, Point Breeze: "I hardly think so. Anyhow, women couldn't do any worse than the men do in politics and government. Throughout history men have always bowed to the influence, whether kings or princes or workmen."

Blossom Lomax

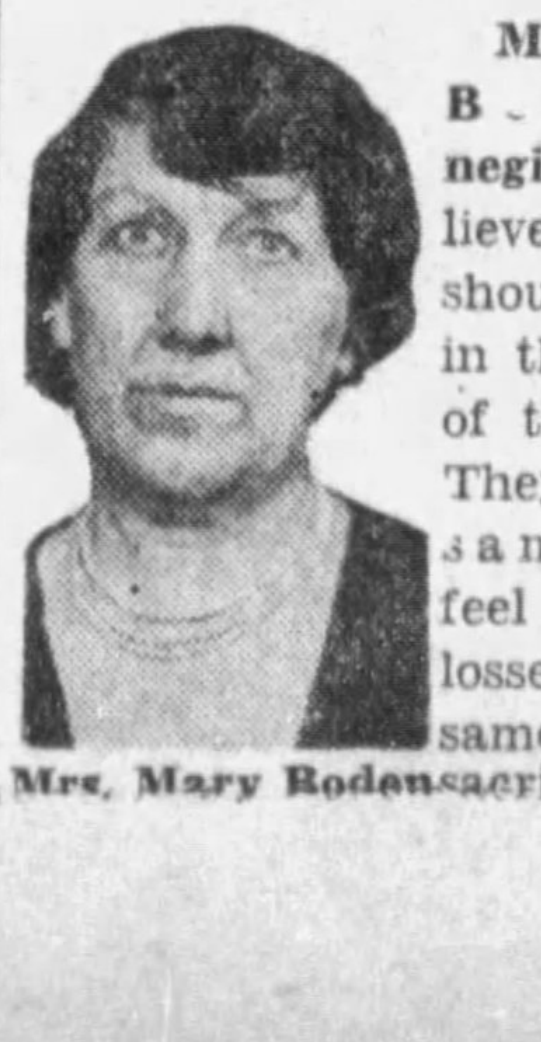
MRS. MARY BODEN, Carnegie: "I believe women should be active in the regulation of their country They derive the same benefits feel the same losses, suffer the same or more sacrifices for it."



Mrs. Mary Boden

MARGARET GILFILLAN, Upper St. Clair Township: "Women can serve in many political capacities that men haven't the sensibilities to understand Welfare and the home are especially the woman's province and she sees them in the light of understanding—having spent a good deal of time there."

Miss Gilfillan

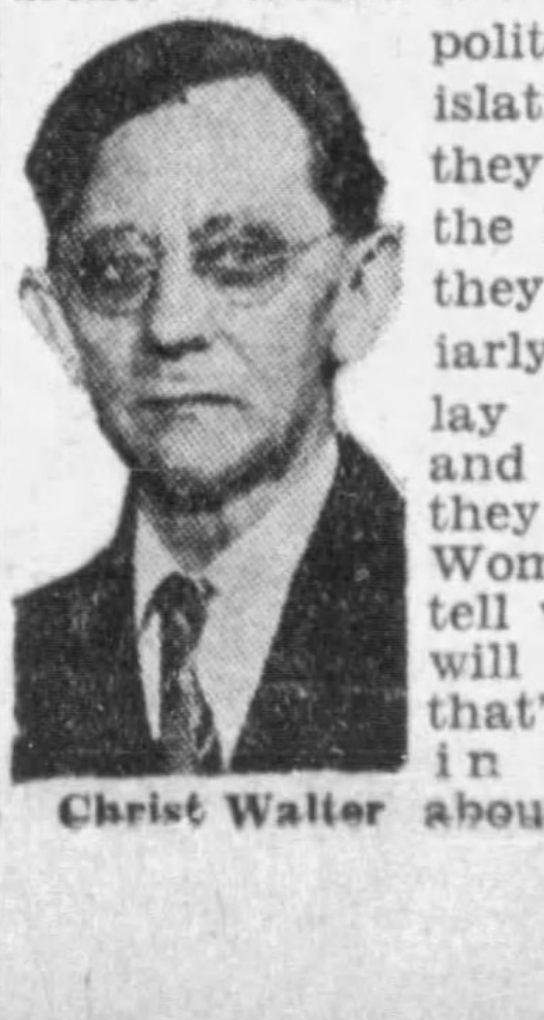
CHRIST WALTER, Ben Avon, artist: "Women are not fitted for political and legislative tasks; they belong in the home, where they are peculiarly fitted to lay down laws and see that they are obeyed. Women won't tell women; men will tell men—that's the trick in knowing about politics."



Christ Walter

MRS. LUCILLE EVANS, Brookline: "Absolutely, women should be active and hold office in every branch of the government. There are many women now who really conduct offices and departments, the head of which is nominally under a man. Women are new to public office. They'll soon develop a sympathy and accordingly, a facility at government."

Mrs Evans

CHARLES W. SWOPE, Salesman, North Side. I think that when women pay taxes, they should have a right to be in politics. They are capable of ruling their homes, so are just as capable to help make our laws. I am certain that women will continue in politics indefinitely.

LINDY DECLINES STATUE HONOR

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh prefers to be known in St. Louis "as the boy who flew the mail" and doesn't want a statue of himself erected in Forest Park.

The flyer's attitude as expressed in a telephone conversation with Mayor Miller today was revealed by the Mayor.

As the result of his conversation with "Lindy," the Mayor said he was undecided whether to continue to sponsor a movement to erect such a statue. He said he would confer with Harold M. Bixby, a close friend of Lindbergh, before making a final decision.

A few donations toward the erection of the statue have already been received, most of those being dollar contributions from small boy hero worshipers.

MAN, GIRL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

William Farrell, 60, of 304 Sandusky street, chief clerk in the city law department, and Miss Mabel Shirley, 18, of 5213 Cecelia place, were injured in a collision of automobiles at Baum boulevard and Negley avenue last night. The car in which Farrell was riding was driven by Mrs. Farrell. It collided with one driven by R. E. Davis, 30, of 317 East End avenue, with whom Miss Shirley was riding.

After treatment at Homeopathic Hospital Farrell was taken to his home, but Miss Shirley remained. Davis was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Police-Wire Alarm Traps 2 Suspects

HARRISBURG, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The first arrests directly attributable to the new Teletype system of communication between police authorities of 95 cities in the state have been made at Ebensburg by state police, Maj. C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent of the constabulary announced today.

Two Negroes were taken into custody there for short-changing gasoline stations. Their descriptions were sent over the communication system and on that information the pair was picked up.

Evangelist Begins Services in Theater

The Rev. John W. Sproul opened an evangelistic campaign last night in the Alhambra Theater, 6113 Penn avenue, which he has leased until he can build a permanent tabernacle. The theater has not been used for several months, and the Rev. Mr. Sproul announced he would conduct services there while funds are being raised for another "glory barn."

Secretary Wilbur Will Speak Here Jan. 14

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior and chairman of President Hoover's White House conference on child welfare, will speak at Carnegie Music Hall on Tuesday, January 14, at 8:30 p. m., on the general subject of the care and protection of children.

Dr. Wilbur is coming to Pittsburgh at the invitation of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania which is now formulating through its state-wide committees a 10-year program for child welfare in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Franklin C. Irish, 1074 Devon road, a board member of the association, will be hostess to Mrs. Wilbur and to members of the board from other parts of the state at her home, Tuesday noon, January 14.

Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., vice president of the organization, Miss Isabella C. Chalfant, Mrs. Clarence Stanley, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, Horace F. Baker and Irvin F. Lehman, other Pittsburgh board members of the Public Charities Association, are planning several affairs for the entertainment of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur, who will arrive from Washington on the morning of Tuesday, January 14.

The evening meeting at Carnegie Music Hall is open to the public.

Man Shot Following Celebration in Home

Ed Harvey, 42, a Negro, of 1241 Fourth avenue, New Kensington, was in a critical condition in Citizens General Hospital, a victim of a shooting which climaxed a New Year's eve party in his home, according to police.

Earl Johnson, 37, a Negro, of New Kensington, surrendered to New Kensington police after the shooting, they said.

BOARD ELECTS AT WEST VIEW

C. V. Shoup was chosen president and Howard H. Wilt, secretary of the West View Board of Trade, for the sixth successive year at the annual election of officers of the organization this week.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, George Schuler; second vice president, V. H. Walter; treasurer, Harry J. Wagner, Jr.; directors for three years, Edward C. Werner, Henry Kind, Harry J. Wagner, Jr., George Schuler and G. L. Goldbach.

C. A. McClain reported that 50 new members had been added to the roll, giving the board in excess of 200 active members. The drive for new members will be continued until the February meeting.

The board indorsed the Osterling site on the North Side as its second choice for a Town Hall, the first choice being Monument Hill, and approved the proposed Federal highway from Washington to Gettysburg as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln.

Kinloch Man Shot By Chicken Thief

Shot by a chicken thief whom he surprised looting a coop in the rear of his home, Mike Chines, 35, of Kinloch, Westmoreland county, is in a serious condition in the Citizens General Hospital at New Kensington. The shooting occurred early Wednesday.

Chines had missed several chickens from his coop during the last few days and early yesterday heard a noise in the back yard. As he advanced toward the coop he was shot in the shoulder by the thief who fled.

ZEP FUEL GAS IS PRODUCT OF CITY

Chemical Research Last Year Results in Benefit To Commercial Field

Pittsburgh played an important part in the advancement of science in 1929. Reviewing the year's achievements in chemical research, Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, called attention to a number of accomplishments for which the institute is entitled to credit.

GRAF MADE POSSIBLE

He mentioned as among the outstanding results of chemical research in the 12 months just ended, the Graf Zeppelin's flight around the world, which was made possible by use of the fuel gases pyrofax and ethane, evolved at Mellon Institute; the growth of the rayon business; the commercial manufacture of non-shatterable glass; the introduction of new solvents in the lacquer industry; new alloys in metal airplane construction; hydrogenation of coal, and the progress made in combatting air pollution.

Dr. Weidlein said:

"Research on fuels has made important advances in two fields. The hydrogenation of coal, covered by the Bergius patents in Germany, is in commercial operation. Arrangements have been made for the use of this method in America. The low-temperature carbonization of coal is of great importance in England, but thus far little attention has been paid to this subject in our country. From many laboratories investigations have been reported on various phases of petroleum production and refining. While no one contribution is outstanding, much basic work has been done that is necessary for further advance in this industry.

"More and more attention has been directed to the conservation of fuel. The hygienic aspects of air pollution by incomplete, and therefore wasteful combustion, have given added impetus to the nation-wide activities to prevent avoidable smoke. Investigations on the biological effects of natural ultra-violet radiation have shown that its healthful action is minimized by smoke as well as by dust.

FIGHT AIR POLLUTION

"The magic lamp of science, the photoelectric cell, has also been called into service in the fight against air pollution. It is being used in the Holland Tunnel not only to detect smoke and dust in the air, but also as a means of counting traffic. Television, which depends upon the photoelectric cell, is about to move from the laboratory scale to sub-commercial use. These investigations are being carried on by many laboratories.

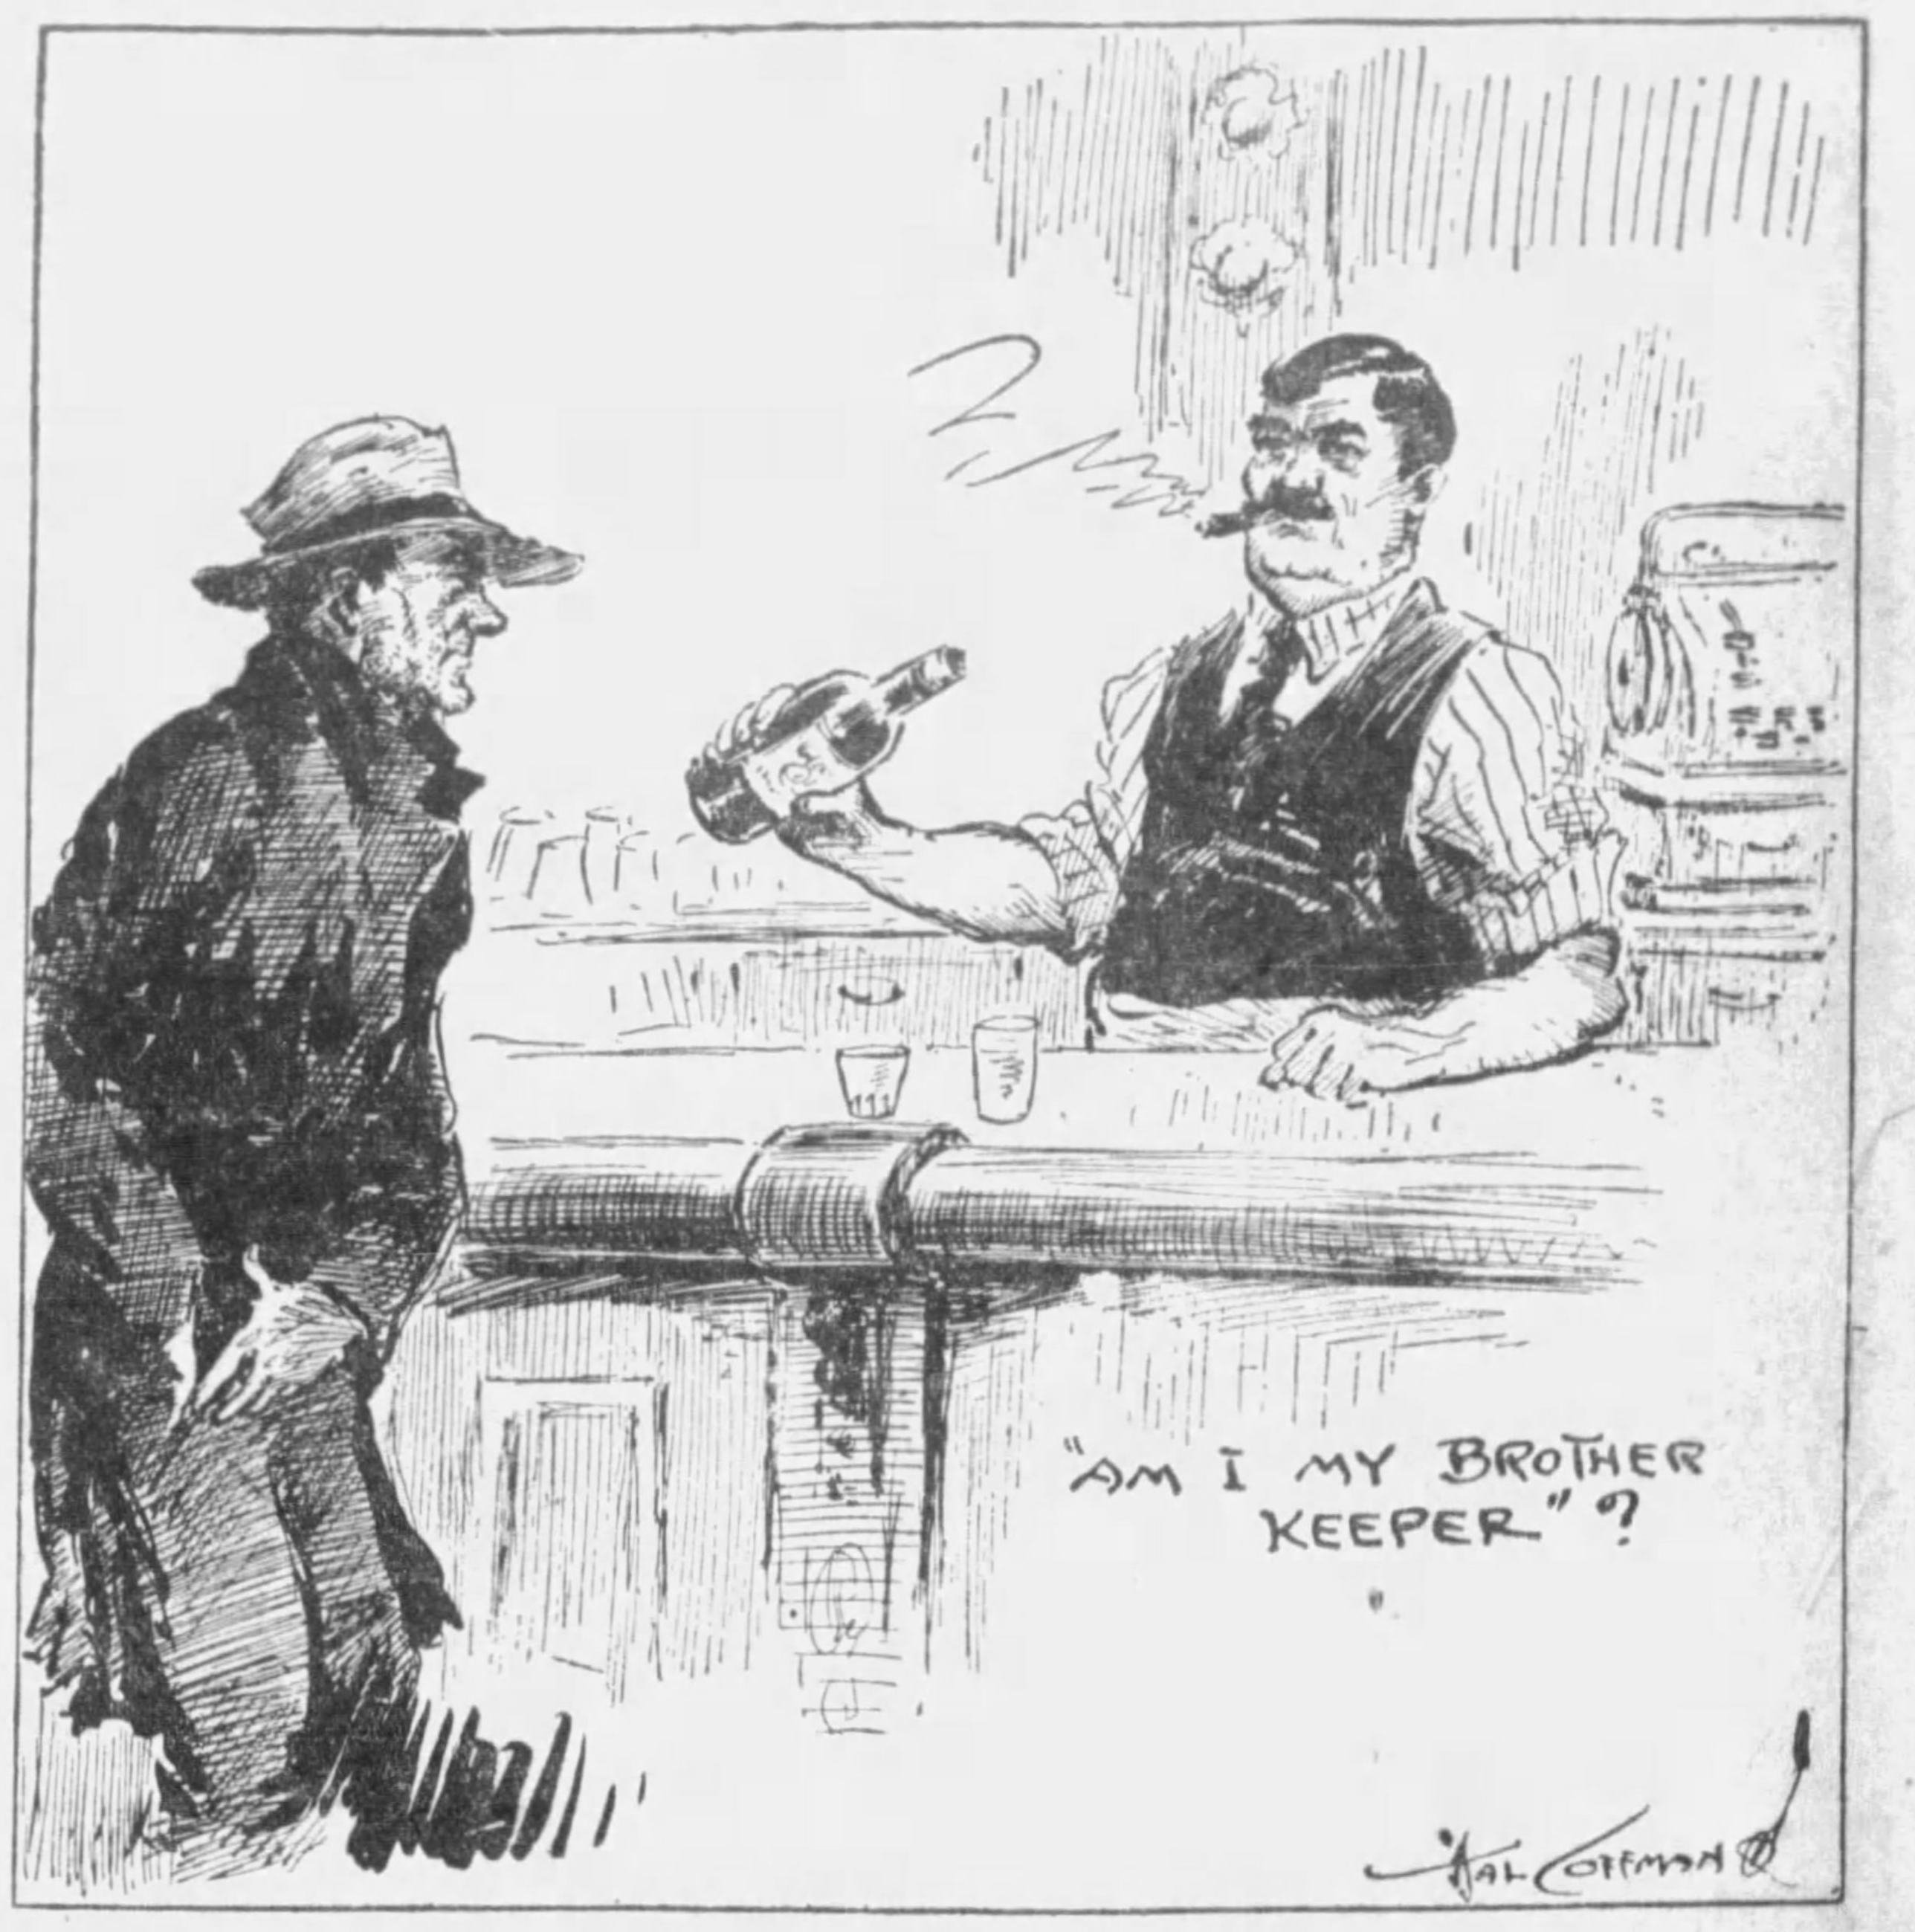
"New developments have taken place in the preservation of food by means of solid carbon dioxide and by means of the new quick-freezing process. Irradiation has been introduced in the manufacture of food products to increase their antirachitic properties.

"Perhaps the greatest development during the year has been the markedly increased recognition by manufacturing executives and the general public of the concrete value of research. This situation is reflected in the establishment of bureaus for co-operative research and in the severe shortage of technical men for research posts."

County Sleuth Shot At Target Practice

County Detective W. O. Alexander was in Valley Hospital, Sewickley, today, a victim of an accidental shooting near his home, it was reported. Alexander, who lives in Coraopolis, was at target practice with several friends near his home yesterday when his revolver was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered his right leg. His condition is not serious.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman



"AM I MY BROTHER KEEPER"?
Hal Coffman

Quoting Scripture to his purpose, Mr. Coffman asks you here if you are your brother's keeper.

The answer is "yes"—you are—we all are—and like the speakeasy bartender in this moral drawing, it does not worry us in the least.

Few of us make our living from our brother's infirmities, that is true. We don't all sell liquor poison to those foolish enough to buy it, as this gentleman is doing. But few of us accept our responsibilities to others, give them a pat on the back and a helping hand when it is most needed.

It's none of our business, we say. The other fellow must look out for himself; we have troubles of our own.

True in a measure. But no matter what our own problems, we all have some friend or acquaintance who is worse off than we.

Give your brother a lift when he needs it, help him over the pitfalls of his own weakness.

It will be good for him; it will be STILL BETTER for YOU.

Paul Meeder, of 1800 Wynhurst street, by two armed men, and forced to enter a car driven by them in front of her home early yesterday, police were informed. The pair drove to Perrot lane, several squares away, where they attempted to attack her, police said.

Four bandits early yesterday entered the Weiss Restaurant, at 6026 Center avenue, held up two waiters and escaped with $150 from the cash register.

Held up by three Negroes at Vine and Reed streets, Louis Goldberg, of 38 Vine street, was robbed of $3.75, Tuesday night.

Pete Buncher, of 1219 Fifth avenue, was robbed of $105 by an armed Negro who entered his store late Tuesday night.

DRIVER HELD UP

Confronted by three bandits as he stepped from his wagon at Bigelow boulevard and Herron avenue, yesterday, H. N. Dorseych, of 239 Ashland avenue, Dormont, driver for the Caplan Baking Company, was relieved of $95.

Two purse snatchers robbed Mrs. Annie Benedict, of 1241 Warner street, of her purse containing $5.07 on the Fulton street bridge yesterday.

Thomas Broades reported to police late last night that two armed Negroes held him up in front of his home at 7547 Finance street and robbed him of $15.

C. H. Updegraff reported to Detective Bureau that his home was entered last night and a ring valued at $150 and $5 in cash stolen. Frank Saltic, of 441 South Main street, reported that clothing valued at $65 was stolen from his home.

Four sample cases containing women's and girls' dresses valued at $1,000 were stolen from the automobile of Jack Goldman, of the Clark Building, while it was parked near the building.

MANY HOMES ROBBED

Burglars visited the homes of Dr. W. H. Gardner, of 3904 Brighton road; William Berroll, of 511 Emlin street; Ray Thomas, of 1726 East Ohio street; John Baumgard, of 58 Lawn street; Karl Smith, of 2357 Bensonian avenue; Mrs. Emma Martin, of 3057 Penn avenue; G. D. Wilbert, of 412 South Winebiddle avenue, and Charles Sturm, of 3543 Shadeland avenue. The loot, valued at $2,700, consisted of clothing, jewelry and cash.

Safe crackers failed in an attempt to open a safe in Donahoe's store, at 3873 Brighton road, which they entered by forcing a rear window. The combination knob of the vault had been knocked off.

Arbuthnot to Tell Of Hunt in Africa

Dr. Thomas S. Arbuthnot, big-game hunter and benefactor of the Carnegie Museum, will recite his experiences on a recent expedition to British East Africa in Carnegie Lecture Hall tonight at 8:15. His lecture to which the public is welcomed, will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Dr. Arbuthnot, former Dean of the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh, has hunted in many lands from the Far North to the tropical regions. Among his trophies are lions, gazelles and numerous other specimens, such as the leopard, cheetah, etc.

Children's Home Given Gambling Cash

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Cash totaling $280.80, taken by county detectives from slot and gambling machines seized in raids, has been turned ober by a court order to the Mt. Odin Children's Home.

Shortly before Christmas nearly $400 was turned over to the Salvation Army, the cash also having been taken from slot machines.

Boer War Cured Smuts of Smoking

OTTAWA, Jan. 2.—Gen. Jan Christian Smuts has refrained from tobacco for 30 years. Offered a cigar at the home of Sir Robert Borden, he said he had not smoked since the British made tobacco so hard to get during the Boer war.

FIRE DAMAGES THREE STORES

A restaurant, barber shop and pool room in a two story frame building at 405 Jerome avenue, McKeesport, were damaged by fire early yesterday. Three fire companies fought the blaze for three hours. Damage was estimated at $7,000.

The blaze was discovered by Policemen Joseph Hopkins and Ray Garrity. The building was owned by Thomas Miller, now serving a jail sentence for violation of the prohibition laws. The barber shop was conducted by Steve Mathowick and the restaurant by R. J. Tomac. Miller operated the pool room, police say.

Windows in the Pennsylvania Deposit Bank building across the street were broken by the heat. The Jerome Hotel, adjoining the burned building, was scorched.

6,348 GREETED BY HOOVERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The great and the lowly extended personal New Year greetings to President and Mrs. Hoover yesterday and when the day was over, the Chief Executive and First Lady had shaken hands with 6,348 people.

From 11 o'clock until nearly 3, with the exception of a short period for lunch, and brief intervals of rest while the long line was halted, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were busy receiving the best wishes of their callers.

First came the diplomatic corps, and the Cabinet, then the members of the Supreme Court, followed by officials of the judiciary branch of the government, and ranking officers of the Army and Navy. Meanwhile, a line of more humble citizens, two blocks long was forming for the reception to the public in the afternoon. This began at 1 o'clock and continued for nearly two hours. Occasionally the line was stopped and Mr. and Mrs. Hoover sat down for a moment's rest. For the first time in many years, Chief Justice Taft was not present. Because of his brother's death in Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Taft had left the capital for the Ohio city.

Only once since 1904 has the number attending the New Year's Day reception exceeded that of yesterday. That was in 1921.

The Marine Band, divided into relays, played continuously throughout the reception and at its conclusion, Mrs. Hoover thanked the musicians personally and wished them a Happy New Year.

ORGANIZE CLUB FOR STUDY OF ASTRONOMY

Amateurs Manufacture Own Telescopes to Scan Many Celestial Wonders

The spiral nebula in Andromeda, another universe, so distant that its light takes a million years to reach the earth; the globular star cluster in Hercules; Saturn's rings; Jupiter's four moons; the snow-capped poles of Mars—these and innumerable other celestial wonders have become familiar to a group of amateur astronomers in Pittsburgh and the vicinity through telescopes they have made themselves.

Two years ago C. B. Roe, of 416 Delp street, Avalon, wrote to the editor of a scientific publication for directions to make a telescope. The editor gave him the names of 35 other persons in Pittsburgh or nearby who had also asked for instructions.

FORM ORGANIZATION

Mr. Roe got in touch with them, with the result that an organization called the Amateur Astronomers of Pittsburgh was formed, with Mr. Roe as president and Leo J. Scanlon, 1405 East street, North Side, as secretary.

They meet now the second Sunday of each month at 2:30 p. m. at Calvary Community House, Beach and Allegheny avenues, North Side, to discuss astronomy. At present they are engaged in reading a text-book on the subject, a chapter at a time.

The members are drawn from a territory extending from Turtle Creek to Beaver Falls, and include people from all walks of life. There is one woman, Mrs. R. R. B. Wood, of 101 Parkfield avenue, Mt. Oliver.

MAKE OWN TELESCOPES

The six-inch reflector is the most popular type of telescope made by the amateur astronomers. Among those who have made instruments of this type are Mr. Scanlon, Arthur Paulson, of 229 Myers avenue, Carrick; Harry Gilchrist, of 5758 Baum boulevard; Arthur Mayer, of Beaver Falls; D. C. Baird, of 311 Peebles street, Sewickley; Frank L. Miller, of 210 Catalpa avenue, and John G. Seiple, of 909 Progress street, North Side.

Mr. Seiple followed the making of his six-inch instrument by making a 10-inch one, which he donated to the organization and it is now mounted at the observatory at 106 Van Buren street, North Side. His ambition not yet satisfied, Mr. Seiple next made a 12-inch reflector. It is the largest that has been made by any of the members. It is mounted on pipe fittings and can be swung to any part of the heavens. It has been set in a concrete base and stands on a site near the Thompson Run road. This instrument has a focal length of nine feet four inches.

USE ODDS AND ENDS

The amateur telescope makers use Ford parts, pipe fittings and various odds and ends of junk in the construction of their instruments. The prism and the eyepiece are the only parts that they regard it as necessary to buy.

In making the reflecting mirror they take a piece of plate glass and grind it into a spherical curve, adjusted to the desired focal length, by using successively fine and finer grades of carborundum. It is then polished with optical rouge.

"We feel," said Mr. Scanlon, "that our results could be duplicated by any high school boy—yes, or girl—provided they were given the simple directions necessary, and had a moderate store of intelligence and patience.

"Results? Beyond our imaginations. The poorest of our instruments bring the moon within a thousand miles of the earth, apparently, and the moons of Saturn and Jupiter are 'pie' for us. With the six-inch reflector Jupiter looks as big as an orange held at arm's length. And you should see the nebula in Orion!"

TEN IN THEFT GANG ESCAPE

Police today were seeking 10 boys, alleged members of a purse-snatching gang, who escaped from the detention rooms of the Juvenile Court yesterday.

The gang was rounded up by police within the last 10 days and confessed, according to police, to stealing the purses of six women and to the theft of 15 automobiles. The automobiles were used in the robberies and then abandoned, police said.

The last member of the gang, caught yesterday, with his companions was taken to the detention rooms. An hour later all escaped, police reported.

RELIANCE LIFE SETS RECORD

The Reliance Life Insurance Company of Pittsburgh had a record-breaking year in 1929, according to figures announced at an employes' dinner Tuesday night in the William Penn Hotel. The greatest day, the greatest month and the greatest year occurred in 1929, it was announced. December 30 was the best day, and December the biggest month.

It was announced that in the interest of a national newspaper advertising and sales campaign, R. C. Braun, advertising manager, and Robert E. Wood, publicity director of the company, left yesterday on a tour of the West and South. They will address agency meetings in branch offices in a score of cities.

Cresson Division In Central Region

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad today announced that the Cresson division has been added to the Central region jurisdiction, of which Pittsburgh is headquarters. This change became effective with the new year. The division formerly was attached to the Eastern region, with headquarters in Philadelphia. There are 750 employes in the division, which serves mines and factories in the territory northwest of Altoona.

SEEK 3 YOUTHS FOR HOLDUP

A search was being made by county detectives today for the three youthful holdup men who robbed William Lynn, 19, of Dravosburg, and left him stranded on the Lebanon Church road, near the county airport Tuesday night. The robbery occurred while many motorists passed.

Lynn was forced to stop his machine when three young men in a battered roadster blocked his path. The trio, masked and armed with revolvers, ordered Lynn from his car. After taking $15 from his pocket they drove off in his machine. Lynn attempted to follow in the abandoned roadster, but discovered that parts of the mechanism had been removed.

The three youths were aged about 19 or 20 years old, Lynn said. The machine taken from him was owned by his mother. The roadster left by the trio had been stolen, police say.

FIREMEN WILL HOLD PARTY

The thirty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Columbia Hook and Ladder Company, of Bellevue, will be observed with a party for families of the members in the Borough Hall tonight. The volunteer firemen arranged the entertainment to take the place of the usual annual banquet.

Music will be provided by the Bellevue High School orchestra. J. O. Bower will be master of ceremonies. James Greenough, Sr., fire chief, will direct the children's program, which will include songs and recitations. G. J. Schaffner is general chairman.

Bridgeville Police Chief Quits Job

After serving four years as chief of the Bridgeville police department, Chief Anthony (Rosie) Brozek resigned. The resignation became effective yesterday. Dissension in the borough administration is blamed for the chief's resignation.

RETREAT GROUP TO LEAVE

Two special cars will take leading Catholics of Western Pennsylvania to Detroit tonight, where they will participate in the national conference of the Retreat League of the United States and Canada. The conference will begin tomorrow and end Sunday.

Leading the delegation will be Archabbot Aurelius Stehle, O. S. B., president of St. Vincent's College. The party will leave at 11:17 p. m.

SCIENTISTS MAY TURN TO SLANG

Scientific articles may be written in slang before long, with a view to reaching a wider section of the public, Drs. William A. Hamor and Lawrence W. Bass, of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, believe. The proposal has been seriously made—and they are not shocked by it—that such articles, now usually dull and incomprehensible to the layman, be couched in the vernacular of the street for the purpose of attracting the general reader.

Drs. Hamor and Bass are of the opinion, however, that "the difficulty of imparting popular scientific knowledge lies in the obscure and monotonous literary style of the scientist and not in a demand for slangy literature." They warn that "science, a dignified branch of learning, must not be treated with a levity that would invite disrespect."

STREET, BRIDGE ITEMS MOST EXPENSIVE

Water Bureau Contracts Require Nearly Million to Give Adequate Service

City improvements approximating $6,500,000 were completed during 1930, according to a compilation prepared by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang.

The Bureau of Engineering supervised 228 contracts totaling $4,787,000, distributed as follows: Grading, paving and curbing, $2,579,500; repaving, including $200,000 for the street railway area, $895,500; sewers, $1,112,000.

The water bureau completed projects totaling $854,760, of which the major items were: Equipment for Ross pumping station, $194,760; water softening plant at Brilliant pumping station, $41,385; electric equipment at Howard pumping station, $3,490; watch houses at four reservoirs, $15,400; completion of work at Brashear and McNaugher reservoirs, at Spring Hill tanks and North Side rising mains, $98,005; replacements at Bedford, Herron Hill and Highland No. 1 reservoirs, $24,545; installations of six-inch mains, $69,980; pipeline work incidental to street improvements, $176,270; street improvement mains, including a 36-inch line crossing the Monongahela River below Dam No. 1, $138,250; alterations of mains in raising North Side streets above flood level, $35,705; Pitometer survey to locate leaks, $38,230.

BRIDGES BUILT

Work completed for the bureau of bridges and structures totaled $808,772, the principal items of which were: Aiken Avenue Bridge, $111,300; East Street Bridge, $483,684; Twenty-second Street Bridge repairs, $21,609; gunite repairs on nine bridges, $32,000; Smithfield Street Bridge repairs, $12,810; Forbes Street Bridge over Fern Hollow, $3,981; Bigelow boulevard wall, $6,497; West Carson street widening, $85,000.

Highland Park, $55,391, more than half of which was applied toward improving the Negley avenue entrance and most of the balance on the zoo.

Frick Park, $38,832, including about $14,000 for utility buildings and $10,000 for the playground on Braddock avenue.

West Park, North Eide, $13,570, of which about $12,000 was used for asphalt walks.

Miscellaneous small parks, $2,565 repairing fountains and walks.

The department constructed swimming pools costing a total of $112,000 in East Park, North Side; West Park playground, North Side; and in Magee playground.

It also completed a comfort station costing $10,000 on South Twenty-second street near Carson street.

Etna Man Resents Insult; Is Slashed

Attacked while escorting women relatives in Harmarville, Mike Unglo, 23, of 12 Bridge street, Etna, suffered cuts on the face last night, according to Oakmont police. Unglo resented an insult made by a stranger, who slashed him with a razor. Unglo's wounds were dressed by Dr. J. C. Edgar, of Oakmont. The assailant escaped. County detectives were notified.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Lillian Rose Will Marry Tomorrow

WELL, another year's gone, and what a gay time it gave us in its last days. And now we are ready for the new year, and are anticipating spring. Of course between the poetical season and now there'll be an interesting interlude of southern resort life. Throughout this month we'll be hearing about folks setting forth for Palm Beach and Miami and the Mediterranean.

But before these departures there are weddings in the realm of society.

TOMORROW afternoon members of the social world will be in Sewickley to attend the wedding of Lillian Henry Rose, daughter of the George Phelps Roses, of Sewickley, and John M. Kimball, of Portland, Me., which will take place at 5:30 o'clock in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Lillian will have her sister, Mrs. Richard T. Freck, as her matron of honor, and the best man will be Corliss Lamont, of New York. The bridegroom-to-be arrived yesterday.

At the wedding supper in the home to follow the ceremony only the immediate families and out-of-town guests will be present, I understand.

Those who'll be here for the wedding include Dr. Richard Small, of Portland, Me.; John C. Small, Jr., of Boston; Mrs. Frederick H. Kimball, of Bath, Me.; Charles Morrill and Brooks Whitehouse, of Portland, Me., and the Joseph G. Butlers, of Youngstown, O.

Last night the Ledlie Watt Youngs and the Alexander Laughlin Robinsons gave a dinner dance in the Allegheny Country Club for Lillian, and tonight Mary Rhodes will entertain with a dinner in her home for her and her fiance.

YESTERDAY Virginia Clement Whitney, of New York, and Clark Miller, of Pittsburgh, were married in the Italian Gardens of the Ambassador Hotel, New York. And the Millers have now left for a trip to the West Indies, and upon their return will be at home in The Park Mansions.

Mrs. Miller is a graduate of the Brooklyn Heights Seminary, and is an active member of the Riding Club. She's been a prominent exhibitor at many horse shows. You might be interested in learning that she is a direct descendant of Michall Hillegas, the first treasurer of the United States.

Mr. Miller is the son of the late Judge and Mrs. Jacob Jay Miller, and a grandson of Justice Silas Moorhead Clark, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of Princeton, class of 1918, and of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, class of 1921, and is a member of the Pittsburgh Golf, Fox Chapel, Duquesne and Princeton clubs.

ON New Year's night 150 members of the school set attended the dance the David Paterson Bennetts gave in their home in honor of their son, George Bollinger Bennett. The stately home was decorated simply with smilax and ferns and spring flowers adding vivid coloring to the scene.

ON New Year's Eve, another brilliant affair was held, a ball in the Pittsburgh Club, to bid farewell to an eventful social season. There were over 500 guests, and never among the smart set have I seen such lovely gowns in so many fashionable modes.

The ballroom was decorated in green and silver foliage. And large potted poinsettias centering the tables, placed in the dining rooms and squash courts, added an individual touch of color.

I noticed that those receiving were J. Frederic Byers, president of the club, and Mrs. Byers, the Thomas Atterbury McGinleys, the Allen Gordons, the Donald Thompsons and Richard King Mellon. They all happen to be officers and members of the board.

Mrs. Byers wore lavender chiffon, Mrs. McGinley gold moire, and Mrs. Gordon black moire. Mrs. Thompson, I noticed, wore shell pink satin. They all carried colonial bouquets.

And of course a number of dinners preceded the ball. The first I want to mention was that given by the junior G. Faber Downeys, of Woodland road, Sewickley, in honor of Mrs. Downey's mother, Mrs. Edward Van Ingen, of New York, who with her son, E. H. Van Ingen, were guests of the Downeys for the Christmas season. After the dinner the guests went to the ball.

Among them were the junior Harry Darlingtons, the R. Lucien Pattons, the Donald C. Bakewells, the John Ormsby Burgwins, Capt. and Mrs. Cyrus R. Miller, the Frank Faber Brooks, the junior Henry Clay Bughmans, the Christian Ihmsen Shannons, Mrs. William Penn Snyder, the Ledlie Watt Youngs, the J. Bernd Roses, the T. M. Joneses III, Charles Oliver, Mrs. Percy E. Donner, Lillian Henry Rose, Mrs. Clinton Lowrie Childs, the J. Frederic Byerses, the McCleane Browns and George Nicola.

ANOTHER New Year's Eve affair was a dinner the Frank Scott Willocks, of Sewickley, gave in the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of Anne Douglas Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Douglas Stewart, of Solway street; Mary Franklin Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons, of Sewickley Heights, and Marguerite Singer Milligan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, of Edgeworth and Irwin avenue, all buds of this season.

FROM Chicora, Pa., comes news of the engagement of Helen Hoch, daughter of the Martin G. Hochs, of Chicora, to William Schroeder, son of the George Schroeders, of "Oak Hill Manor," Wildwood. Announcement of the bethrothal was made at a luncheon on the last day of the old year, held in the home of the bride-elect.

DID you hear about the indoor horse show held New Year's day at Fox Chapel Farms, the Edgar J. Kaufmann estate?

Of course the Charles L. Flaccusses were there, and their daughter Jane, and Mrs. Simon T. Patterson and her two young daughters, Isabel and Nancy, both of whom won ribbons.

And the John W. Lawrences, and Mrs. A. Rex Flinn, and the C. F. Colberts were noted, too. Of course Mrs. Edgar J. Kaufmann was seen at the show, and Mrs. Harold E. McCamey.

Others present were the Le Moyne Pages, George Paull, George H. Cherrington, Charles Todd, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Stieren and their daughter Josephine, and David I. McCahill.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY V. CONLEY, of Beeler street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Maxine Evelyn Conley, to Walter G. Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mann, of Howe street, which took place on Tuesday, September 24.

LAST evening a dance was given in the Rittenhouse for the younger college set by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Whitehead, of Farragut avenue, East End, in honor of their son, Ralph Carroll Whitehead, who is attending Swarthmore College. The host and hostess were assisted by Dr. and Mrs. Franklin B. Roberts and Judge Richard W. Martin and Mrs. Martin.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made Friday of the marriage of Miss Pauline Milliken and Leo Ailes, both of Waynesburg. The wedding took place at Morgantown on Christmas Day. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Milliken and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ailes, also of Waynesburg, formerly of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Ailes is a graduate of Waynesburg College.

MISS ANNE FISE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paull Fise, of Edgewood, will entertain at a bridge luncheon today in the University Club.

Her two sisters, Miss Mary Elizabeth Fise and Miss Margaretta Fise, will return to Connecticut College for Women, New London, Conn., Sunday night.

THE undergraduate chapter of Sigma Alpha Alpha, honorary fraternity of Seton Hill College, Greensburg, will hold a benefit bridge Saturday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, Fifth and Bellefield avenues. Miss Mary Clancy is president and Miss Katherine Boissou is chairman.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the engagement of Miss Lena Dixon Walker, of Canton, O., to Carl Dietz, of Jamestown, N. Y., a student at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. The marriage will take place Saturday.

20th Century Club Alters Program

THE January calendar presents an unusually interesting outlook for Twentieth Century Club members, although one or two changes have been made in it since its publication. On Monday morning Dr. John Cowper Powys will give his lecture on "Doistoiesvky." The first change in the engagements is for Thursday, when Sylvia Lent, violinist, will appear in a joint recital with Julius Huehn, baritone, with Earl Mitchell accompanying.

Miss Lent is a young musician from Washington, a pupil of Leopold Auer; in fact, the first American pupil he accepted after coming to this country. Miss Lent received all her training in America, but made her debut six years ago in Berlin. A year later she made her New York debut, and, despite her youth, has already won an enviable position in the concert field. Mr. Huehn is the Western Pennsylvania Atwater Kent audition winner for 1928 and 1929.

Monday, January 13, will bring Dr. Wilfred Osgood and his lecture on "Mysterious Abyssinia and the Source of the Blue Nile." Thursday, the sixteenth, will find the drama and current interests committees combining in giving a luncheon, at which Carroll Fitzhugh will read one of his own plays. Vachel Lindsay will come to the club on the twentieth to read some Lindsay poetry in that individualistic way of his, and on the twentieth Dr. William Hung, of the Harvard-Yenching Institute, will tell of "The Meaning of Nationalism in China Today." The music and arts committee has made another change in the January 30 program, and will present Katherine Gorin, pianist, in recital.

INVITATIONS for a tea to be held January 15 from 3 until 6 o'clock in Woodland Hall have been issued by President Cora Helen Coolidge, of Pennsylvania College for Women, and the faculty of the English department, in honor of Frances Lester Werner (Mrs. Mayo D. Hersey), assayist of note, and former Pittsburgher.

Mrs. Hersey will be at the college from January 14 until January 16, and on the first day of her visit she will talk to the student body on "A Work Bench and Tool-Kit for Writing." The two days following will be devoted to discussion groups and individual conferences.

Mrs. Hersey was assistant professor of English composition in Mount Holyoke College from 1917 until 1920, and assistant professor in the same subject at Wellesley from 1920 to 1921. From that time until her marriage in 1922 she was personal assistant to the editor of the Atlantic Monthly.

Some of her books are "To the People We Like," "Endicott and I," "Life's Minor Collisions," "Groups and Couples," "Steel and Holly," "Twenty Miles Out," "Surprising the Family," "The Unintentional Charm of Men" and "Pilgrim Trails."

THE Tuesday Musical Choral will resume rehearsals tomorrow morning in Carengie rehearsal hall. The choral is studying some especially interesting numbers for the annual spring concert, among them a 1929 composition of Harvey Gaul, inscribed to Dr. Boyd and the choral, in the form of a cantata called "A Thracian Holiday," with the text written by Claire Richardson, and based on Greek anthology. Another interesting number is "A Mother Goose Cycle" by Louis Edgar Johns. Tomorrow evening the club will present Jose Mojica, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, in a costume recital in Carnegie Music Hall.

ON ACCOUNT of the remodeling that is being done on the clubhouse, the Mothers' Club of Carrick will meet next Wednesday in the Bethel Baptist Church, Brownsville road. The program will be given by high school students. Mrs. Jacob M. Fuchs and Mrs. Albert Tillett are chairman and vice chairman for the day.

* * *

MRS. W. BRUCE PARK will entertain the Avalon Woman's Club Monday afternoon at her home in Park avenue. The program, which is in charge of the Chautauqua Reading Circle, will consist of a book review by Mrs. C. N. Rodgers and music by the high school orchestra. Mrs. Harriett McKitrick, Mrs. P. A. Kinley, Mrs. E. Logan and Mrs. B. D. Scott will assist the hostess. The club's evening literary group will meet with Mrs. Etta McCready, Harrison avenue, on Monday evening.

"THE GIFT OF THE NILE" is the topic for Monday's meeting of the West View Forum. At roll call "interesting facts about Egypt" will be stated and, under Mrs. H. R. Richardson's leadership, papers will be given as follows: "Early Manners and Customs," Mrs. George Schuler; "The Pyramids, Sphinx and Catacombs," Mrs. George B. Bleming; "Mummies and Burials," Mrs. Edwin Helt; "Egyptian Progress," Mrs. E. A. Zartman. Mrs. Walter Dyck and Mrs. V. H. Walter will be hostesses.

* * *

DR. ROSWELL JOHNSON will address the Oakland Women's Club tomorrow afternoon in the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Thomas Carroll will sing. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Norval R. Daughtery, the meeting will be presided over by Mrs. J. W. Frey.

* * *

MRS. LOTTA E. MARCUS will accompany Miss Grace Wise when she sings before the New Era Club at the regular meeting Wednesday of next week. Raymond Marlier, a former president of the Pittsburgh Aero Club, will be the speaker. The meeting, of course, will be in the Congress of Clubs.

MOLYNEUX DESIGNS THE NEW EVENING ENSEMBLE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The knees marks the spot where the coat hem lies, in the latest evening wraps. The long, long trail is supplied by the draperies of the accompanying frock and it has been found that the line of the short knee-length coat ideally complements the prevailing silhouette, and is well suited to the svelte figure. Many of the newest evening frocks are showing capes, some of them quite shallow, others of the deep, hanging variety, conforming to the irregular hemline of the dress. Just now, there seems to be quite a number of georgette frocks, for this beautiful material is an ideal compromise between the heavy rich fabrics and those that are very sheer or of open mesh.

Many ensembles of georgette in white and pastel shades have been ordered for wear at the various winter resorts on the French and the Italian Riviera, where a splendid season is anticipated. The clothes worn at these resorts give a fairly reliable indication of the trend of the early spring mode.

SOME delightful clothes were shown in the mid-season collection of Captain Molyneux, clothes that embodied all the salient points of the mode, and yet managed to express a distinguished originality. By which we infer, that originality was not expressed by extremes or the blatantly bizarre. To illustrate the charm of Molyneux's creations, we have had sketched for you the ensemble and dress of one of his smartest models. The ensemble is of pale pastel blue georgette. The dress is distinguished by a diagonal, circular hanging cape in black, and by uneven length godets that create an irregular hemline. The dress is entirely without trimming.

THE silhouette can be better judged by the picture of the complete ensemble. The coat is knee-length, and is of the same material and color as the frock. The upstanding collar is of pale gray fox, which lends additional softness and charm to a delightful ensemble.

THE man who scorns good grooming makes a big mistake. Torn fingernails, cracked and grimy hands, a careless shave or an unclean skin, spoil a man's chances for success.

A clean healthy appearance is worth everything. And you need only one simple, old fashioned familiar preparation to have them all. "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. You'll probably find it right in your bathroon. If not, get a tube or jar from the nearest store.

To keep the hands in good condition, scrub with a stiff brush and soapy water. Then apply "Vaseline" Jelly liberally and massage your hands (exactly as if you were washing them). Work the Jelly into the base of the nails. Then wipe off and wash quickly. Your hands will emerge looking clean and fresh, like the hands of an executive, not a day laborer.

In the morning apply a film of "Vaseline" Jelly to the face before lathering. It not only gives you a clean, close, comfortable shave, but it cleanses the skin. Improves its texture. Try these two simple things.

SHOE COMPANY SETS RECORD

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The International Shoe Company, with net earnings of $17,031,434.58 in its fiscal year 1929, had the most successful year in its history and the start of 1930 finds the company in a stronger position than ever before, says the annual report to stockholders.

Effective yesterday, the company announced an increase in the dividend rate of from $2.50 to $3 per share.

From 44 factories in 39 states, the International produced 54,730,685 pairs of shoes in 1929, a gain of 6,000,000 pairs over the previous year and, the report adds, was the largest shoe output ever to come from a single organization.

Net sales in 1929 were $132,110,129.80, a gain of $9,415,597.79 over 1928. Net income, after providing for preferred dividends, showed earnings of $4.37 a share on the common stock, compared with $4.03 a year ago.

Fund to Preserve Pioneer Mill Fails

PERRYOPOLIS, Pa., Jan. 2.—Howard Adams, treasurer of the fund sought for preservation of the grist mill erected here by George Washington, was preparing today to return checks to contributors.

A total of $10,000 was needed, but in the past six months only $1,205 was contributed.

Greene County Clan Changes Its Name

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Members of the Orndoff family, residing in Greene County, today changed the spelling of the name to Arndorff. Orndoff is the Slavic spelling. The group is one of the largest in Greene County and is descended from three pioneer German settlers in this section.

Damages Asked for Injuries at Play

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Alex McCann, of Vestaburg, has sued Michael Josephitis, also of Vestaburg, for $1,000 for hurts suffered in a prank. Josephitis, it is claimed, was so severely hurt he was under the care of a physician and unable to work for 14 days.

Girl Dies of Hurts As Car, Trolley Crash

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Marie Schnur, 19, died yesterday from injuries received when the automobile in which she was riding with four members of her family collided with a trolley car. Her mother suffered with three fractured ribs.

Woman Resigns As Head of Home

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 2.—After 18 years, Mrs. John Rees has resigned as superintendent of the Mahoning County detention home, because of ill health. About two years ago she succeeded her husband as head of the institution.

Coughs Go!

About Hollywood Players and Notes of Coming Theater Bills

JOHN DREW'S LAST JOKE WAS PAGING "ELMER GANTRY" IN CROWD OF CLERGY

By GEORGE SEIBEL

SINCE we are having two weeks of Ethel Barrymore, many anecdotes of the Barrymore-Drew family have been furbished up, but one of the latest vintage reveals the jocose habits of Uncle John. The world in front of the curtain knew John Drew as the embodiment of sartorial elegance and distinguished manners. He was really a jolly good fellow, always ready for a lark, and this anecdote shows him at the top of his bent.

George Seibel

It happened in the Middle West on that farewell all-star tour from which he did not return. The play was "Trelawney of the Wells," and Drew was playing Sir William Gower. The company arrived at some town on the same day that a ministerial convention was in progress. The hotel was overrun by gentlemen with white neckties or black, ostentatiously carrying Bibles and hymnals, and calling one another "Brother" in orotund pulpit tones.

John Drew also carried a book under his arm. It was Sinclair Lewis' latest novel, just issued, which he had been reading on the train.

As Drew looked around him at the array of black cloth and white chokers, the clerk told him they were crowded for room.

"Has Elmer Gantry registered here?" asked Drew.

The clerk was going to look it up.

"Suppose you have him paged," suggested Drew.

They paged Elmer Gantry all through the lobby of the hotel—but the story doesn't tell whether he was found.

Started With Gillette

Ethel Barrymore is one of the few famous players who have not had experience with stock companies at the beginning of their careers. The return of Sherlock Holmes William Gillette is booked for a week in Pittsburgh soon—brings to mind that Miss Barrymore started with Gillette in "Secret Service" after a few trial appearances in the company of her grandfather and her uncle. After Gillette she played with Henry Irving in "The Bells."

She has made up for her lack of stock training by assuming a great variety of dissimilar characters. She believes that long runs kill the flexibility and spontaneity of an actor. So she is already planning for her next part, which will be Scarlet Sister Mary in a dramatization of Julia Peterkin's novel.

"Serious, searching dramas have a chance today that was unthought of a decade ago," said Miss Barrymore. "Doors have been opened, shutters have been thrown back, and fresh air has swept through the theater. This is as it should be. People should know the facts of life and face them. There is no greater enemy of man or art than ignorance or prejudice which goes with ignorance."

Brave words and true!

Barrett in Pittsburgh

Speaking of stock company training, it is not generally known that Lawrence Barrett spent two years with stock in Pittsburgh. That was just before his first New York experience in 1856, and he was still very young. He got his education out of Doctor Samuel Johnson's Dictionary, which he studied at odd hours by the light of candle-ends discarded from the dressing-rooms. Among the visiting stars he supported during those juvenile years of apprenticeship was Julia Dean.

Julia Dean is just about forgotten.

Lawrence Barrett is remembered none too well.

But the fame of present-day celebrities is even more evanescent. The other day an experiment was tried. Half a dozen theatergoers, taken at random, were asked about Theda Bara. And not one of them had ever heard of the vamp renowned just three or four years ago.

Washington Sets New Record In Marriages

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Records for marriage licenses were established in Washington County during 1929, with 1,262 as compared to 1,231 in 1928. The year 1923 previously held the record, 1,255 being issued.

During the 44 years and three months since the present marriage law went into effect, 41,698 licenses have been issued.

"Sally" Again

Pittsburgher Hurt In Blast Succumbs

ATHENS, O., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—George Heilaman, 32, of Pittsburgh, Pa., died in a hospital here from the effects of an explosion of an air compressor at Stewart. Herman Dishrann, 26, of Baltimore, O., died a few minutes after the blast. They were employes of a Chicago firm constructing a water tank for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Stewart.

ALVIN STAGE TO PRESENT THURSTON

Thurston, magician, comes to the Alvin for an engagement, commencing next Monday evening, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Among his new exhibits of the illusionist's art this season are "Iasia," "The Million Dollar Mystery" and "The Mystery of the Whippet." In "Iasia" a young woman apparently vanishes in the dome of the theater over the very heads of the audience.

Gus Forbes' scrap book contains many notices describing his appearances in "Paid in Full." He appeared in the role of the retired sea captain in the original company touring the country, and in many revivals of the play with stock companies. And he is to be seen in that role in the Pitt next week when George Sharp produces the play.

'SALLY' HERE TODAY

The all-talking screen version of the famous musical comedy, "Sally," opens today as the attraction in the new Warner Theater, formerly the Grand. The picture has been produced entirely in natural colors, and stars Marilyn Miller.

PUBLIX SHOW COMES

"The Kibitzer," featuring Harry Green, Mary Brian and Neil Hamilton, will open on the talk screen in the Stanley tomorrow. On the stage Dick Powell will present "Mardi Gras," the first Publix unit to come to the Stanley.

Jack Mulhall comes to the Enright tomorrow in his latest all-talkin picture, "In the Next Room." On the stage Jay Mills will present the Enright's "First Gala Anniversary Revue."

NEW LOEW REVUES

Monday the first of the new Loew's stage shows will make its appearance in the Penn, coming direct from the Capitol Theater, New York. It is entitled "Fan Fancies."

Charles Farrell, co-featured with Janet Gaynor in "Sunny Side Up", film musical comedy, which comes to the Aldine Monday, is a well-dressed young man for the first time in his screen career in this production. In the past, Farrell always has played roles of the handsome young he-man of ordinary circumstances, whose idea of sartorial splendor was a flannel shirt open at the neck and a pair of corduroy pants. "Sunny Side Up," however, presents him as a wealthy young bachelor, prominent in Long Island society.

HARRIS PLANS BIRTHDAY BILLS

All over its circuit, the Harris Amusement Company is celebrating the thirty-second anniversary of its founding by the late Senator John P. Harris. Special programs are being presented in the Harris and Palace, in Diamond street; William Penn, North Side; Cameraphone, East Liberty; Etna-Harris, Mt. Oliver-Harris, Harris-South Hills, Dormont; John P. Harris Memorial Theater, Harris-Walnut Street and Harris State, McKeesport; the Harris-State and Regent, Washington; Harris, Donora; Majestic, Johnstown; Harris, Tarentum; Harris, Butler and Harris theaters in other states.

Civic features are being introduced this week in each theater, and public officials and various clubs have had nights set apart for them and theeir friends.

Founders of the Harris circuit were the pioneers in many fields of amusements. It was the late Senator John P. Harris who opened the world's first moving picture theater, the Nickelodeon, in Smithfield street, and it was he also who was the first to introduce popular price vaudeville.

For the month of celebrations, special programs of talking pictures have been arranged for all the houses. In the Harris, Pittsburgh, and the Memorial Theater, McKeesport, extraordinary stage presentations are announced for each week throughout the month.

Spanish Peseta's Drop Causes Worry

MADRID, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Financial quarters are worried over the depreciation in the Spanish peseta, which in January, 1929, was being quoted at 29.77 for the pound sterling, and at the end of December at 36.58.

SANGUINE DAYS OF OLD YEAR IN HOLLYWOOD RECALLED BY FAREWELL GLANCE

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 2.

THE glad New Year is here, but before moving on with it we take one farewell glance at 1929 and offer chirps and chats from its more sanguine days. To wit:

The talkies, prefaced by millions of dollars expenditure, marched into Hollywood and routed the silent fillums to the frenzied chatter of producers, actors, Wall Street, bankers and newspaper scribes.

Lupe Velez

Divorces sprinkled the colony and marriages dashed headlines into obscurity. There were a few births.

Stage emoters stormed into Hollywood and shook the confidence of screen-ites. Screen-ites at length pulled themselves together and put up a valiant fight to hold the spotlight. They succeeded.

Actors Equity, headed by Frank Gilmore and agitated by verbal bomb hurlers, attempted to organize the film players into a union and failed when they were on the threshold of success.

Louis B. Mayer staggered newspaper readers when he boldly came forth and declared President Hoover was very much at home at the White House.

Sophie Fails To See Camel

As long ago as last March, Buddy Rogers began rushing June Collyer. June denied an engagement. This is January 2. They're still right and they're still that-a-way.

Adolphe Menjou

Gloria Swanson's husband, Marquis De La Falais, returned to Paris in the spring or thereabouts and pronto there were rumors of a divorce. Hank is still in Paris. Gloria is here, but there has been no divorce.

Last February, whilst here making a picture, Sophie Tucker trekked to Palm Springs, a desert suburb. Her trip was a failure. Sophie didn't see a camel.

Adolphe Menjou finished his Famous Players contract. It was not renewed. Menjou is now in Paris. He expects to make a talky there.

Theme songs invaded the motion picture and threatened to fill asylums with patients. Theme songs exited on a discord, but musical comedies and revues are still strong.

It was last February that Milton Sills suffered a nervous breakdown that necessitated his stopping work in a picture yclept "Pat and Mike." Milton went East with his wife, Doris Kenyon. They only recently returned. Milton is now in much better health after a tough fight with nerves, and before long may start work again on the First National lot.

GREAT GABBO GABBING IN SHERIDAN

By CLARENCE GRUNDISH

"The Great Gabbo," a song and talk picture, opened an engagement in the Sheridan Square yesterday. Its title character is a conceited ventriloquist who thinks that neither the show nor the world can get along without him. But he lives to learn that he's not such an important fellow after all. The fadeout finds him forlorn and dazed in the streets (shades of Emil Jannings) while the show goes on.

The very Teutonic looking Erich von Stroheim appears as the gabbing Gabbo. Two other characters are prominent. One is his girl, who finally tires of his egotism, and the other is his dummy.

A LIKEABLE DUMMY

Herr von Stroheim, as an actor, shows some of the flashes of genius that marked his directorial efforts on the screen. But they are only flashes. And Betty Compson, in the girl role, manages some moments of real histrionics. Somehow, though, she doesn't arouse much interest. As for the dummy, we like him best of all. Made only of wood he seems—just as the heroine says—to have a soul. Which wins praise for the director, James Cruze, and for Von Stroheim. Often the movies have given us human characters less alive and real than this chiseled and painted lump of wood.

DIRECTOR VS. ACTOR

Much of the action takes place during the performance of a Broadway revue. There are dancing girls, songs and that sort of thing. All of this is entertaining enough. But it slows up and disrupts the story. The music and elaborate ensembles get in the way of the dramatic plot. But these aren't the only things that get in each other's way. There are episodes when Director Cruze seems to have gotten in the way of Actor Von Stroheim. Again, there are times when Actor Von Stroheim seems to have gotten in the way of Director Cruze.

Incidentally, the picture slips in the lesson that one gets out of life what one puts into it. Too bad, James and Erich aren't better teachers!

Hours They Begin

HOURS at which feature photoplays begin in first run houses are in accordance with the following time schedule:

Fox Hunters Net Three Rabbits And Dog

DOVER, O., Jan. 2.—Three rabbits and a shepherd dog were driven to the center of a ring 10 feet in diameter by 500 fox hunters who traversed four townships. One fox sighted broke through the thin lines of the hunters dogs, and guns were barred.

The hunt ended on the farm of Byron Johnson, 77, five miles west of Dover, who died a half-hour after the round-up started, following a long illness. Mrs. Johnson is a sister of Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland surgeon.

Pittsburgh Girl Featured On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

VIRGINIA HARMON, petite blonde soprano, has chosen four beautiful numbers for her appearance with Kemble and Mills over KDKA at 7:15 tonight.

"Spain," exotic and entrancing will be her first contribution, followed by a descriptive novelty, "Pierrot, Pierrette." As a closing group she will do "One Kiss" from "New Moon" and "I'm a Dreamer."

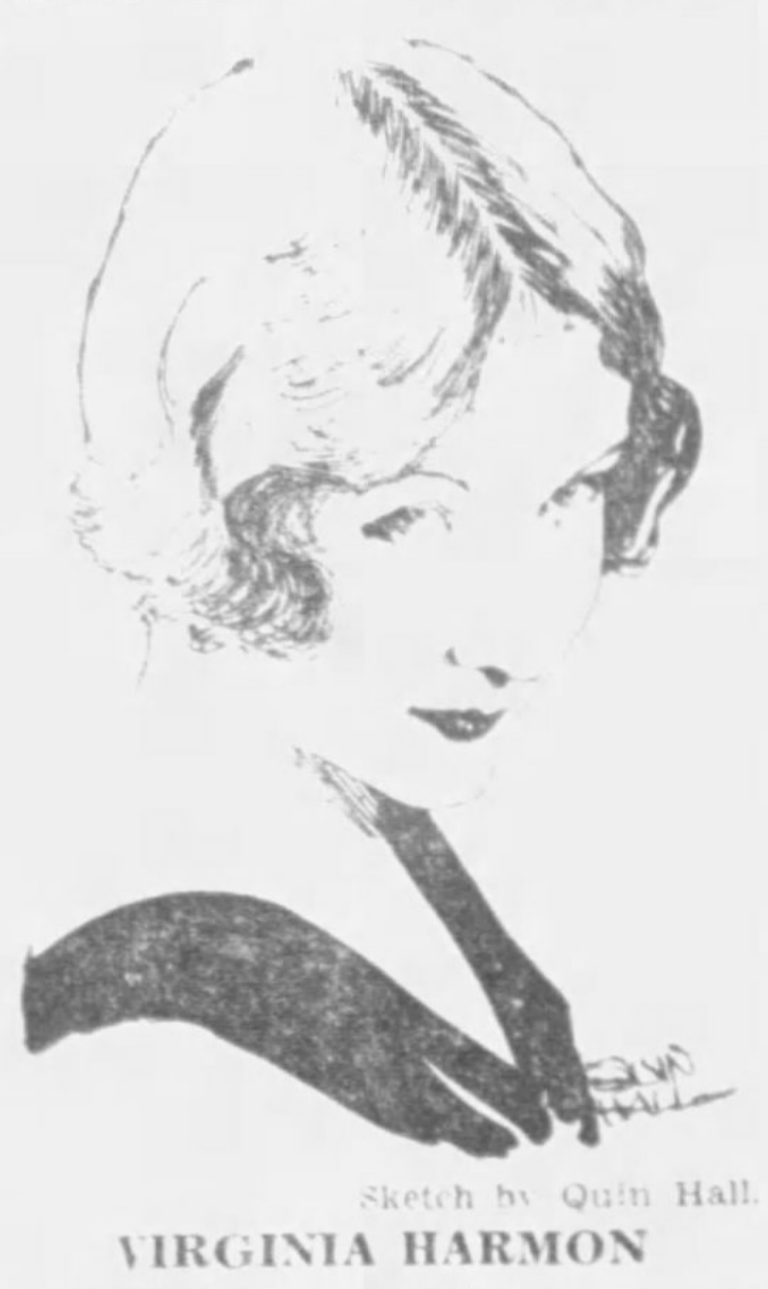
Lawrence Tibbett and Richard Crooks have several solos in the Radio Victor Hour which will be heard over WCAE at 10 p. m.

Phillips Carlin with the Champion Sparkers, KDKA at 8:30, will tell about baseball's famous triple combination—Evers to Tinker to Chance.

"Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and the Flower Song from "Carmen" will be part of the Seiberling Singers' concert, WCAE at 9.

"Cavalleria Rusticana" will be given by the National Grand Opera Company, WCAE at 10 o'clock.

"One Kiss"



Sketch by Quin Hall.

VIRGINIA HARMON

Pittsburgh's popular soprano, Virginia Harmon, will sing "One Kiss" from "New Moon" and three other solos on the Kemble and Mills program over KDKA at 7:15 tonight.

We Now Present

Answer to Mrs. E. N. Lessig, Export, Pa.—Address Amos and Andy letters either to WMAQ, Chicago, or the National Broadcasting Company, 711 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y.

BOW-WOW!

"I have a beautiful collie dog named Rudy Vallee who has puppies which I call the Connecticut Yankees," says a letter received by the NBC.

Our prettiest New Year card was one from "Bill" Farren, the new voice at KDKA. It was a silhouette of Bill at the microphone.

Old Dad Pickard has a rival in Dad Frye, of Youngwood, Pa., who will bring his family of possum hunters to WJAS soon for a Saturday night jamboree. They play all kinds of string instruments, some of them the very latest in pretzel design.

"Little Brown Jug" will be included in their program.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Fred Ripley, chief announcer at WTAM, has the world outsmarted when it comes to originality. Caught in a small town studio some months ago when the lights went out, Fred now carries a pocket flashlight for safety first—also a fountain pen and a pencil.

Man Cut in Fight Over 50 Cents Dies

James Scott, 39, a Negro, of 1218 Wylie avenue, died last night in Passavant Hospital from a stab wound in the heart received during an argument over a 50-cent bet in a Wylie avenue pool room yesterday, police reported.

Police say they were holding John Davis, 27, of 1224 Wylie avenue, in connection with the man's death. Davis was alleged to have fled after the stabbing and was arrested at his home.

ENVOYS PRAISE HINDENBURG

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Germany's official observance of the new year, due to the tradition established under the late President Ebert, centered about the erect figure of her octogenarian president, Marshal Von Hindenburg. The president received the felicitations of the diplomatic corps and numerous officials.

To the most colorful part of the reception, namely to that of the diplomats in their brilliant uniforms, a certain piquancy was lent in that it devolved upon the French ambassador, Pierre De Margerie, to speak on behalf of the corps. Since the elevation of Cardinal Pacelli, the doyen's functions have been exercised by the Soviet ambassador, Nikolai Krestinski, but he is away for a rest and the French ambassador as next in rank voiced the diplomat's sentiments in French. President Von Hindenburg replied in German.

The ambassador emphasized the efforts of all governments to create a material and moral basis for peace and eliminate all possibilities for conflicts.

The president said he believed the German people, upon whom heavy burdens had been placed, could fulfill their tasks in the community of nations only if they possessed political freedom and the possibilities of economic development. Security and peace of the world was conditional upon the political and economic welfare of all states.

Kin of Washington Dies in Gratz At Age of 73

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The death of Baron George Washington, 73, a landed proprietor and said to be a descendant of the same family as the first president of the United States, was reported in advices from Gratz, Czechoslovakia.

It is asserted that the Gratz branch migrated to Steiermark from England at the same time that the Washingtons crossed the Atlantic to the American colonies.

Other branches of the Washington family were said to have settled in Switzerland and Germany.

MAN DIES; WIFE HURT BY AUTO

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Irving O. Kosche, prominent broker, was killed, and his wife, Delia, widely-known socially for her beauty, was critically injured when they were struck by an automobile as they crossed Sheridan road just north of the busy Wilson avenue intersection. Emmerson Otte, 13, son of Mrs. Kosche by a former marriage, was cut and bruised.

Mrs. Kosche is a daughter of Mrs. G. Coax, of Allison Park, Pa.

Kosche was associated with the brokerage firm of J. S. Bache & Co., New York and Chicago.

EXPULSION OF 4 CUBANS STAYED

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—A dispatch from Vera Cruz to El Universal Grafico said that the district court there had temporarily stayed the deportation of four Cubans who are alleged to be anarchists and who were ordered to be deported by the Mexican government. The stay was granted after the Cubans declared that their deportation meant certain death when they arrived in Cuba.

The four men, who are now in jail at Vera Cruz, are Teodosio Mantalvan, Miguel Cotino, Alejandro Barreiro and Sandalio Junco. An Argentine named Echeverri, who had been arrested with the Cubans, has been deported.

Oil Well Struck In East Finley

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company reports striking of a five-barrel well in the fourth sand, on the John Finley farm, in East Finley Township. Another well is down 2,200 feet and will soon be drilled into the pay sand.

Greensburg Adds To Its Territory

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—City Council has passed an ordinance whereby 26.45 acres of land in Hempfield Township, directly north of here, becomes part of Greensburg.

$25,000 HAITI FIRE PROBED

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—An investigation is being made into the causes of a fire of suspected incendiary origin which threatened destruction to the warehouses of five treaty service departments here. The discovery of cans of oil stored under baled sisal led to the investigation.

The fire began in a modern building near the waterfront where reserve supplies of the nacional garde, the sanitary service and the agricultural service were stored. The warehouse af the public works and customs service are nearby. The fire originated in a section occupied by the agricultural service, storm center of the recent student strike.

Two marines who were overcome by smoke were taken to a hospital. The fire, which caused about $25,000 damage was under control after three hours' hard fighting and was confined to the building in which it started.

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted.

They let a cold "run its course."

If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning.

Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause.

Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.

ASSAILS TARIFF AS 'INSOLENT'

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, issued a statement here in which he said the "main lesson from political events in the last years is that the united Democracy is now able to accomplish what would have been considered miraculous of achievement six months ago."

The statement assailed the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill as the "most impotent, insolent and extortionate measure ever presented to the United States Congress" and went on to describe various lobby investigations.

"The net result of all of this," said the statement, "is that the Smoot-Hawley bill is utterly discredited and that either the coalition measure, which attempts to carry out the promise of real tariff benefits for the farmers, will be enacted or there will be no tariff bill at all.

"That latter outcome is the more probable outcome, which means that months and months of the congressional sessions have been utterly wasted because of this effort to jam through a tariff revision that had no reason in economy or justifiable excuse at this time."

Casuscro was helping on a machine when a wire, used to make nails, struck him on the hand. He slipped against the belt of an idling trip hammer machine. The hammer hit him on the head.

SCORE DRY ACT AS FUTILE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The New York American is continuing its series of interviews with prominent educators, on the prohibition situation.

These educators do not look upon the issue from the viewpoint of politicians. They view it all with the coldly analyzing eyes of historians, who know not only the periods of unrest in the past, but also the underlying causes.

Practically all of these educators, it will be noted, say that prohibition cannot be enforced and the American people are seen by several in a state of revolt because of the prohibition situation.

"President Hoover is right in saying that it is the duty of all citizens to obey the law, but long practical experience seems to show that great numbers will refuse obedience when the law itself is out of touch with existing conditions or local sentiment. In our own history more drastic enforcement was tried in connection with Jefferson's long embargo, with the tariff legislation of the thirties and with the Fifteenth amendment. In all three cases the amendatory force acts proved futile. Our experience also seems to show that drastic attempts to enforce such laws tend to turn peaceable resistance into open rebellion."

Miss Pat by Elenore Meherin

Guy Hears of Pat's Radio Message and Plans To Go After Her

CHAPTER XLVII.

TUESDAY night 6 o'clock, starry October night. In the little town of Williams, the sky was blue as sapphires, but already winter and a crystalline chill was in the air.

Blake Winters, affable, easy-going young man, smiled as he settled himself and his radio near the kitchen table, where his nice blonde wife was laying the supper.

He put pad and pencil before him, stuck the radio phones in his ears and blandly ignored her frowns. She had to pass around him each time she went from the stove to the table.

With a severe tightening of her lips—a look that declared: "I'll fix him!" she went to a high chair where a baby was fussing, picked the child up and plopped it in the young man's lap.

He gave one indignant glance, grabbed a crust of bread and stuck it in the infant's wailing mouth. With a triumphant smile he returned to his absorbed listening-in.

All at once he jumped up, almost bouncing the child to the floor. With a stupefying: "I've just made $500" he went swinging to the little hall where the telephone was.

He could scarcely believe his ears. This was the electrifying message they had reported:

"Radio fans, radio operators everywhere, watch for an SOS sent by an amateur and signed 'Patricia Dawn.' Relay any such message immediately to KPRC in San Francisco. Reward of $500 for any clue leading to the present whereabouts of missing Patricia Dawn."

Yesterday afternoon Blake Winters had jotted down such an SOS. He got out his pad. It was there—repeated seven times. Grand Canyon. He wondered about it. He'd fancied some "Nut" was fooling with the air.

But gee, a real SOS, and he caught it! At twenty minutes past six that unforgettable Tuesday night, Blake Winters sent out his inspired message to the waiting station in San Francisco.

The message flew through the city. Like an angel of light; like a song from heaven, it entered the room where Laura Dawn and Dickie waited. One wild, chaotic moment they stared in each others' frightened eyes. Then the boy sobbed and caught his mother to him. Alive and calling—their Pat!

Soon the mad word was in Guy's ears. "Alive!" sang Laura, clinging like a hysterical girl to the phone. "Yesterday at three she was alive."

Not two hours since Barbara Bryce had stood with black, accusing eyes and implored:

"God—tell me—what have they done with him!"

Standing there and thinking he'd hurt her little son.

Not an hour and a half since that beautiful moment when Lee Templeton put out his hands in trust. An hour and a half since Lee Templeton had left with the ringing assurance:

"Send messages everywhere. I'll bring her back to you!"

Now, almost uprooted with the word the air had brought, feeling a living flame in his mind, Guy talked with Harold Hemming.

"You got the bail set?"

"Yes—$25,000 cash or $50,000 bond. I'll have you out tomorrow."

"Tomorrow won't do! God—she was alive yesterday—27 hours ago. Ask me to wait 20 more? Can't you get the bail now? Has Templeton gone?"

"Yes—he left the moment the message came. He had a mail pilot driving him. Not easy to raise $25,000, even with Mrs. Dawn offering $10,000—every remaining cent she has."

"Don't take her money! I'll need that for a plane—for automobiles."

"You're mad. Guy, you're completely mad. All the bail on the earth won't permit you to leave the state."

"What! Do you mean to say I've got to stay here and leave Pat to die? You mean I can't answer that call?"

He gave such a wild, menacing look at this that Hemming was alarmed. He said persuasively:

"That's the law. I might be able to have you released."

"How long would that take?"

"Tomorrow or the next day. Tomorrow, perhaps."

Guy's face was now darkly pallid—thin and aquiline. His eyes had a luminous intensity. He gave a start when his friend put a hand on his knee; when he cautioned:

"Guy—don't be a fool! You're up against it. Don't make the case utterly black. Don't try any rash, insane trick."

"No—I won't.!"

Five minutes later Guy stood at the iron screening. On the other side of this stood Laura Dawn.

Her voice had a sobbing, prayer-like intonation. Ah—yesterday at half-past three Pat was living. She kept her thought focused with fiery appeal on that moment—the last moment when her girl was known to live. Let God keep her for them!

She had her ear to the screening. His lips moved against it with a surcharged precision. And she felt his heart thumping with a kind of mad passionate resolution. She had no wish to halt its reckless pulse. They were bound to each other now with a strange, superhuman exultation. They were apostles whom heaven had chosen to make this race against death.

Guy said: "Go to Bryce. Tell him you want a plane; that you're sending a pilot to the canyon. Don't let him give the Bryce-Swallow to anyone else. It's at Mills Field now, or should be. I've got to have that plane. See that it's filled to the brim. Have the mechanic go over it carefully but quickly. Load the cabin with gas. Have flashlights in the pockets. Tell Bryce to phone these orders out to the field. Save time. Let's see—quarter past seven now.

"Tell Bryce to leave word that you'll arrive with your pilot, and the plane must be tuned up and ready to take off by 9 o'clock. Don't let him balk you. Tell him your pilot is used to night flying—mail-pilot—army-pilot. . . . "

His lips burned into her ears. His words lit fires along every nerve. She kept her eyes on the desk sergeant; she kept a white smile on her mouth. No one heard! No one could guess!

"Then phone my sister that I'm going to get bail tomorrow. Tell her to get out my flying suit, goggles, some food—canned things—my pistol and rifle. Tell her to have these ready in a suitcase—and that you're calling to get them in 20 minutes. Tell her to work fast and say nothing.

"Get back here. Be back here in an hour. It can't be later than 8:15. Be waiting half way down in Clay street with the motor going and the door of the car open. Eight-fifteen—that gives you time."

She turned for one moment to look in Guy's face. But there was a dim shadow about the dark screen behind which he stood. She saw a glow under his eyebrows—that and a grim, fevered intensity at his mouth.

But her face was in the light. Its eyes were beautiful. He could have blessed her because they shone with such youth and such trust; because they looked up and put all that trust in him.

He went to his cell. He sat on the edge of the cot. His thought rode on beams of light—infinitely swift. It passed through obstacles . . . through iron bars. He no longer felt his own weight.

One scene and one figure was in his mind. It was the moment of Sunday night when he lay half-prostrate in the hills, and Tim Chase, the detective, came upon him.

He had turned with a cry of relief—a cry of joy, hearing a human step; seeing a human form.

How eager Chase was to find that ransom, and how certain that Guy knew where the ransom was!

Tim Chase had Jim—Tim Chase liked the noble brown setter. Guy looked at his watch. Every five or ten minutes he glanced at it.

At ten minutes past eight, he asked if he might speak to the captain.

"Is Tim Chase downstairs? Will you phone and tell him I'd like to see him?"

Yes—Tim Chase was there—he'd come right up.

Guy had never felt so alert in all his life. He had never felt so taut . . . like a motor all tuned—all set—unconscious of the perfection with which it functions.

Tim Chase regarded him avidly:

"Got something to tell me?"

"Yes—quite a bit."

Less than a moment later Tim Chase led Guy to the elevator traveling from the jail in the Hall of Justice to the corridor on the first floor.

In Guy's mind was an exact diagram of the corridors—the short turns leading from this elevator to room 105—captain of detective's room.

To this room Tim Chase would take him.

Just as they came to that turn—just there

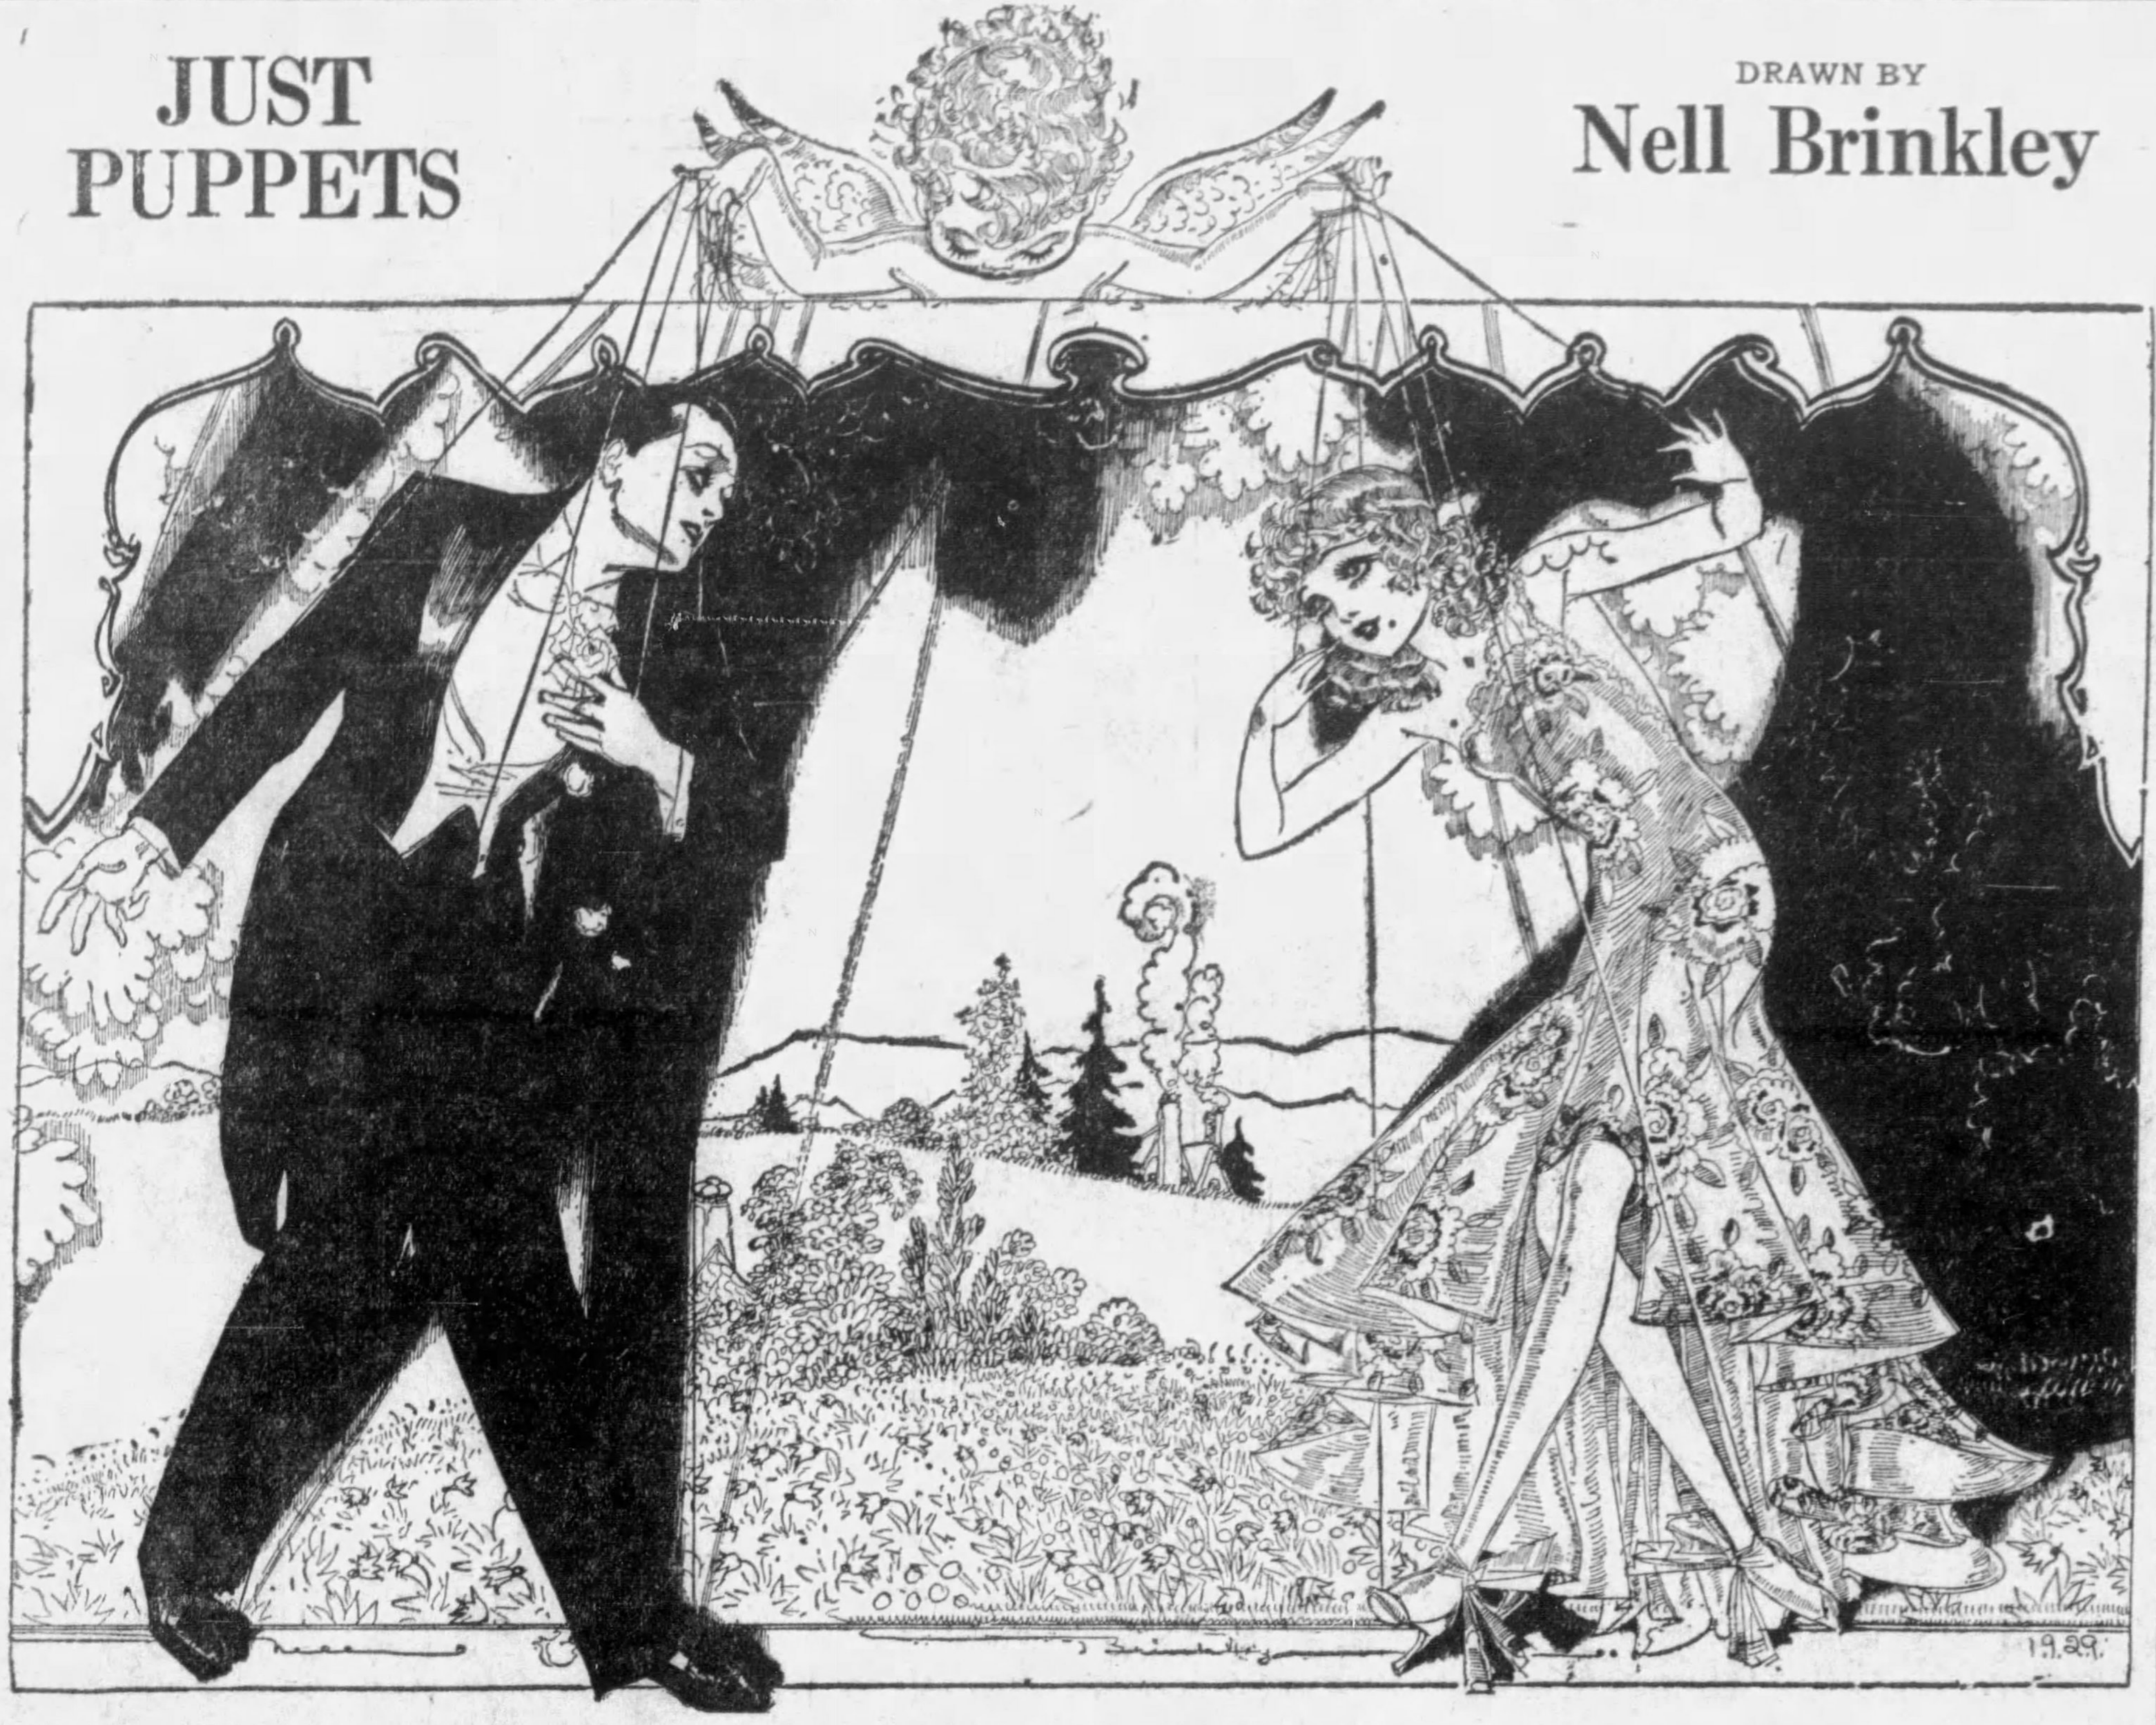
Shower Curtain

The bath shower curtain should be drawn out along the rod to dry immediately after each use, particularly during the warm weather, as this allows the air to get at the curtain and prevents any mildewing and damage to the fabric. If possible, hang it out-of-doors occasionally in a shaded spot to air and dry.

JUST PUPPETS

DRAWN BY

Nell Brinkley



"MARIONETTES—puppets moved by strings. Hum, who else but a man and a girl in love with one another? Who else having no mind of their own? Bobbing and smiling through a pretty play, always to each other, unconscious of the audience. Who else obeying every twitch of the ten little fingers and a thumb of a pagan god? They droop, they dance, they tremble, they sigh, they walk, they sit, they embrace, they sulk, they approach, they clasp, they register bliss. All for Love.

For a season—Columbine and Pierrot of moonlight and roses, no matter if they look like just plain Jane and Jim, from pretty little Woodstock on the St. John, to you or to me. Puppets of Daniel Cupid, Esq. Mostly found performing their pretty plan to and from the magic isles of Bermuda—it used to be Niagara Falls—Banff, or, if there's time and money, Italy the romantic.

Little new-married sweethearts! "Jim says—m-m-mmm—and what Jim says I do. I ALWAYS want to please him; he's the most wonderful—m-m-mmmmm." "My wife's the cutest little thing—aren't you, Baby? And her face won't come off in the rain, either—just a touch of lip-rouge—I don't mind that—I wouldn't stand for more—m-m-mmmmmmm—did the Baby hurt one of her tiny pinnies?" Don't laugh. You remember when you were there, too—a pretty puppet on a string—and you wouldn't mind going back to the pretty play in the rosy glow of Love's toy-stage again, IF you could still keep the wisdom you have gotten for yourself since!

They dance and signal, approach, tremble, sigh, embrace, all for Love, while he pulls the strings, neglecting the rest of the world and the things in it. And then suddenly Love doesn't want to play any longer with his Marionettes; he drops the strings, and goes off about other business.

Plapf! down they go. And they have to begin the difficult—VERY difficult for Marionettes—business of learning all over again how to be real, and how to live in the neglected world again!

News From Trees Promises Quick Climax to Royal Muddle

THE foreshadowing of the answer to my mental query concerning the royal members of our "international romance" came abruptly in the shape of a cablegram to Harry Underwood. That it was in code I knew when Lillian brought his code book to him as he switched on the reading light over a big chair and adjusted a small swinging table in front of him. Lillian and I were the only other occupants of the room, and when I saw her put the bolt on the door and sit down near me, her eyes fixed attentively on her husband, I knew that the cable document Harry was decoding must be of great importance.

I think I came nearer to "holding my breath" during those few minutes of waiting than has been my lot for many moons. And when at last Mr. Underwood laid down his pencil and looked across at us, I found my throat dry—as if I had been running.

Lillian's tone was jumpy, and I shared her nervousness.

"What do you mean, anyway?" she went on acridly. "Is the King of Trees dead?"

"No, but the old invalid who is next in line to the throne croacked last night, and the old King of Trees is in a pretty bad way. He can't last much longer. Our dear Georges will be a real kink mit a golden crown n' a throne n' everyting pretty soon already, if he don't get himself knocked in de bean by us."

Lillian grinned reluctantly, and I saw that her husband had exorcised her irriability, a manifestation rare indeed with her.

"So Georges is now next in line to the throne," she said, thoughtfully — added after a second. "How many people know this?"

"You and Madge and I, and a few people in Trees, the king if he's able to be told, and a few others. The papers will probably have it in the morning, although they keep their death announcements bottled up as long as possible over there, it's in line with their secretiveness and general cussedness."

"Shall you tell Georges immediately?"

There was something in her tone which made her husband look shrewedly at her.

"Something's on your bean, old dear. Go on, roll it off."

Lillian leaned forward, the back of her right hand tapping the palm of her left, a sure indication to me that she was tremendously interested in the proposition she was outlining.

"Don't you think it would be a good thing to have Georges and Olina, with possibly Mary and Noel, as well, out in the open when they first get word that Georges is only one removed from the throne. If you could see it in the paper, for instance, and read the dispatch aloud."

"With you and Madge standing by the dissecting table with your probes and scalpels and microscopes all ready to observe the reaction of the victims," Mr. Underwood drawled. "Oh! don't get sore," as we both flushed. "That's just what you've got to do. It's a darned good scheme, if you ask me."

"Which we just have," Lillian interrupted tartly.

"Just so, light of my heart," her husband returned imperturbably. "If I get your idea, this news will bring them down to cases. Georges will visualize himself as a king with Mary as a queen. Olina will be looking at the same sort of photograph, and the inherited 'divine right' thing and all the rest of the tosh will rise up and strike them amidships. That it?"

"When we get it unwrapped from your oral swaddling clothes, we probably will recognize the infant," Lillian told him, with a grin.

"Professional jealousy," her husband said. "You don't know as many words as I do. But seriously, that's the ticket. I couldn't manage it if Georges knew I had this cablegram. But he doesn't, and I'll stage-manage the thing, if you'll fix it so they are all present when the papers come in tomorrow morning. I'll drop over tonight to one of the offices and ask one of my friends what news from Trees. Then I'll know whether or not it's been made public. Well! there's one thing certain. When this news gets out, it ought to bring those rats out into the open."

But I found myself less concerned with even this terrifying possibility than with the query as to what the reaction of our young royal guests would be to this momentous news.

Disinfect Sink Pipes

Remember that your sink pipe needs a dose of disinfectant sometimes just like any other pipe. However careful you may be sinks may sometimes get a little unsavory and as you work over them it is essential that they should be kept as hygienic as possible.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Shower Party Amenities

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When giving a shower, when does the bride open her gifts, before refreshments are served, or after?

2. Does one ever put an R. S. V. P. on the invitations to a shower when a large number of guests are invited?

3. Can you suggest some sort of entertainment?

USUALLY the gifts are opened before the refreshments are served.

2. It depends on the form of the invitation. If this is the convenient way of requesting an answer, it will be correct.

3. The shower may be in the form of a luncheon, or a tea, or a bridge, or a bridge-luncheon.

Graduation Invitations

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please answer the following questions for me?

1. Should one who is to graduate from a college have his cards, which are enclosed in the invitations to the graduation exercises, printed or engraved?

2. Should it contain the degree which he is to receive on it?

3. When a member of a friend's family dies, is it necessary to express one's sympathy to all the members of the family, including the mother-in-law, sister-in-law, nieces and nephews?

CONSTANT READER.

ENGRAVED. Visiting cards should never be printed.

2. No.

3. Usually we write a letter of condolence and sympathy to the one we know best, and include in it our message of sympathy to the family.

A Hat for the Informal Dinner

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please advise me whether or not it is proper to wear a hat at an informal dinner given by our superintendent in honor of his anniversary? The dinner is to be given at one of our prominent hotels in the near future, at 6:30.

R. E.

IF you are sure that the dinner is to be informal—and it does sound as if it were to be, since the hour is such an early one—I think that you would be fairly safe if you decided to wear a hat.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mrs. Solomon's Sayings

HEARKEN, my Daughter, unto the Parable of the Foolish Wife and take heed of its warning.

Lo, upon a day, a woman came unto me saying:

"Behold, I have wedded an ANGEL! Verily, verily, there is none other like unto him; for he is more beautiful than the sun at morning, and more tender than the moon at night, and more brilliant than all the stars of the heavens. Alas, I am not GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM! For all his ways are perfect, and upon his head I can perceive a HALO."

Then I questioned her, saying:

"How long, oh, my Daughter, hast thou been wedded unto this Paragon?"

And she replied:

"Since last Wednesday."

Now, after three years, the woman came again.

But, lo, her eyes were red with weeping, and between sobbing and gnashing of teeth she spake, saying:

"Alas, what a fool was I.

"For him that I thought an angel I have found to be a DEVIL; and I rejoice that there IS none other like unto him.

"Lo, I am even now upon my way to Reno, for I can no longer bear with the morning growl and the evening grouch. Verily, he is filled with spleen, and excuses, and fairy tales, and indigestion."

Then I admonished her, saying:

"Go to, thou Capricious One! Cease thy folly and return unto thine husband. And when thou hast borne with him three years more, come unto me and I will hearken unto thy babblings."

But when the woman returned after three years she neither smiled nor wept; and in her eyes was the light of contentment.

Then she spake, saying:

"Ah, Mother, blessed be thy wisdom! For I have done thy bidding, and lo, I have discovered that mine husband is neither an angel nor a devil, but a HUMAN BEING, composed of mind and matter, weakness and strength, folly and wisdom."

Then I gathered her in my arms and kissed her, saying:

"Blessed art thou among women, oh, my Daughter!

"For thou hast passed safely over The Heights of Illusion and through the Valley of Despair; but now thou hast entered into the Kingdom of COMMON SENSE!

"Selah."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, January 3

THE astral operations for this day point to a rather routine state of affairs, with possibly much to tax the amiability and good nature. This is largely owing to a personal tendency to moroseness or sullenness, with flares of impatience or irritability. Under such depressed states of mind and attitude it would be well to allow events to move along in accustomed grooves.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly mediocre year, with affairs following the usual trend, unless they be disturbed by a personal tendency to irritability, contention and sullenness. This attitude taken into domestic, affectional or social affairs may prove depressing and have disagreeable reactions.

A child born on this day may have a tendency to depression and melancholy states of mind alternating with moments of excitement and irritability, which may have very disagreeable reactions on its success and peace of mind. It should be taken in hand early in life and given a cheerful and optimistic outlook.

WHEN you have something wrong with you, some bodily ailment which is so painful that you wonder if anything could be worse, you don't feel like taking the matter lightly. Boils belong to this class of ailments. They are all too common.

The worst thing about a boil is the thought that others will follow. They almost never come singly. There are some special varieties of boils. It is not uncommon, for instance, to have a boil in the ear. This is a very cruel experience.

I have noticed that aural boils, that is ear boils, are frequent in the spring of the year. Persons who indulge during the winter in late hours, loss of sleep, midnight suppers and other midnight diversions are prone to a "let-down" afterward. No matter what the cause may be, just as sure as your powers of resistance are lowered your system is ready to pick up any infection that may happen along.

Boils are caused by some form of germ. The skin is never free from germs, although it is so constructed as to be a pretty reliable covering and protection to the underlying tissues. Any injury, such as a scratch or a hard rubbing of the skin, may permit a pus-producing germ to penetrate. Under the right conditions the germ soon becomes a boil.

One may have an itching ear and a scratch brings to the part one of the many germs flying about in the air, or the germ lodges in some congested place, and that terribly painful thing, a boil appears.

So many diseases are conveyed by the hands that you should never forget the importance of frequent washing. Clean hands and clean nails are a protection against infection of the skin and particularly against boils.

Sometimes, at the very beginning, the boil may be checked. Hot water applications may be used, or applying camphor may allay the inflammation. A 10 per cent solution of carbolic acid in glycerin applied to the sore may give relief.

In case a second boil should make its appearance it is well to look into your general health. Your doctor should be consulted to see what is wrong. It may be trouble with the kidneys, constipation or some other difficulty. Where a series of boils appear, it may indicate diabetes.

Be careful of the diet and eat simple foods, including fresh fruit. Especially good for such a condition is drinking lemonade or lemon juice every day. Pastry should be shunned.

A general bath should be taken every day. Drink plenty of water. Get out daily into the fresh air and sunshine. You should get enough exercise daily to produce a good sweat. There is nothing better to carry off the impurities of the skin.

Answers to Health Queries

C. S. Q.—What are the early symptoms of cancer of the stomach?

A.—Symptoms of indigestion, distaste for meat, hyperacidity. It would be wise to see your doctor for examination.

M. B. M. Q.—Are yeast cakes good for the blood?

A.—They are helpful in correcting constipation.

CONSTANT READER. Q.—What shall I do to reduce? I am 15 pounds overweight.

H. A. C. Q.—What do you advise for bleaching superfluous hair?

2—What do you suggest for curing dandruff?

A.—Fresh peroxide of hydrogen, frequently applied, will bleach the hair, thus making it less conspicuous, and, it is contended by some, peroxide will retard the hair growth.

2—I would advise shampooing the hair once a week and using a good stimulating ointment.

MISS C. L. G. Q.—How can I reduce a large abdomen?

A.—If you lose weight in general your abdomen will become smaller. Diet and exercise are both advisable.

G. V. Q.—What causes small white spots to appear on the back of my hands?

A.—This is due to lack of pigment and nothing can be done to remedy this condition. However, painting the spots with a mild solution of permanganate of potash will make the spots less noticeable.

PITT'S DEFEAT JARS GRID WORLD

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Astounding Fall of Pitt.
Figures Upset All Dope.
Not Climate This Time.

Early Start by Kremer.
May Aid Bucs Greatly.
Kern Starring as Pro.

MOST POINTS ON LOCALS SINCE 1903

IT has been possible to find plausible explanations for many unexpected outcomes and surprisingly one-sided results in the field of sport competition, but the football doctors can hold post-mortems from now until doomsday without being able to explain to the satisfaction of Eastern gridiron fans what happened to the Pitt team between Thanksgiving Day and the fatal hours in Pasadena yesterday afternoon, when the hitherto unbeaten Panthers were crushed by the University of Southern California under the astounding score of 47 to 14.

Tom Parkinson

Defeat alone for Pitt would not have caused any great amazement, in view of the recognized handicap that an Eastern eleven is up against in the Coast climate, though even at that the proved power of the Panthers and their uncommon reserve strength had made it look from this corner as if Tom Parkinson, Toby Uansa and his mates would be able to fight their way through to a victory.

BUT such a staggering score and such a winning margin as five touchdowns were undreamed of in any part of the pigskin map. The Trojans' enormous total of 47 points was greater even than that made on December 14 against the admittedly weaker Carnegie Tech team, which they defeated 45 to 13, though by only the same number of touchdowns, and larger also than that rolled up by Stanford against the Army last Saturday, when the Soldiers were beaten 34 to 13.

For the Skibos and the West Pointers it could be said that they held their own or better in the first half, and were steam-rollered eventually, mainly because they wilted under the enervating effects of the warm climate in the third and fourth quarters. But the climate doesn't serve to make clear why Pitt's showing was so disappointing, for the Sutherlands were swamped in the first half, when they should have been able to stand the heat quite as well as the natives. They were better in the second half than the first.

THE very first play of the game after the kick-off appeared to indicate that the fates were against the Pittsburghers and that it was not in the cards for them to win. If Uansa had gone over for a touchdown on his brilliant opening sprint of 68 yards, instead of being overtaken and downed by Russell Saunders on the Trojans' 14-yard line it might have changed the complexion of the game greatly.

But even considering the loss of that edge, with the possible effect it would have had in boosting the confidence of the Panthers and shaking the morale of their opponents, it is beyond understanding what, apart from the long idleness of almost five weeks, caused the locals to fall so far below form.

Russell Saunders

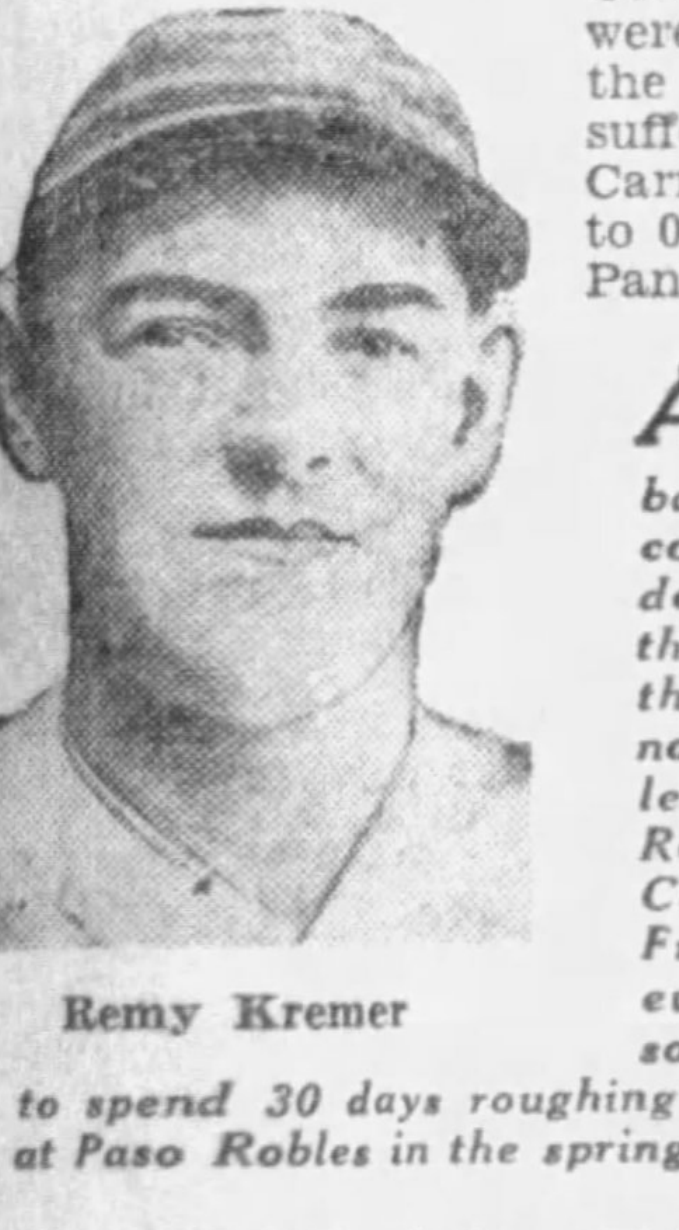
AND that they were below form there is no question, with all due respect to the strength of Southern California and giving the Trojans all due credit for the splendid football they played from start to finish in scoring a well-earned victory and gaining the distinction of being the first team ever to win the Rose Bowl classic twice. The Panthers had been vulnerable to forward passing all season, but yesterday they were weaker than ever in that respect, and the aerial game was the chief offensive weapon that carried the Westerners to success.

ON the other hand, the Panthers' own overhead attack, though it gave them both of their touchdowns, was below their standard in most instances, there was a lack of smoothness in other departments, costly fumbles were committed by the usually reliable Whitey Walinchus, and there were times when the generalship was faulty.

All around, Pitt was clearly far from being the Pitt of the regular season, and the lopsided score will go into the records as one of the most amazing upsets that football in any part of the country has experienced in many years.

THE score of 47 points was the largest made against the local university in more than a quarter of a century, or since 1903, when the Blue and Gold, then playing under the name of the Western University of Pennsylvania, was smothered by Penn State, 59 to 0. Prior to yesterday, the highest total scored against a Sutherland-coached team was 23 points, made in 1919 by Penn against Lafayette.

The largest previous score made against the Panthers since they became established in major football as Pitt, was that of 38 to 0, rolled up by Penn State in 1912. Forty points by W. & J. in 1891, 30 by Cornell in 1905, and 24 by Syracuse in 1919 were the biggest other scores made against the locals. Yesterday's defeat was the first suffered by Pitt since October 27, 1928, when Carnegie Tech downed the Sutherlands, 6 to 0. Between that date and yesterday, the Panthers won 12 games and tied one.



Remy Kremer

AN encouraging bit of news that may mean a great deal to the Pittsburgh baseball club for the coming season is contained in a letter received by President Barney Dreyfuss from Joe Devine, the Pirates' scout in the Far West, one of the smartest and most successful men now serving in that capacity in the major leagues. Devine writes that he met Remy Kremer, Buccaneer pitcher, on the Coast recently and reports that the big Frenchman is in the best shape he has ever known at this stage of the off-season. He adds that Kremer has arranged to spend 30 days roughing it in the mountains before reporting at Paso Robles in the spring.

KREMER'S idea is to put himself in good physical shape before taking up the baseball training grind, feeling that by doing so he will be able to get away to a better start in the regular season. Illness or a lack of hurling fitness has handicaped Remy in the early games since 1927, when he won eight of his first 10 contests.

In 1928, Kremer hung up only four victories against 11 defeats in his first 15 games, and last year he opened with four defeats against six wins, and was knocked out of six of the first 10 games in which he started. A right beginning by the big right-hander in 1930 will help the Bucs greatly.

THE remarkable record made by the Packers, all-star professional football team of Green Bay, Wis., during the season of 1929, naturally attracted attention in all parts of the country, but it is of particular interest to the fans of the Pittsburgh district because this region produced some of the material that gave the eleven such exceptional strength that it has been referred to as "the greatest of all time."

Foremost among the Green Bay players well known hereabouts was Bill Kern, formerly a star tackle at Pitt. Another was Hubbard, the giant tackle who played for Geneva when Bo McMillin coached there, and a third was Michalske, a crack guard at Penn State a few years ago.

THE other guard was Bowdoin, of Alabama, the ends were Dilweg, of Marquette, and Nash, of Georgia; the center was

FREDERICKSON BACK; MILKS TO START

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Pirate icemen, sucked into a whirlpool of injuries several weeks ago, will have their heads above the waters of misfortune for the first time in many a day when they meet the Ottawa Senators at Duquesne Garden at 8:30 tonight.

True, Player-Manager Frank Frederickson and Herb Drury, star centers both, still are cripples, but they are the only Bucs not able to don battle regalia, and the Pirates' hospital squad has been so big in recent weeks that an injury list numbering only two seems like (a snap of the fingers here) nothing at all.

BUC PILOT RETURNS

The local puckmen's morale has been bolstered considerably by Frederickson's return to the scene of activities. The Bucco boss was not released from a Toronto hospital, where he languished for some 10 days while having torn ligaments in his knee mended, until late Monday afternoon, but he wasted no time in getting back to Pittsburgh and was able to direct his men in the workouts staged Tuesday and yesterday. Freddie will direct his team from the bench tonight, but there is a strong possibility that he will not be able to don skates again this season. He has an incision in his leg about a foot long, where the ligaments were severed and spliced, and the hospital physicians have advised that he do no more hockey playing until next fall. Freddie, more optimistic, plans to put his leg to a light test in about six weeks, and if it holds up well he will swing back into action at that time.

MILKS AT CENTER

Hib Milks, who performed brilliantly at center from the time Frederickson handed over his duties to him until he himself was stricken with a severe attack of grip, a week ago, has made a rapid recovery and will be back at center in the starting front line tonight. Hib still is quite weak, and he will have to limit his appearances on the ice to few-minute "shifts," but his great poke checking makes him a valuable defensive cog. Jerry Lowrey, who is to start at left wing, will return to center ice whenever Hib weakens, and Bud Jarvis will move into the position vacated by Jerry when the shift is made.

The Pirate defense should be stronger than at any other time this season. Johnny MacKinnon's ankle has regained its normal strength, and Gordon Fraser, rugged defense star obtained from Les Canadiens for Bert McCaffrey, is here to make his debut as a Corsair. Rog Smith has been spilling foemen with old-time abandon, and Joe Miller's work in the nets in recent frays has left nothing to be desired.

INVADERS STRONG

Tonight's game will mark the first Senator-Pirate meeting of the season. Ottawa, once a team that specialized in defense and "went into its shell" at every opportunity, now plays a "wide open" game and is one of the most colorful clubs in the circuit. Only three teams have been able to surpass the Senators in goal-getting, and their lineup is well-sprinkled with celebrities.

Hec Kilrea, great right-winger, is leading the league in scoring, and King Clancy, dashing defense giant, is pacing all backfielders in tallying. Frank Nighbor, at center, is one of the greatest poke-checkers in the history of the sport, and Wally Kilrea, spare wing, teams up with Hec to give the invaders a neat brother act. Wally teamed with Ken Manners, present Pirate center, to win the local amateur league title for the Philadelphia Company sextet last season, and is very popular with local fandom. The probable line-up:

Pirates.		Senators.
Miller	G	Connell
R. Smith	D	Clancy
Fraser	D	A. Smith
Milks	C	Lamb
Darragh	W	Finnigan
Lowrey	W	H. Kilrea

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Chalk up another knockout victory for Jackie Rodgers, local Negro bantamweight socker, who gradually is battling his way to the position of a topliner ready to be sent against the best in his class.

Fighting in the dynamic forcing style he has adopted this season, Rodgers overwhelmed Pete Zivic, veteran of Lawrenceville, in the scheduled 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden yesterday afternoon, Zivic being forced to surrender in his corner at the end of the fourth round. Doubled up on his stool with two ribs broken on his left side, Zivic had to admit defeat after having fought a game uphill battle from the start. He survived three knockdowns in the first round and kept on the move and out of danger in the next two, with Rodgers stalking him about, and then succumbed to a determined right hand smashing to the body in the fourth.

SECOND HALTS BOUT

Several times in the final session, Zivic was forced to bend double from the pain, but he managed to make his way to his corner at the finish. There his condition was discovered and his chief second, Dick Griffin, former bantamweight boxer of Texas, called a halt. Pete was gasping for breath and wincing as his opponent was declared the winner.

Rodgers, scaling 122 pounds to 120 for Zivic at 10 o'clock in the morning, was entirely too strong and persistent in his attack for the veteran, whose hope of checking Jackie's winning streak lay in keeping out of range of the Negro's devastating onslaught for a few rounds and then trying to outbox him for the decision. His own offensive, however, was too feeble to check the crowding Rodgers at any time, and it was merely a question of how long

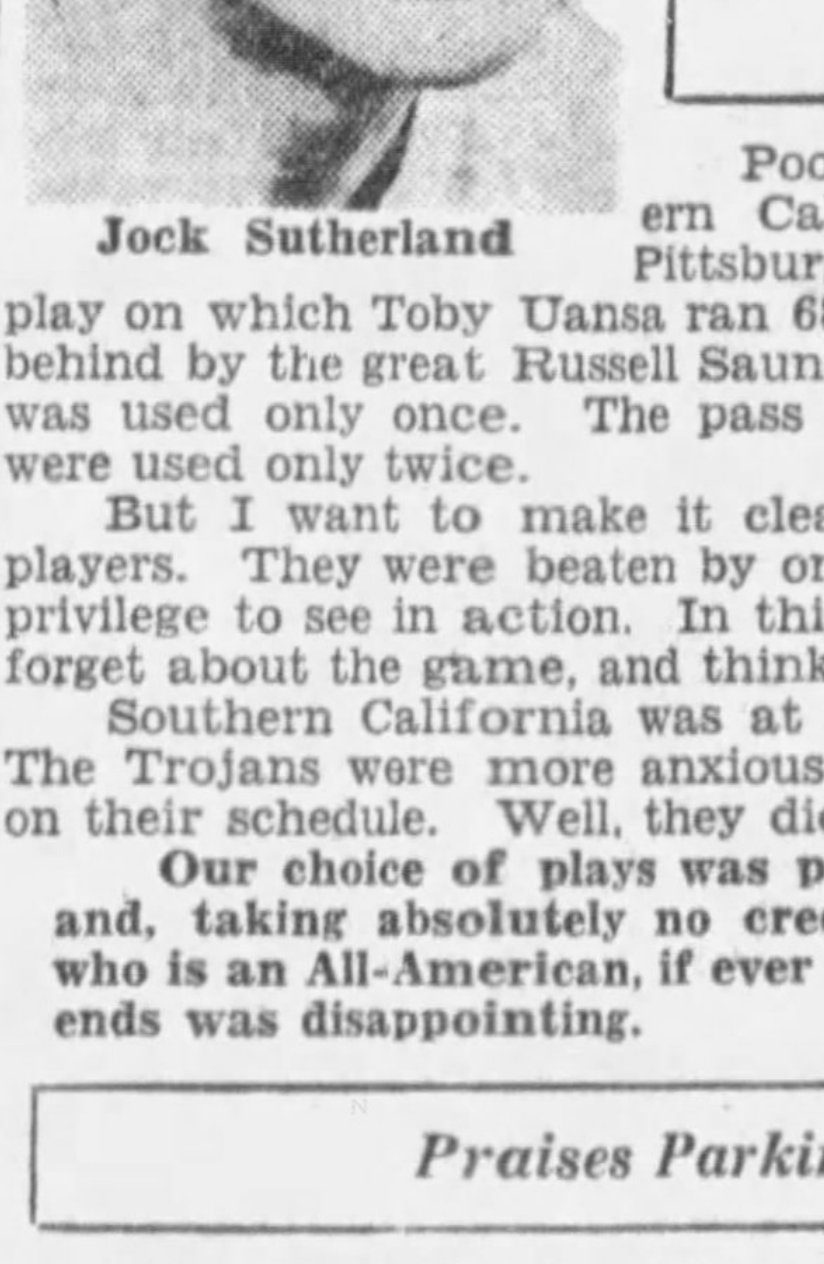
JOCK SUTHERLAND'S OWN STORY

Panther Coach Has No Alibis to Offer for Setback; Praises Trojans on Showing

By JOHN B. (JOCK) SUTHERLAND,
Head Football Coach, University of Pittsburgh.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Outplayed and outmaneuvered in every department of play, the University of Pittsburgh was decisively defeated by Southern California in the annual post-season football game at the Rose Bowl here yesterday. The score was 47 to 14.



Jock Sutherland

When a team is beaten by such a score, there is very little for the coach of the losing eleven to say but that the winner was the better team.

I have no alibis to offer. We were beaten by a better team. Southern California is by far the greatest team Pitt has met in several seasons. The Trojans earned their victory. They were well coached, and are great sportsmen.

Defense Is Poor

Poor forward-pass defense and Southern California's speed spelled defeat for Pittsburgh. Our generalship was bad. The play on which Toby Uansa ran 68 yards only to be pulled down from behind by the great Russell Saunders near Southern California's goal was used only once. The pass plays which netted us touchdowns were used only twice.

But I want to make it clear that I have no censure for the players. They were beaten by one of the best teams it has been my privilege to see in action. In this case, it's best to suggest that they forget about the game, and think about next year.

Southern California was at the peak of its game, undoubtedly. The Trojans were more anxious to win this game than any other on their schedule. Well, they did it, and how!

Our choice of plays was poor, our interference was ragged; and, taking absolutely no credit away from Francis Tappaan, who is an All-American, if ever there was one, our handling of the ends was disappointing.

Praises Parkinson, Walinchus

I thought Walinchus did some nice ball-carrying for Pittsburgh, and Parkinson's work in backing up the line was very good. I believe I am justified in stating that MacMurdo of Pitt was the best tackle of the day. As for Southern California, Russell Saunders is the greatest back I have seen since Glenn Presnell, of Nebraska. Both

IRISH NATION'S CHAMPS; PITT SECOND

Notre Dame was named the championship football team of 1929 in a ballot of the leading sports writers of the country which was sponsored [illegible] Russel Erskine, automobile magnate. The result was announced yesterday by W. O. McGeehan, nationally known sports writer, chairman of the Erskine Committee of Award.

The final ballot shows Rockne's team leading with 179 votes, Pittsburgh second with 41 votes and Purdue third with two votes. The vote of the Committee of Award, composed of national known patrons of football, gave Notre Dame 11 additional votes, making her grand total 190. Pittsburgh and Purdue received no votes in the Committee of Award. The vote of Theodore Roosevelt, a member of the committee, was cabled from Porto Rico by way of the War Department in Washington.

IRISH TO GET CUP

The Notre Dame team will receive a huge silver cup signifying the football title, to be held for one year. The final act in the drama will be the presentation of a President Eight sedan to Knute Rockne, the coaching wizard of Notre Dame.

With the announcement of final results, Robert O. Delin, of New York City, the certified public accountant who verified results for the Committee of Award, revealed the details of all the balloting. In the preliminary ballot, which served to select the teams to be voted for on the final ballot, each member of the jury named three teams. Valuing the votes at five for first places, three for second, and one for third, this first ballot produced the following results:

Notre Dame, 777; Pittsburgh, 442; Purdue, 210; St. Mary's, 48; Tulane, 22; Southern California, 21; Texas Christian, 10; Tennessee, 8; Yale, 2; Dartaroused football team, Howard Jones' great Trojan eleven.

PANTHERS NO MATCH FOR TROJANS

Two years ago in the Rose Bowl another Pitt team that went through the season undefeated bowed to Pop Warner's Stanford eleven, 7-6.

The story of Pitt's defeat yesterday is centered about the blundering pass defense, but the entire game was filled with bits of sparkling gridiron acting. Standing out in the spectacle, as victors and vanquished, were heroic figures, the Tappaans, Parkinsons, Donchesses, Saunders, Duffields and Edelsons. There was glory enough for all, the tough part of it all being that the Trojans received more than their share.

Pitt started out with a rush, and hardly had the echoes of the opening whistle died away than the 70,000 were electrified as Toby Uansa dashed 68 yards down the field on the first play after the kickoff. What a thrill it was! But fate turned her back all too quickly. The power plays of the Panthers crashed on the rocks of a very stubborn and very alert Trojan defense, and Pitt finally lost the ball when Baker passed over the line. Uansa had run from his own 18-yard line to the 14. Southern California stopped Parkinson thrice, and then Baker passed over the line.

TULLY GRABS FUMBLE

Shaver punted on second down, and Uansa was tagged on the five-yard line. The Panthers were in a hole, but Parkinson's return punt was fumbled by Saunders and recovered on the 37-yard line by Tully. Again Tom had to kick, and the loss of the ball meant Southern California's first score.

The kick bounded out of bounds on the Trojans' own 40-yard mark. Shaver, plucky U. S. C. fullback, punched the line for two yards, and Saunders added three more. Russ dropped back as if to kick, but instead hurled the ball squarely into the arms of Halfback Edelson, who caught it on the 30-yard line and ran the remaining distance for a score. He sent the ball squarely between the uprights for the extra point. This score failed to scare Pitt's adherents, but when Whitey Walinchus fumbled going into the line on his own 35, the boys began to sit up and take notice.

Saunders bucked the line for five yards, and with Pitt's secondary defense hardly set, if at all, he zipped a pass over the right side of the line, which was gobbled up by Pinckert, and Southern California had another score. This time Shaver failed to get the ball over, but 13 points were safely in the bag.

The scoring was over for the period, and the folks sat back and watched Pitt attempt to launch a drive of its own.

Parkinson punted out of bounds on the 16-yard line to start the second quarter, and Shaver had to kick right back. A 14-yard sprint off tackle by Walinchus, some excellent line smashing by Parkinson and a pass that went over the goal line, was the sum and and substance of this attack.

TROJANS GET BREAK

They exchanged punts and then Jimmy Clark handed the Trojans their first break. He fumbled the [illegible] what was intended for a [illegible], and Arbelbide, smart young Trojan wingman, recovered on the 18. Hill and Duffield, the first of Southern California's long string of reserve backs, pounded their way to the touchdown.

The ball game, to all intents and purposes, was now in and work on Pitt's epitaph was well started. Just to duplicate the first quarter score, Duffield saw to it that his team scored again before the half ended. He hurled a beautiful pass to Mortenson, which the latter took on the 37-yard line and carried to the two before Jimmy Rooney nailed him. It was a simple matter for Duffield to score from this point.

Southern California completed the rout early in the third period, discarding its aerial game and

By JULIUS LEVIN

Old basketball rivals come together in the outstanding league games on the local amateur and professional card tonight. In the Allegheny County League the Sianos will entertain the Goldensons at Columbus Temple, while Fintex engages the Elizabeth Independents at Elizabeth.

Out of first place for a short time as a result of their unexpected defeat at the hands of the Ackermans last Monday night, the Fintex aggregation is back in the top position and ready to defend it against all comers.

SIANOS CONFIDENT

The Sianos, however, still hope to overtake the leaders and will be out to improve their position tonight. In meeting the Goldensons the Sianos renew a feud that has existed between the two teams for years. The Goldensons have two straight defeats and will be eager to snap their losing streak.

In the West Penn League tonight the Y. M. H. A., passers will make an effort to improve their position by engaging their old rivals from North Side Community House on the Y. M. H. A., floor. The Oaklanders have a knack of playing their best ball at home, but Community House is confident it can check them tonight. This game should develop into one of the best of the season.

LAFAYETTES WIN

The Goldensons took another on the chin last night, losing to the Duquesne Lafayettes, defending champions, at the South Side Market House, 27 to 25. The Goldensons led at the half, 16 to 8.

The Cleveland Rosies added two more victims to their list on their present tour through Western Pennsylvania, defeating Irwin in the afternoon at Irwin, 44-33 and Monessen in the evening, 55-40.

The Homewood-Brushton Y. M. C. A. opened the Institutional League season by defeating East Liberty at East Liberty, 31-18. In the other games Holy Cross defeated Penn Five, 40-21; Wilmerding defeated the Duquesne Sokols, 35-29; the Hoyles lost to Hill Top Y, 34-23, and Sharpsburg Y defeated the Greensburg Harrisons, 40-32. BRUINS EQUAL RECORD

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—The Boston Bruins' string of consecutive wins stood at 11 today as a result of their smashing 5-to-2 victory over the New York Americans here last night.

The victory was the sixteenth of the season for the world champions and the 11-in-a-row tied the mark established by the Canadiens two years ago.

CANADIENS TOP HAWKS

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Fast, brilliant hockey as played by the Canadiens from Montreal left Chicago's Black Hawks with a 3-to-2 defeat to ruminate over today.

With the score 2 to 2 at the close of the game, the two teams entered an overtime period that prolonged the match into a 70-minute contest.

MAROONS LOSE LEAD

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Montreal's Maroons were out of first place in the standings of the International group of the National Hockey League today as a result of the 5-to-8 defeat handed them here last night by the Maple Leafs.

Play-by-Play Story of Pitt's Staggering Defeat by Trojans

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Following is the play-by-play story of the crushing 47-14 defeat handed the University of Pittsburgh eleven by Southern California Trojans in the Tournament of Roses football feature battle in the Rose Bowl here yesterday:

FIRST QUARTER

Pitt won the toss and chose to defend the north goal, with the towering mountain range at their backs. U. S. C. elected to kick off. Anthony kicked off to Donchess, who fumbled and stepped out of bounds on his 18. On the first play, on a wide reverse, Uansa got around Tappaan at left end and ran to the U. S. C. 14-yard line, a gain of 68 yards. Toby was in the clear, but was tackled from behind by Saunders.

The Trojans took time out. Parkinson hit right tackle for one. Parkinson struck center for four. Walinchus ran inside right end for two. Pinckert batted down Uansa's pass over the goal line and U. S. C. scrimmaged on its 20. Shaver made four at center. Saunders added two at left tackle before Parkinson stopped him.

Shaver's quick kick sailed to the Pitt four-yard line, where Uansa fell on it. Uansa hit right guard for three. Parkinson punted to Saunders on the Pitt 40. Russ fumbled and Tully recovered for Pitt on his three. On a triple pass, Walinchus picked up four at right end. On a reverse Uansa was caught behind the line and tossed for a loss of five yards.

Parkinson punted to Saunders on the U. S. C. 32. He ran back to his 39. Shaver hit center for four. Saunders added two at left end.

Saunders threw a long pass to Edelson, which the latter caught on the Pitt 28. From there he ran over for a touchdown. Shaver kicked the extra point from placement.

Score: U. S. C., 7; Pitt, 0.

Anthony kicked off to Walinchus on the five. He ran out of bounds on his 29. On a reverse Uansa cut in at left tackle for three. On a fake reverse, Parkinson tumbled through right guard for three.

On a reverse Walinchus fumbled, and Hall recovered for U. S. C. on the Pitt 31. Shaver made a yard at right guard. Saunders crashed left tackle for five. On a cut back play Saunders failed at right tackle.

After a reverse Saunders threw a pass to Pinckert on the 16-yard line. He sidestepped his way over for the second U. S. C. touchdown. Shaver missed goal from placement.

Score: U. S. C., 13; Pitt, 0.

Anthony kicked off out of bounds. He kicked again, this time to Donchess on the 15. Joe made a splendid return to his 43, where he was roughed as he was tackled, and U. S. C. was penalized to its 43. Parkinson smacked right guard for two. Walinchus cut back inside right end for seven, just missing first down. Parkinson hit center for two and first down on the U. S. C. 30. Walinchus failed to gain on a reverse at right tackle. On another reverse Walinchus got three outside right end.

Uansa passed to Donchess, but he dropped the ball as he was falling on the U. S. C. eight-yard line. Saunders batted down Baker's long pass over the goal line, and U. S. C. scrimmaged on the 20. Shaver found a big hole at right guard for eight, but U. S. C. was penalized 15 for holding. Shaver punted out of bounds on his 47. On a reverse Uansa made only a yard at left end. On another reverse Walinchus failed at right tackle. On a short side delayed play Uansa made four at right tackle as the quarter ended.

Score: U. S. C. 13, Pitt 0.

LOCAL MERMEN WIN TITLES

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 2.—John Law and Freddie Wenck, wearing the colors of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, won the 220-yard senior and junior A. M. A. swimming championships yesterday in a meet at the local Y. M. C. A.

Law dethroned Allan Cross, of the local Y, as king of the senior furlong, negotiating the distance in 2:31.2 and leading Cross by a margin of three feet at the finish. Russell Lindberg, of the Carnegie Library Club, Pittsburgh, placed third. Chocko, Pittsburgh, was fourth.

The junior title was decided through two time heats. Wenck won his heat in 2:40.2, while Leaddeo, Pittsburgh, Duquesne Club, placed second with 2:41.2 and Vargo, Pittsburgh, Homestead Club, ranked third with 2:41.4. Ralph Weber, representing the Erie branch of the University of Pittsburgh, was fourth with 2:42.

KENNEDY HEADS N. C. A. A.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board on athletic control of Princeton University, yesterday was elected president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, succeeding Brig. Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, head of the organization since the founding 24 years ago.

Recognizing the evils of college athletics as set forth in the Carnegie Foundation report, the association has launched a cleanup campaign within its organization.

While no definite and sure workable plan was laid before the delegates from 250 universities and conferences in attendance at the twenty-fourth convention, the president was given power to appoint a committee to draw up a practical and promising reform program. The committee will report at the 1930 meeting.

BALTIMORE BOY EXTENDED BY RICHARDSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—In a dramatic five-set struggle Billy Jacobs, of Baltimore City College, yesterday won the National Junior indoor tennis championship by conquering the "dark horse" sensation of the tournament, Lanky John Richardson, of Dartmouth. The scores were 6-3, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

The National Boys' indoor championship went to a little New York stylist, Marcus Hecht, of DeWitt Clinton High School, defeating Bernard Friedman, of West Philadelphia High School, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Friedman, holder of the Middle Atlantic States junior and boys' titles, elected to drive from near the baseline. This style proved made to order for Hecht, who often drew his opponent wide of position and sent sharp-shooting placements far out of his reach.

Frankie Parker, of the Milwaukee Country Day School, and Giles Verstraten, of the McBurney School, New York, won the boys' doubles final, defeating Friedman and Hecht at 7-5, 6-3.

In junior doubles the honors went to Sandy Devenport and Richard Downing, of the West Side Tennis Club, who turned back Donald Frame, Harvard, and Fred Roll, Mercersburg, 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5.

NOTABLES SEE ROSE CLASSIC

By Staff Correspondent.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Boy, oh boy, what a beatin'!

For all the Panthers took one squarely on the whiskers yesterday as the Trojans marched over 'em, 47-14. The Rose Bowl game was one of the most colorful and brilliant in history.

Pitt made a dashing appearance when the boys trotted on the field. They wore their "road" jerseys, blue with gold shoulders and gold cuff. Their helmets were painted brilliant blue and gold and they wore bright yellow trousers.

The Southern California cheering section outdid itself between halves. Seldom is one afforded the opportunity of viewing such acts as were put on by the Trojan rooters. Joe Donchess, Ray Montgomery and Tom Parkinson were honored by having their names spelled in crimson against a white and gold background—as all-Americans.

Many were the celebrities on hand, both in the press box and the stands. Conrad Nagel, Lillian Tashman, Anita Page, Warner Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Beans Reardon, Gov. Young, George Gray, Charley Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vaughn, Mary Nolan, Adele Rogers St. John and her talented husband, Tricky Dick Hyland, Dr. Clarence (Tubby) Spears, Pop Warner, Christy Walsh and a host of others were present.

The Trojan band, one of the finest college bands in the country, presented a striking appearance in its cream colored uniforms. Its rendition of Pitt's battle song was okey.

Prior to the game, two actors, dressed in the height of fashion, paraded before the multitude, billed as Mr. Smoke and Mrs. Coal, of Pittsburgh. Following them came an old truck horse, with faded trappings, bandaged and covered with old bits of colored bunting and what not—with a little Negro carrying this placard:

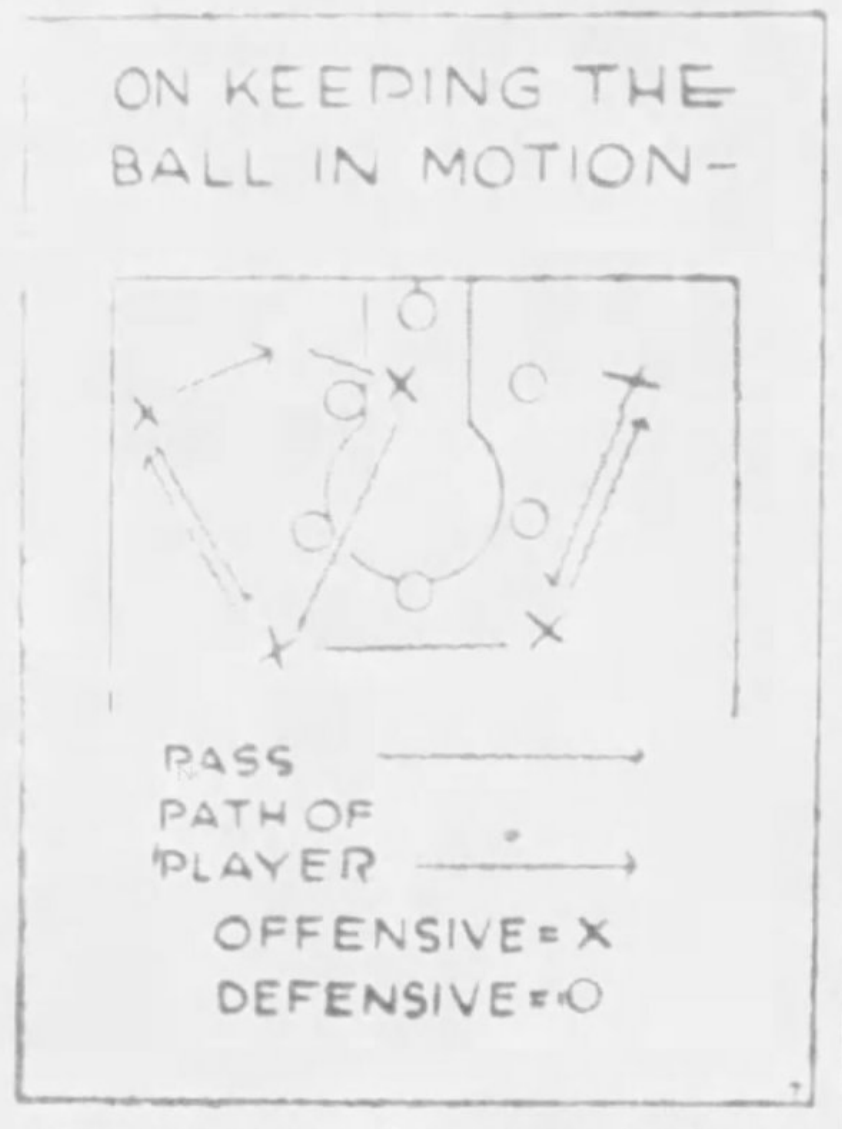
"The Trojan Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

The Trojans wore white jerseys with black resin stripes and crimson socks and helmets. Southern California had 34 players on the bench, Pitt 33. And the gent who was announcing the plays called particular attention to the fact—the old Meanie.

The crowd began to gather as early as 11:30. The Rose Bowl is very difficult to reach, being located in what we of the East call a little valley. Out here its an arroyo.

Horse Chase and Mike Getto, two of Pitt's famous tacklers of days gone by, were in the press box, busily engaged in working for Christy Walsh.

How to Play Basketball



What is the advantage in keeping the ball perpetually in motion?

Answered by
E. S. DEAN,
Basketball Coach, University of Indiana, Tied for Western Conference Championship.

The advantages of keeping the ball in motion are very positive. Regardless of the kind of defense your team is playing against, keeping the ball in motion is very effective. Offenses designed to meet zone defenses should place special emphasis upon this phase of attack. Passing the ball back and forth in front of the zone, also in and out to players who have penetrated the defense, tends to draw the defensive men out of position, thus leaving open some player for a good shot. The accompanying diagram represents the formation.

Keeping the ball moving is also effective against the man-to-man defense and others because of danger of defensive men getting off balance in covering their assigned man. The guard may rush to intercept a pass or prevent a deliberate shot and thus find himself in a bad defensive position. This happened because the ball had been kept in motion until one defensive man had been pulled out of position.

The ball moving rapidly in front of defense tends to keep the offensive men mentally alart. This, of course, should lessen the number of interceptions because the players will meet the ball fast. Fast breaking and cutting to the basket is greatly encouraged. Flat-footedness is at a minimum in the game which encourages real teamwork and makes a unit of your five men.

The names of the three leading teams of this ballot were accordingly submitted to the jury for the final ballot, with the results previously mentioned.

Analyzing the jury's voting by states, it is found that the majority in every state except six voted on the first ballot for Notre Dame. These six were Missouri and Nebraska, for Pittsburgh; Alabama and Kansas, both divided between Notre Dame and Pittsburgh; New Mexico, which split between Notre Dame and St. Mary's, and Oregon, which hesitated between Notre Dame, St. Mary's and Purdue. On the final ballot, however, every state turned its majority to Notre Dame.

Earpe, of Monmouth; the quarterback, Blood, of Minnesota; the halfbacks, McCrary, of Georgia, and Lewellen, of Nebraska, and the fullback, Molenda, of Michigan. Only three of the eleven regulars—Kern, Blood and Lewellen—weigh under 200 pounds. The line averaged 222 from tackle to tackle, and the average for the team as a whole was 211. Yet all were fast, every man from the 181-pound Lewellen up to the 250-pound Hubbard being able to show a burst of speed.

Bill Kern

IT was a most unusual team in many respects, one that was easily the season's standout in the professional ranks, as attested by the fact that it did not lose a game played in the pro league and suffered its only defeats of the year in two outside Southern engagements. It combined speed, weight, power brains and football skill, all welded into one perfect unit.

The Packers steam rollered practically all opposition in the league, and the manner in which they crushed Benny Friedman and his star mates on the New York Giants was particularly impressive. Veteran critics around the circuit say of them that they never wasted a bit of motion, made a foolish move or committed a definite error, but always showed an amazing co-ordination of eye, mind and muscle of 11 men. These critics, who have seen all the great teams of the last three decades, declare that the Packers of 1929 surpassed them all.

GERMAN SPORT, CELTICS PLAY 1-1 DRAW

By TOM BIRKS.

Playing in a sea of mud, the German Sport Club and the Pittsburgh Celtics battled to a tie game, each side scoring once in the semi-final round of the West Penn senior cup at Carnegie High School field yesterday afternoon. In the preliminary game the Bridgeville School defeated Heidelberg by a 1-goal-to-0 score in the semi-final round of the Cameron Cup competition.

Despite a clear, blue sky and a summer-like day, the playing conditions were the worst encountered by teams in this district in many years, in fact the field was so heavy the game should have been called off.

Soccer was out of the question and the teams could neither do themselves nor the fans justice. The gate also was a big disappointment, the total receipts being $132, so it seems as if someone again pulled a boner by allowing the game to be played.

The Sport club was easily the best team in the field half of the game, and while the Celtics can be classed as a muddy-field team, they failed to impress against the Sport Club. However, no scores happened in the first half.

The Celtics scored when Hynds got away and centered close in. Bishoff appeared to think that the man was offside, and while he was hesitating, Barrett scored. The equalizer came when Kirshmann, lifting the ball out of the mud, dropped it into the Celtics' goalmouth. Brown and Henderson both went for the ball, but Brown turned it into the net. Helberg, the Sport forward, was off the field in the second half of the game.

The game proved anything but a good soccer game. Henderson played a great game in the first half but the Celtics had a little edge in the second period. Extra time was not played, owing to ground conditions. The lineup:

German Sport—1.		Pgh. Celtics—1.
Bishop	G.	Henderson
Kramp	R.B.	Kirsopp
Frey	L.B.	Robinson
Eberhart	R.H.	Hodgetts
Reisman	C.H.	Brokie
Kirshman	L.H.	Brown
Simon	O.R.	Hyds
Helbig	I.R.	Smith
Neiderbacker	C.	Barrett
Scheidle	I.L.	Marshall
Nusskim	O.L.	Fleming

PITT NO MATCH FOR TROJANS

Pitt scored, strangley enough, by the same medium by which it went down to defeat, a forward pass. Parkinson and Uansa took turns in flipping the ball to each other and Uansa dropped two passes, either of which would have meant a touchdown, but he made up by bulleting one into the arms of Walinchus, who made the catch as he fell over the line. Parkinson kicked a placement for the extra point.

SAUNDERS CROSSES LINE

Southern California matched this one a bit later in the quarter when Saunders shot a pass to Edelson. Edwards, safety man for Pitt, came in fast and batted at the ball, but missed and the Trojan back hopped over the line.

Josh Williams intercepted one of Saunders' heaves in the fourth quarter, and on the very first play loosed his left arm and whaled the ball to Collins. The latter took it over the line for a touchdown. Parky added another extra point with a placement. Not content to win by 40-14, the Trojans went right out and scored again. Duffield engineered this final tally, passing to Wilcox, who took the ball as Uansa and Williams converged upon him, and cleverly eluding the tired Panthers, chased down the field and over the line. The pass was good for 61 yards in all, which, you must admit is no mean toss.

There is no doubt that the heat affected Pitt's play to some extent yesterday, but it was not the main cause of the defeat. Pitt simply was outplayed by a football team which undoubtedly is one of the greatest in the land. The Trojans twice have tasted defeat, it is true, but it would have taken a darned good ball club to beat it as it functioned yesterday.

Indian Tiger West Winner Over Kelley

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 2.—Indian Tiger West, of Cleveland, outpointed K. O. Kelley, of Akron, in the 10-round main go of yesterday's fight program here, taking five of the 10 rounds and holding Kelley even in four others. Kelley won only one round, the sixth. Both boys took plenty of punishment, but Kelley's solid fighting weakened in the last three rounds.

17 Knockouts Mar France's Win Over Scotch

PARIS, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—France defeated Scotland, 7 to 3, in the first international rugby match of 1930 here yesterday. It was one of the roughest contests in years on a Paris field. There were 17 knockouts in the course of the game, exceeding the number in some boxing seasons in Paris. Many penalties were inflicted and France finished the match with only 13 players instead of the usual 15. Scotland had 14 when the match ended.

KING TUT STOPS WALLACE

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Billy Wallace, Cleveland, has a wrenched back today as a painful reminder of his bout last night with King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, which ended in a technical knockout decision for the latter in the eighth round.

The two fighters tumbled through the ropes in the fifth round. The referee stopped the bout for a minute to allow the Cleveland fighter to recover.

TIE IN SHOOT

READING, Pa., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Fred S. Dinger, of Harrisburg, and Eugene B. Springer, of Wildwood, N. J., tied for first honors in the Hercules Gun Club's white flyer shoot here today. Each scored 20 straight kills.

PITT PASSERS EXTENDED

Extended throughout, the University of Pittsburgh basketball team was forced to play an extra period to defeat Ohio State, 38 to 35, in the Stadium Pavilion Tuesday night. The score at half-time was 19 to 17, and 31 to 31 at the end of the regulation playing time.

A sensational rally with Capt. Hyatt, Zehfuss and Kowallis starring, provided the winning points. It was the sixth straight victory for the Panther varsity and the Buckeyes' first defeat after they had opened the season with a pair of wins.

In a preliminary, the Pitt freshmen defeated the Carnegie Club, of Braddock, 38 to 6. The varsity lineup:

Pitt—38.		Ohio State—33.
Hyatt (C)	F	Ervin
Zehfuss	F	Evans
L. Cohen	C	Wrigley
Arture	G	Larkins
W. Kowallis	G	(C) Fesler

Score by halves—

Pitt	19	19—38
Ohio	17	16—33

Field goals—Pitt, Hyatt 8, Zehfuss, Arture 5, W. Kowallis 2; Ohio State, Ervin 6, Evans 3, Wrigley 2, Fesler, Condon 3. Team fouls—Pitt, 6 out of 8; Ohio State, 3 out of 8. Individual fouls—Pitt, Hyatt, 2 out of 2; Zehfuss, 3 out of 4; Arture, none out of 1; W. Kowallis, 1 out of 1; Ohio State, Ervin, none out of 2; Evans, 1 out of 2; Hinchman, 2 out of 2; Condon, none out of 1; Larkins, none out of 1. Substitutions—Pitt, Wrobleski for Zehfuss, Zehfuss for Wrobleski; Ohio State, Condon for Wrigley, Wrigley for Condon, Condon for Wrigley, Hinchman for Larkins, Holcomb for Hinchman, Sush for Evans. Referee—Cal Bolster, Pittsburgh. Umpire—Lane, Cincinnati. Time of halves—20 minutes. Personal fouls—Pitt, Wrobleski, Zehfuss, Arture, W. Kowallis 3; Ohio State, Evans 3, Larkins, Fesler 2, Hinchman.

W. & J. TRIUMPHS

In other college games played Tuesday night, W. & J. defeated the Paulist Club, of Butler, at Butler, 27-25, and Westminster College downed Adrian College at New Wilmington, 33 to 18.

W. & J. defeated the East Liberty Y. team on the latter's floor last night, 29 to 20.

Held well in check during the first half, the Presidents piled up their lead in the last two periods and held the upper hand until the finish. Umberger starred for the winners and Waugaman for the losers. The lineup:

Wash-Jeff—29.		East Liberty—20.
Umberger	F	Waugaman
Harris	F	Scofield
Hamilton	C	Cyphers
McNeil	G	Brown
Butler	G	Carlson

Field goals—Smith, Scott, Joy, Umberger 3, Harris, Hamilton 2, McNeil 2, Waugamann 3, Scofield, Cyphers, Carlson 3. Fouls—Wash-Jeff, 8 out of 14; East Liberty, 4 out of 11. Referee—Al Slack.

Ackerman Gets Coaching Job At Haskell

LAWRENCE, Kas., Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Tusten Ackerman, three years a star on the University of Kansas basketball team was named coach of that sport at the Haskell Indian Institute for the present season.

Nebraska, which plays Pitt here Saturday night, engages West Virginia University at Morgantown, W. Va., tonight. Alfred plays Allegheny at Meadville. Duquesne University meets Alfred here tomorrow night, and Carnegie Tech battles West Virginia at Morgantown Saturday.

Carnegie Tech basketball fans are in for a treat this season, for Graduate Manager Overend has installed a brand new electric scoreboard in the Tartan gymnasium. The scoreboard is the latest thing out and resembles the one in use in the Ark at West Virginia University. It will be in use for the first time when Tech plays Pitt in its home opener next Monday night.

GENEVA GAME DEFERRED

Geneva College's game with Canisius College at home has been postponed from tomorrow night to next Thursday night. The revised Geneva schedule follows:

STRUB WINNER OVER REED

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Maxie Strub, Erie, won a decision over Jimmy Reed, also of Erie, in the 10-round main event of a boxing show here yesterday.

Reed was unable to get inside of Strub's long left, which kept jabbing in his face during most of the bout, and Maxie brought his right into play to floor Jimmy for a count of eight in the fourth round, and pummeled him about the body incessantly.

Chuck Burns, Akron, O., light-heavy, carried off the decision over Arvin Spence, Cleveland Negro, in a sensational six-round semi-final. Terrific punching featured the bout, Spence being all but knocked out in the first round.

Simms Scores Kayo Over Pete Wistort

WESTERN STARS BOW TO EAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The pick of the East defeated the pick of the West in the annual New Year's Day football battle for the benefit of the local Shriners' Hospital before a crowd of 55,000 here yesterday. The Eastern college stars won by a score of 19 to 7.

The East, showing a powerful offense led by Frosty Peters, of Illinois, held a half-time advantage of 16-0. The West scored its lone touchdown in the third quarter, Sloan, of Nebraska, crossing the line.

EAST—19.		WEST—7.
Booma, Dartmouth	L.E.	Churchill, Okla.
Twoomey, Notre D.	L.T.	Richards, Neb.
Cannon, Notre D.	L.G.	Schwartz, Cal.
Cox, Colgate	C.	Riegels, California
Gordon, Illinois	R.G.	Brombelow, Tex. C.
Sleight, Purdue	R.T.	Ackerman, St. Mary's
Tanner, Minnesota	R.E.	Alsbrook, T.A.&M.
Peters, Illinois	Q.B.	Clark, Col. State
Brazil, Detroit	L.H.	Lom, California
Glasgow, Iowa	R.H.	Pomeroy, Utah
Nagurski, Minn.	F.B.	Gilmore, Ore. State

Score by periods:

East	6	10	0	3—19
West	0	0	7	0—7

Scoring: West—Touchdown, Sloan (Nebraska), sub for Pomeroy. Point from try after touchdown, Clark (dropkick).

ZIVIC ADDED TO RODGERS' STRING

BODY BLOWS WIN

Pete kept moving and jabbing Rodgers off balance in the second and third rounds, and Rodgers appeared to be tiring from his own efforts and to be losing some of the zip from his punches. He won both sessions on his forcing, but gave no indication of the furious rally that was to end matters in the following frame, when he hammered the left side of Pete's body so unmercifully with a pile-driving right that he forced his foe to cringe and hold and go back to his corner in such bad condition he could not continue. As Zivic finished the fourth round, the result goes down as a technical knockout defeat for him in five rounds.

It was a masterly bit of relentless fighting by the hard-hitting Rodgers that encompassed the downfall of Zivic, and the dark little warrior should be in there with a formidable opponent of national reputation in his next start. He is just as liable to take the best of them with his punching as he is to stop an ordinary foe. The defeat of Zivic was Rodgers' sixth straight victory by the knockout route.

ROBERTS, PACELLI WIN

The eight-round semi-final was a dud. It brought together Cowboy Joe Cannall, of Youngstown, subbing for Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., who reported with an injured back, and Hans Roberts, German welterweight, of Brookline.

Cannall couldn't fight and floundered helplessly throughout the bout, while Roberts failed to flash the form he has in his build-up campaign at the Moose Temple. Hans lacked the punch to hurt Cannall, although he swarmed all over the latter, and it was a messy thing to the end, with Roberts winning the unanimous decision. Both weighed 143 pounds.

A blazing finish by Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, in which he all but knocked out Ken Hargraves, Negro, of New Kensington, just before the final bell gave Romeo the referee's decision in the six-round second bout. Judge Simco voted for a draw and Judge Brown and the referee for Pacelli.

Hargraves was in front by a slight margin, despite some sharp straight right-hand punching by Pacelli in the early rounds, when he ran into a left hook that staggered him late in the final round. Pacelli followed up the blow and dropped Hargraves for a count of two. Ken got up dizzy and fought after the bell. The referee jumped between them as Pacelli rushed to return the extra-time fire and Hargraves still was a bit hazy as he sat in his corner when the excitement subsided.

In an earlier meeting at the Garden Hargraves and Pacelli fought a draw and Pacelli since has knocked out Joey Katkish and U. S. Carpentier.

NANCI BEATS PARIS

Young Nanci, of Swissvale, 122 pounds, was too strong and aggressive for Sammy Paris, of the Hill, 124½, and handed the latter quite a pasting in the six-round opener.

A good-sized crowd witnessed the show. It was announced that Sergt. Sammy Baker and Joe Trippe will meet in the main bout at the Garden next Monday night.

Between Rounds

Willie Davies and Steve Rocco likely will meet in a return bout in Toronto, Canada, January 26. Their bout there last Friday night was declared "no contest" when Davies fell out of the ring in the sixth round and suffered a concussion of the brain. Davies is back in Charleroi little the worse for his experience, which caused him to be confined in a hospital for a time.

Bobby Lerman, of Midland, announces that he now has Britt Gorman, Minneapolis flyweight, under his management.

The Foutts brothers, Byron and Ray, have signed a lease to stage bouts in the Eagles hall at East Liverpool, O., beginning next Thursday night. Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, will be one of the principals in the main bout and Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, will box in the semi-final. The Foutts brothers are giving up their Wellsville, O., City Hall quarters for the new enterprise.

BOYLE TO BOX DURSO

Harry Boyle, of Meadville, and Johnny Durso, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, will box one of the feature bouts of the all-star amateur program at the P. A. A., Saturday night of next week. They are flyweights.

Ray Van Hook, of Pontiac, Mich., who meets Maxie Strub, of Erie, in the 10-round main bout at Ray Eberle's Junction Park arena at New Brighton next Monday night, claims victories over Frankie Chatterton, Jimmy Pinto, Jack Hernandez and other good ones and has boxed in Detroit, Cleveland and other fight centers. Strub is one of the best lightweights in this section and one of the toughest to match satisfactorily. He holds victories over Joey Goodman, Tommy Crawley, Lope Tenorio, Jimmy Reed, Paris (Kid) Cangy and others. He claims a record of 77 victories in 80 bouts.

Promoter Francis Flynn has completed the card for his show in the Moose Temple tomorrow night with the signing of Bob Collura, of Beechview, to box Frankie Portland, of the North Side, in the opening bout, and Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, to clash with Capo Coluba, Cuban middleweight, in the second bout. Joe Colombo and Tom Malco are in the main event and Johnny Smackey and Mickey Doris in the semi-final.

The program also has been filled for the Motor Square Garden show next Monday night, which will feature Sergt. Sammy Baker, of New York, and Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., in the windup. Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, meets Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, in the eight-round semi-final, an exceptionally good number. Dominick Profio, of Cecil, and Joe Zink, of McKees Rocks, a couple of punchers, will fight the second bout, and George Bretsch, of the North Side, and Howard Williams, of Swissvale, are paired for the opener.

Saunders and Presnell were terribly slighted so far as national recognition is concerned, but they rate a place with the great backs of all time.

Tappaan, whom I mentioned, deserves everything that has been said about him. Duffield I am sure is going to be one of the outstanding ball carriers of 1930. He is not the equal of Saunders now, but he certainly is going to be one of the best in another year.

I have absolutely nothing to say about the climate. We were in good physical condition. We were beaten by a better team.

This was not the usual Tournament of Roses game. Southern California is a local team. The tremendous pre-game interest made it a happy situation for Coach Howard Jones and those who assisted him in keying his men to the highest pitch for the game.

Present Grid Rules To Stand, Hall Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(INS.)—Those football fans who shuddered at the thought of the annual huddle of the rules committee were breathing easier today after the report of E. K. Hall, chairman of the American Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee, to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

For, in contrast with previous years, when many important and sometimes puzzling changes were made, Chairman Hall's report forecasts only minor alterations when the rules moguls meet.

"I think I speak for all my associates in expressing the belief that the experience of the past year has disclosed neither the necessity nor the desirability of any material change in the rules," said Hall in his report.

Bill Tilden Wins In French Tourney

Stock Exchange Topics

January Buying of Stocks To Influence Trend In Prices.

ORDINARILY January is a month in which reinvestment demand created by the flow of large volume of funds paid out over the year-end in dividends and interest come back into the security market. The period now at hand will, in all probability, bring much of that character of buying into the stock market, and such demand, judging from the record-breaking total of disbursements, these being estimated from $1,120,000,000 to as high as $1,250,000,000, should play an important part in shaping the course of stock prices. But consideration must be given the fact that security values were low last month, a condition which might possibly have influenced a good deal of buying in anticipation of the usual January reinvestment needs. It is likely also that the market will be aided through buying by traders who sold for tax purposes in December, and who hesitated until now to reinstate their lines.

A man who, until retirement a year ago, was well known in market circles is convinced, after a visit to Washington, that the last has not been heard of the move for legislation which would prohibit "short selling" of stocks. He is satisfied that powerful effort will be made to bring about legislation designed to curtail selling of a stock by those who do not own it and who hope to profit by purchasing the stock for delivery at a lower price. But he is just as well satisfied that any such move would do more to harm than to help the stock market. His contention is that a good short interest is essential to the market's well being in that it keeps a certain amount of potential demand under stocks.

THE petroleum industry of the United States enters 1930 with a very favorable outlook, partly due to the co-operation practiced among producers during the closing months of 1929. This co-operation resulted in curtailing crude production in line with actual consumptive requirements, while at the same time, both producing and refining branches operated on a more satisfactory basis. Based upon the best opinion prevailing in trade circles, there is every indication that this co-operation will continue for some time.

Prompt indications of easement in credit conditions after the turn of the year developed in the announcement of a reduction of ⅛th of 1 per cent in bankers' acceptances for 30 and 60 and 90 days. Trade news over the holiday was encouraging, particularly the survey of the American Railway Association, indicating that shipments of the 29 chief commodities in the first quarter this year would show a decrease of less than 1 per cent. With sentiment encouraged by optimistic statements from Secretary Mellon and Secretary Lamont and the list free from selling for tax purposes, the whole market displayed a buoyant tone in the opening dealings for 1930.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY is rounding out the biggest year in history and will probably show between $8 and $9 a share earned on 2,400,000 shares of $25 par common outstanding. This would compare with $7.31 a share in 1928 on 2,209,520 shares then outstanding. Stockholders will vote March 12 on changing par value of common shares to $10 from $25 to split the shares 2½-for-1 and to increase the authorized capital stock by an additional 6,000,000 common shares. The additional stock will be utilized for acquisition of new properties and for expanding present business.

National Biscuit Company has gradually rounded out a self-contained organization. The company is the largest buyer of sugar and cereals in the world. It has its own milling company with a daily capacity of 6,000 barrels of flour, its own carton factories and machine shops. Its merchandising system is on a most efficient basis throughout the country, and its buying department is regarded as one of the best in the country. The company's cake baking business is being expanded rapidly. Its first bakery, solely for this purpose, is now under construction in Newark. The company has 19 bread bakeries, which also produces cakes. The company builds its plants out of earnings.

A. M. Byers Production Costs Reduced

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE use of its new process for the production of wrought iron saved the A. M. Byers Company over $5 a ton in its production costs last year. This was disclosed in the annual report for the year ended September 30, 1929.

The saving was accomplished with only a portion of the organization's material being made by the new process. Part of the requirements for wrought iron were made at the Girard, O., plant where puddling was carried on by the old production methods. The new process iron was made at the Warren, O., plant. Operations at this point were on a smaller scale than they will be when the new Ambridge plant is completed. Further economies will be shown when large scale production is started and all of the required iron can be made by modern methods.

Savings Expected

THE full extent of the savings to be shown at the new plant can be realized by a study of the operating conditions of the past year. The new process wrought iron made at Warren was turned out in a semi-finished form. It had to be hauled by freight to the Girard plant to be reheated and rolled into skelp. This skelp (long strips from which pipe is made) then had to be shipped to the pipe mills at Pittsburgh to be made into finished products.

The Ambridge plant will make wrought iron and roll it into skelp at one point without any reheating. Only a short haul will be necessary to carry the skelp to the pipe mills. The saving in freight alone will be a very important item in the further reduction of costs in addition to the economies of large scale production and the elimination of all hand puddling operations.

Lower Selling Price

IN discussing the past year's operations, E. M. Byers, chairman, and A. H. Beale, president, said:

"On January 2, 1929, a reduction in selling prices averaging about $5 a ton was made effective. This decrease was offset by lower average costs of about the same amount per ton. Sales of pipe measured in tons increased slightly during the year, but the lower price basis caused the sales value to decline slightly. Plans are being perfected for intensified sales efforts to dispose of the output of the new plants when they are completed and in operation."

The detailed income accounts show that net sales for the year ended September 30, 1929, were $10,154,843, compared with $10,606,362 in the preceding year, but the cost of sales excluding depreciation and depletion declined in a greater proportion. Costs in the last year were $6,851,720 or 67.5 per cent of sales. In the preceding year costs were $7,384,621 or 69.8 per cent of the sales. As a result of this gross manufacturing profit increased from $3,221,740 in the 1928 year to $3,303,122 last year in spite of the lower prices received.

Record Year

THE year covered by the report was the greatest in the company's history. Net profit after deducting depreciation, depletion, taxes and other charges was $1,997,197. After deducting dividends on the $6,124,400 of 7 per cent preferred stock this was equivalent to $5.81 a share on the 266,635 shares of common stock. In the preceding year net profit was $1,577,513 or $5.76 a share on 199,340 shares outstanding at that time.

The report reflected the extent of the expansion now under way in the company's business. Total assets were increased from $18,348,756 at the end of the previous fiscal year to $27,518,528 on the last balance sheet. Earned surplus increased from $3,839,351 to $5,218,454.

MARKET RALLY CHANGES TO DECLINE

Scores of Early Gains Cut Down With Many Converted Into Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The opening of the new year on the New York Stock Exchange today was greeted with a brisk rally, but it proved to be short-lived as a renewal of selling pressure against the merchandising, public utility issues and high-priced specialties, turned the general course of prices downward around mid-day. Scores of early gains of 1 to nearly 6 points were cut down, or wiped out, and many of them were converted into declines running from 2 to 6½ points.

A further sharp falling off in freight car traffic, appointment of equity receivers for the Submarine Boat Corporation, the passing of the American Cigar dividend and the revelation of large losses by investment trusts during the October-November break, all contributed to the bearish stock market sentiment.

CURTAIL OPERATIONS

The early rally was based on the belief that the completion of the heavy liquidation for tax loss purposes had strengthened the technical position of the market, which also was expected to benefit from the distribution of more than $1,000,000 in dividends and interest this month. The early investment demand was disappointing, however, and pools, which had resumed activities in the expectation of attracting a large outside following, were compelled to curtail operations or run the risk of dissipating all of their buying power.

Commission houses continued to urge their customers to exercise careful discrimination in the making of new commitments.

Optimistic year-end statements by Secretaries Mellon and Lamont and a number of banking, business and railroad executives were not received with the same enthusiasm as in years past. Except for the rather general belief that security prices probably would be better in the last half of the year than the first half, few brokerage houses ventured any prophecies as to the trend of the market during the next few months.

BEARIS HFACTORS

Among the bearish factors stressed were: The loss of general buying power as a result of the recent crash in stock prices; the curtailment in freight traffic anad general industrial production; the loss of gold; uncertainties over the tariff; prospects of congressional investigation of the Federal Reserve and securities speculation; increased unemployment; additional business casualties and the forced liquidation of securities tied up as collateral for loans in banks.

Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, with the remand light and indications that the rate would work lower within the next day or two. Short maturities in bankers acceptances were cut ⅛ of 1 per cent. The Bank of England made no change in its discount rate.

STOCKS LOSE GAINS

General Electric rallied 5¾ points to 249¼ and then broke to 240, J. I. Case moved up 4¼ to 203 and dropped to 194½, Columbian Carbon advanced 3¾ to 179¾ and fell to 170 and U. S. Steel common climbed 2¾ to 173¾, and tumbled to 168¾. Allied Chemical fell 6½ points below Tuesday's close, Standard Gas and Electric 5, and Sears Roebuck, R. H. Macy and Simmons 4 each. Among the many issues to lose 2 points or more were American Telephone, American Can, Timken Roller Bearing and American and Foreign Power.

Bullish factors set forth were: The strong position of the banks; the absence of any extensive inventories except in the automobile and a few smaller industries; the prospects of easier money and its stimulus to building and other construction; the administration's program to stimulate business; the relatively small volume of bank loans tocorporations, and the presence of a large short interest in the market which is expected to act as a cushion on minor reactions.

Maytag Company Retires Shares

The Maytag Company has retired 34,500 shares of its $3 cumulative preference stock and 800 shares of its $6 first preferred stock. The shares being retired were purchased in the open market in part from proceeds of its exercise of warrants and their retirement will reduce annual preferred and preference dividend requirements by $151,500.

Incidental to the retirement, warrants for the purchase of 45,375 shares of common stock are being canceled.

Freight Loadings Decline Sharply

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended December 21 totaled 842,483 cars, the American Railway Association announced today. Compared with the corresponding week in 1928, this was a decrease of 58,137 cars, but an increase of 12,673 cars above the corresponding week in 1927. The total for the week of December 21 was a reduction of 80,757 cars under the preceding week.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

Liverpool wheat was due ¼ penny off; opened ⅛ to 1 pence upward, and at 1:20 p. m. was 1¼ to 1⅝ pence up. Wheat closed ⅝d to ⅝d up.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 5 points in response to the steady showing of Liverpool. Offerings were light. There appeared to be a little trade buying and soon after the opening better commission house demand was reported, which sent prices about 9 to 11 points net higher. March sold up to 17.43c and July to 17.82c, and the market was within a point or two of the best at end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables said that continental and Bombay liquidation had been absorbed by covering and trade calling in that market and reported moderate cloth sales with rather a more optimistic feeling in Manchester owing to expectations of increased business this month.

Trading was not active, but the market held very steady later in the morning on covering combined with a little commission house buying, while offerings remained comparatively light. Prices worked up to 17.46c for March, while January advanced to 17.25c with the general list showing net gains of about 14 to 19 points. Prices were 3 to 4 points off from the best at midday under realizing.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 2.—Cotton—Spot in fair demand; prices higher. American strict good middling, 10.31d; good middling, 9.91d; strict middling, 9.71d; middling, 9.46d; strict low middling, 9.21d; low middling, 8.81d; strict good ordinary, 8.46d; good ordinary, 8.06d. Sales, 5,000 bales, including 3,600 American. Receipts, 6,000 bales, American 4,400. Futures closed steady; January, 9.14d; March, 9.28d; May, 9.37d; July, 9.43d; October, 9.43d; January (1931), 9.45d.

Metal Market.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Standard copper—Spot, £70 17s 6d; future, £69 10s. Electrolytic, spot, £83; future, £83 15s. Tin—Spot, £178 10s; future, £182 5s. Lead—Spot, £21 7s 6d; future, £21 10s. Zinc—Spot, £19 17s 6d; future, £20 7s 6d.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—The curb market began the new year with a vigorous rally, but soon appeared to have over-exerted itself, as a moderate reaction set in during the early afternoon. The morning rally was evidently a continuation of Tuesday's upturn, which was in a large measure influenced by short covering. Trading was in light volume, and of an almost entirely professional character.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

LIBERTY DAIRY IN DEMAND HERE

Pittsburgh Plate Recedes From Tuesday's High Mark; Fuel Issues Steady

Prices were somewhat erratic at the opening of the new year on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Volume of trading was unchanged from the past few sessions and with one or two exceptions the changes in quotations were fractional.

Liberty Dairy Products scored a gain in the early trading demand for the issue forced the price up more than two points from the previous close. Smaller advances including United Engineering and Pittsburgh Forgings.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass slipped back several points on the opening, losing a good part of the gain recorded in Tuesday's trading. The drop was attributed to a thin demand rather than to any developments affecting the company's outlook. In Tuesday's session Plate Glass enjoyed a spurt of eight points, five of which were clipped off on the opening trade this morning.

Fuel stocks were steady, but there were no noticeable changes in the early dealings. Western Public Service was quiet and Lone Star was fractionally higher on a scale of 100 shares at the opening.

Am. Cigar Passes Common Dividend

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Directors of the American Cigar Company have omitted the quarterly dividend of $2 on the common stock due at this time.

American Tobacco Company has purchased 27,000 shares of preferred stock of American Cigar Company. In addition American Tobacco will loan American Cigar up to a total of $12,000,000 during 1930 to care for the latter's expenses in extensive improvements planned, involving new equipment and enlargement of selling facilities.

Republic's Welding Patents Sustained

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Judge C. G. Galston of U. S. District Court in Brooklyn in a decision today upheld Steels and Tubes Inc., a subsidiary of Republic Iron and Steel Co., in its patent infringement suit against the Greenpoint Metallic Bed Co. of Brooklyn. It was charged the latter had infringed the Johnston process for electric welding of steel tubing owned by Republic Iron-Steel Co.

Stock Market Recovery Seen in 1930 Outlook

—By B. C. FORBES—

ATTEMPTING a 1929 forecast I said in this column exactly a year ago:

"What 1929 will bring stock marketwise is on the knees of the gods. One man's guess is as good as another's. Mine happens to be that, whatever further success the bulls may have in the early part of the year, they will reach the end of their tether long before the end of the year.

"In face of the monetary conditions, it is not conceivable to this writer that the speculative whoopee can be furiously kept up throughout the year.

"It is entirely possible that 1929 will witness prosperity in business and employment, but not increasing prosperity in stock speculation."

I also wrote last January:

"That the early part of 1929 will witness further marking-up of stock quotations is the general expectation. My humble view is that the strain upon credit will cause the speculative boom to collapse this year. I fear, too, that disturbances in Wall street will be sufficiently severe to have some adverse effect upon industry and general business."

It was not difficult to foresee a year ago what was in store for Wall street, and it was safe to predict that business would continue active until the imminence of a stock crash became generally recognized.

One cannot be equally emphatic in attempting to forecast the course of industry and securities during 1930. The outlook now is less clear. However, here is my guess:

The stock market will achieve a recovery exceeding current expectations.

After early irregularity, the recovery will become more pronounced. Movements may be desultory for a brief spell during the summer, but the approach of fall, I believe, will witness a substantial revival in activity, confidence and strength.

THE money market probably will disappoint those who look for phenomenal ease. Call rates promise to return to their old-time relation to time rates, meaning cheaper day-to-day facilities than facilities for thirty days to six months.

But the money market should not prove in any sense a restrictive factor during the coming 12 months.

CANDIDLY, it takes courage—perhaps it would be better to say rashness—to attempt to forecast the course of industry and business.

My paradoxical prediction is that business will be reasonably satisfactory.

Such industries as motors and steels should enjoy almost immediate and emphatic rebounds from the irrationally low levels of recent weeks. Panic or no panic, the demand for automobiles will continue on a scale warranting larger output than that of the last two months. Railway buying of steel, as well as buying for heavy construction (public and private) should help to keep the steel industry at least normally active.

In most other industries timid recovery rather than a rebound is suggested. Ordinary building operations conceivably will fall materially below the records attained in recent years.

General retail trade will do well if it does not prove subnormal. Rambunctious spending must not be counted upon, certainly not in the first half of the year.

The Department of Agriculture declares that the purchasing-power of our far-flung agricultural population promises this year to equal last year's, a comforting statement.

UNEMPLOYMENT, involving political and other agitation, threatens to be the bete noir of America's future. Science, chemistry, invention, managerial skill, cheap electric and gas power have combined to effect tremendously increased production without corresponding increase in human labor. Endless mergers also release employes of all ranks—executives, superintendents, salesmen, clerks, technicians, rank-and-file workmen.

This is the supreme problem challenging America's industrial, financial, business statesmen. The task does not call for a Chamber of Commerce committee, but for an institute of industrial co-ordination headed by an organizing genius and wholeheartedly supported by the brainiest leaders in every walk of our economic life. President Hoover's admittedly temporary economic council should give place as speedily as possible to a more weighty body not under the aegis of any chamber of commerce.

Properly tackled, this most fundamentally serious of our economic and social problems should not prove insoluble by the brilliant brains this nation happily possesses.

TO SUM up, a year from now both stocks and business should be on a substantially better basis.

December Gold Loss Totals $90,800,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The New York Federal Reserve Bank reported that the country's net loss in gold during December was $90,800,000, reducing the net gain for 1929 from $228,100,000 at the end of October to $115,000,000 at the end of December. The November loss was about $23,000,000.

Exports last month, said the bank's monthly business review, totaled $72,200,000, of which $47,000,000 went to France and $21,000,000 to England. Gold earmarked for foreign account increased $22,000,000. The December reduction in the monetary gold stock was the largest for any month since May, 1928.

Thompson Products To Change Capital

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2.—Thompson Products, Inc., has called a special meeting of stockholders for January 13 to vote on creation of 300,000 shares of no-par common stock, to take the place of the company's present class A and B shares. Exchange of the class B shares outstanding will be made share-for-share for each new share of common.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Strength of the high-grade rails gave a brighter tone to the bond market today, although trading was still dull as money rates held firm pending completion of the heavy year-end settlements.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars).

Novelettes

SPEAKING via the WABC ether we unfolded a character study of the late Rudy Valentino, realizing that our listeners, if any, would consist mainly of women. We told of the time when we met Valentino for the first introduction up at Texas Guinan's asylum and how Rudy reacted to the charges of a Chicago editorialist, who slammed him hard because he featured a ''slave bracelet'' on his wrist.

Rudy, in response to our query, pounded the night club table in defense of that wrist ornament. ''All gentlemen in Europe,'' he said, ''wear them, and most of the Yankee soldiers wore them during the war. At the time, however, they were called ''identification tags.'' But, I don't care what anybody says. I wear it because it packs a lot of sentiment. It was given to me by my first wife, Jean Acker, and I hope it is on my wrist even when I'm dead!''

Then we told the radio audience that after he died a few days later, we elbowed our way through the huge crowds that collected in Campbell's Funeral Church and observed that that "slave bracelet" still decorated Rudy's lifeless wrist, and that we wondered at the time if Jean Acker had observed it, too.

MEMORIES, MEMORIES

AFTER the radio program there was some telephone messages from listeners, but the one message that got the first response stated: "Please call Wickersham Number soandso and ask for Jean Acker."

We called the number, wondering, while the connection was being made, if we had offended Valentino's first wife and if she were going to give us a piece of her mind. Instead, her soft and hesitant voice said: "I am Jean Acker. Thak you for calling me. I wanted to tell you that I was deeply touched over what you said about Rudy—at least everyone hasn't forgotten him."

"I'm glad you were pleased," we said. "You see, I kinda liked that guy."

The sad woman, it appeared, swallowed hard, and then, almost on the verge of tears, answered: "I did, too. I did, too."

And then she hung up.

HOW TO IMPRESS 'EM

DAVE'S Noo? Room, as it could be called, is an all-night rendezvous for the Broadway stay-up-lates, which include actors, alleged actors, gamblers, chorus girls, good girls, bad girls, second rate playwrights, third rate novelists and so-called Men About Town. One of the latter entered with a dozen lassies from the various musical show ensembles the other sunup and all were seated in the ante-room.

The lone male escort was putting on plenty of dog, making an impression on his lady friends. Not only was he paying their checks, but he was telling them that he was one of the best thieves in the town. "Watch," he said, as he took his departure, "I'm going over to the cashier's desk and steal a box of candy for one of you."

HIST, HIDE IT!

THE chap returned and from under his coat took a box of taffy. "Hide this in your lap," he counselled as he turned it over to one of the gels. The others grew excited. "Oh," they cried, "can't you get one for me, too?" And so he made a number of trips to the cashier's counter, returning each time with a box of fancy candy.

Of course it was all part of a plot to make the girls think he was a Somebody—even if it were a Thief. What the lad did, however, was arrange things with the owner of the place and the cashier, paying a lump sum for the "stolen goods."

But those conscience-stricken girls perspired freely. And as they left the restaurant all of them, shofpilters at heart, took their departure timidly hiding their respective boxes of chocolates under their dresses, and when one gal accidently dropped her box of candy near the door, she immediately swooned from fright.

THEY are still talking about it along Broadway and Park Row. She is a young dance critic for a morning rag and he is a well-known architect, who wooed her for many months. She always turned down his proposals on the ground that she was still in her 'teens and was too young to be sealed. But a fortnight ago she suddenly changed her mind and everything was settled. She made him promise, however, that he wouldn't tell a soul.

Not being able to resist telling a very few dear friends, the romance ended painfully for him. Christmas eve the lass received a holiday card from one of "these kind" friends addressed a trifle prematurely to "Mrs. ———." She called the engagement off in a rage and now the heart-broken chap will quietly shelve New York for Yurrup as soon as possible.

The tragedy of the thing lies in the fact that what both of them took for a tactless and stupid joke was really done on purpose.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Recent upheaveals in the stock market make this an opportune time to market sound securities. We are therefore offering an unlimited amount of stock in Oriten Pedestobile. The illustration shows the product—the convenience of which is plainly evident. Large seating capacity, easy control and minimum space required for parking, are among outstanding features. Can be used by pedestrians for crossing busy intersections, and then parked in convenient elevator shaft, or hung from upper branches of tree. A phone call will bring our Mr. Floyd Fuller to explain fully.

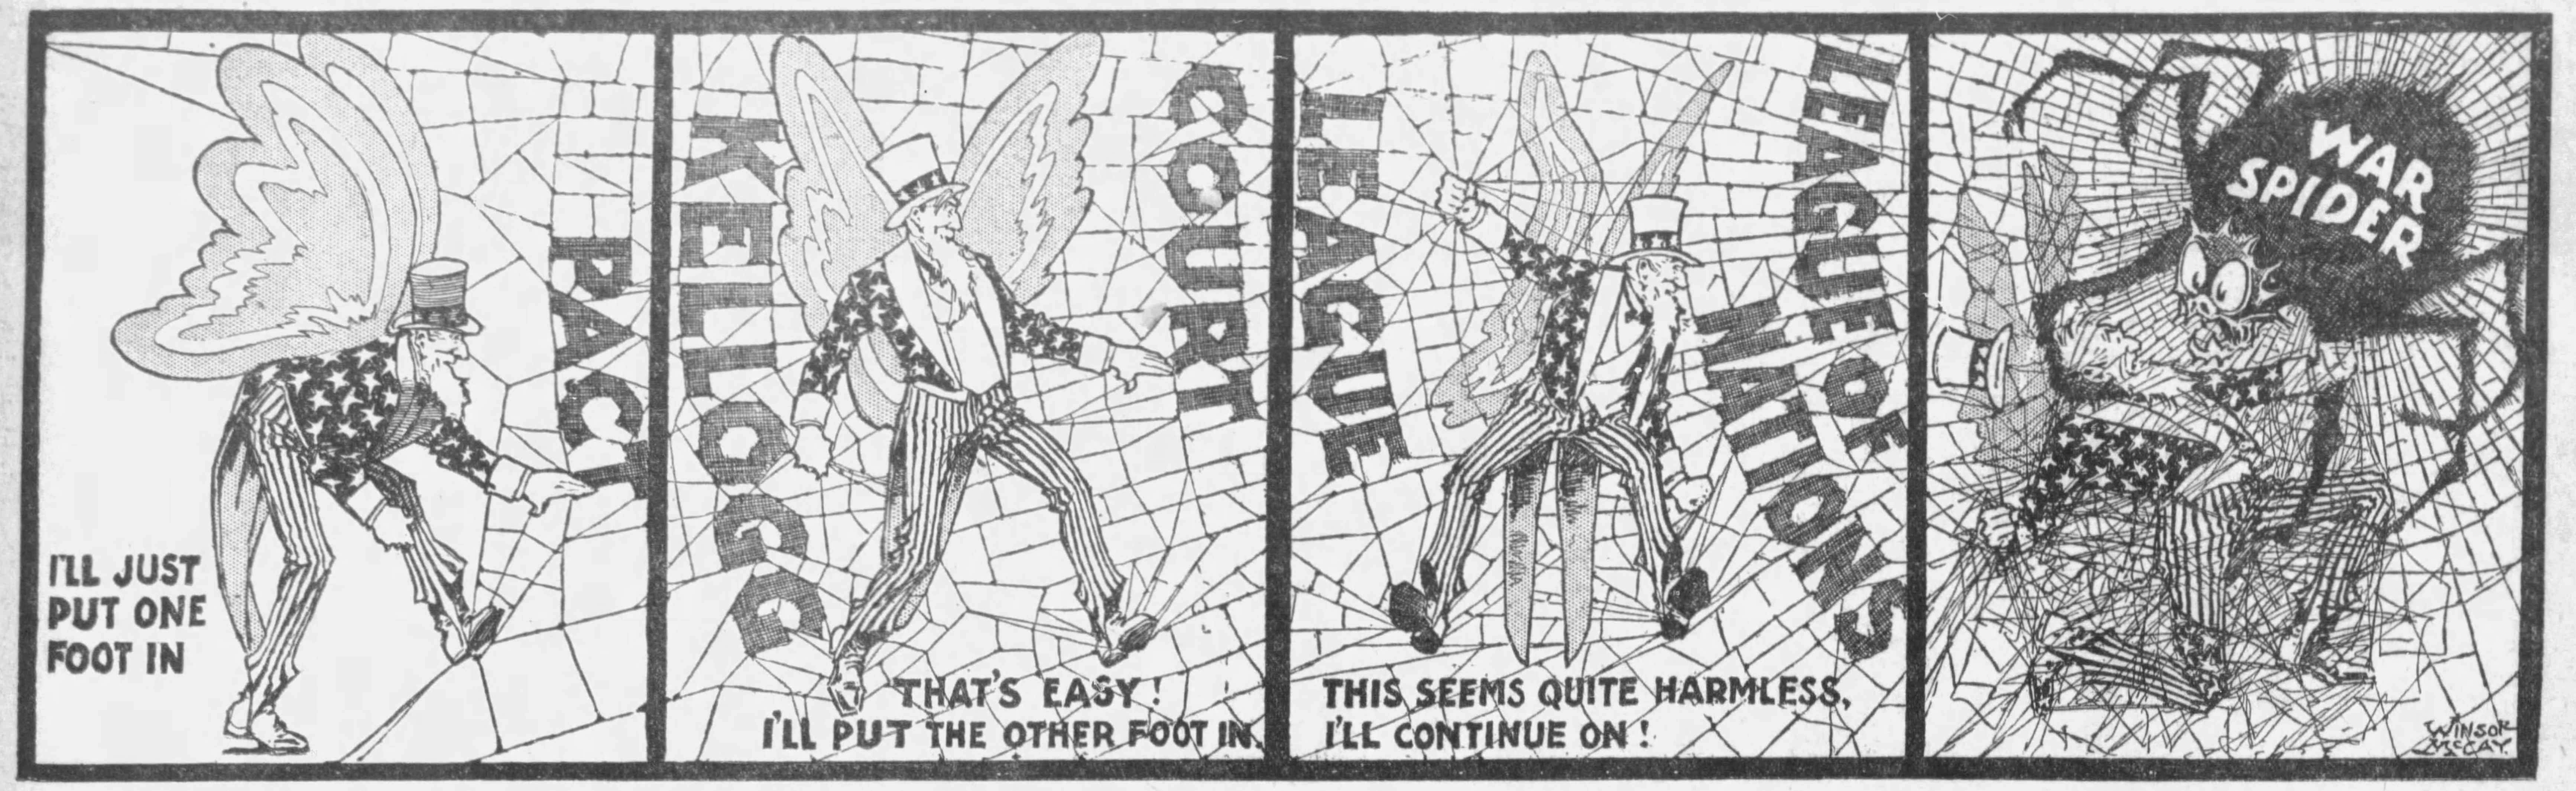
(Copyright, 1930.)



PACT
KELLOGG COURT
THAT'S EASY! I'LL PUT THE OTHER FOOT IN.
LEAGUE
LEAGUE OF NATIONS
THIS SEEMS QUITE HARMLESS, I'LL CONTINUE ON!
WAR SPIDER
WINSOR McCAY

"WON'T you come into my parlor?" said the Spider to the Fly. And the poor, foolish, fat Fly walked in and was devoured.

Ten years ago Uncle Sam refused to join the League of Nations because all American traditions were and STILL ARE against the United States forming any entangling foreign alliance.

International busybodies got busy at once. Misguided American "statesmen" forgot their Americanism and signed the "Kellogg Pact" to renounce all war, only to learn later that Europe was prepared to tell Uncle Sam just which wars he would fight and just which ones he would renounce. Thus we took the first step toward entangling ourselves in European affairs.

Despite the will of the American people, registered very emphatically at the polls several times, President Hoover has declared that he will pave the way for our entrance into the "World Court," which means League Court, and means League of Nations.

Luckily for Uncle Sam and his people, only the Senate of the United States can vote this nation into the League Court. Luckily for the nation, Senatorial elections and primaries will intervene before the matter is submitted to the Senate.

The voters, knowing what happened to the Foolish Fly that walked into the Spider's jaws, will again register their wish on the subject, and summed up it will be "KEEP OUT."

Why Must We Risk War To Satisfy Statesmen?

After his return to England from his visit to America, speaking at a tea in the House of Commons, Great Britain's Premier, J. Ramsay MacDonald, said:

"They (the United States) certainly are not going to co-operate with us as allies bound by formal ties. They certainly are not going to commit themselves to European policy and mix themselves up in European messes.

"No President of the United States is going to go back upon their wise traditional policy of keeping out of European messes.

"It is perfectly evident at the same time that wherever and whenever there is a humane flag flying over the world the thought and heart of America will be there.

"We have never been able to say the United States has failed in support of any great humane cause."

(From 'Time', December 23rd, 1929.)

As a gentle overture to January's five power naval conference, the British Foreign Office issued a "white paper" last week. Bearing the signature of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs Arthur Henderson, it was strongly reminiscent of the quixotic reasoning of James Ramsay MacDonald in his more elfin moments. Discussing that bugaboo of Anglo-U. S. naval agreement, the question of freedom of the seas and rights of neutrals in war time, the paper read:

"The whole situation has been built up on the assumption that there is nothing illegitimate in the use of war as an instrument of national policy, and as a necessary corollary that position and the rights of neutrals are entirely independent of the circumstances of any war which may be in progress.

"This assumption is no longer valid as regards states which are members of the League of Nations and parties to the Kellogg Pact. In other words, as between members of the League there can be no neutral rights, because there can be no neutrals."

This reasoning brought a loud rumble of protest from the square jaw of Hon. William Edgar Borah, chairman of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"If the British interpretation of the Kellogg Pact means that henceforth there shall be no neutrals," he boomed, portentously, "it necessarily follows that we and all the other signatories become belligerents. Under these circumstances that pact is misnamed. It is not a peace pact. It is a war pact."

"The British conception of the matter," said Chairman Fred Albert Britten of the United States House Naval Affairs Committee, "is silly."

Chairman Britten, of the House Naval Affairs Committee, declares that the British conception of the Kellogg Pact matter is silly.

It is not silly.

It is serious.

Chairman Britten is silly if he does not recognize the seriousness of a situation which becomes more serious with every step of ours tending to identify ourselves with the European entanglements which Washington warned us to avoid.

It ought to be obvious by this time, even to the self-advertising statesmen who want to make themselves prominent internationally, even at the expense of their country, that the situation of the United States in these various pacts and compacts is not determined merely by the opinion of the United States, but by the opinion of the other parties to the pacts and compacts.

In other words, the meaning of the phraseology of these agreements, the purpose and intent of the agreements, are determined by the decision of the majority of the parties to the agreements.

And when the United States enters into such a compact, the meaning of the compact and the future course of the United States under the compact, are not going to be decided by the United States, but by the European nations which constitute a majority of the signatories.

Hence the danger of these compacts to our peace and our independence, a danger which increases geometrically with every agreement that we sign.

The Kellogg Pact seemed innocent enough, but it put the United States in the position of a fly that places one foot on the flypaper. The second foot follows and in a short time the fly is hopelessly entangled.

What need is there for the United States to get into these entanglements at all?

Why cannot this country continue to mind its own business in the way that it did so successfully to itself and to the world before the late war?

Why can it not continue to abide by the injunctions of Washington which have guided us in safety and prosperity throughout all the years of our glorious national development?

Why do we have to risk so much to satisfy the vanity of self-seeking, self-promoting statesmen?

The European nations are going to war as surely as the sun rises. Why must we go with them?

We will respect our neighbor's ear-pieces this year by clamping down the radio at midnight and turning on the player-piano.

When a lady stands up in front of us in a crowded street car we will be a gentleman and wear smoked glasses.

When a pal offers us a flask of hip poison we will start the year right by refusing it tooth and nail. After giving the year a good start we will then try to catch up on it.

We will not invest in any more baseball pools, Calcutta sweepstakes or arch supporters. If a man has flat feet he might as well allow 'em to have their own way.

We know that America is the biggest and richest nation in the world. Which makes us a visitor from Mars.

When the sound track flops on a talking picture we will be nonchalant and read some imaginary titles out loud.

We will not hog the middle of the road and will always allow the rear honkers to pass us. If their car is fast enough.

We will do all these things and make 1930 a worthwhile year to tear off the calendar.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THE neighbors were having a little card party and the talk was all about the operation the hostess was going to have.

"Well," says Mr. Sharp, speaking to the husband of the hostess, "I'd never have it done if I was you. It ain't the operation, so much as the after effects that's so terrible."

"Is that so? Well, but look at your wife now. She ain't suffered much from the after-effects of her operation, has she?"

"No, she ain't, but the rest of us sure have."

THE GOLD CURE WON'T WORK

—By Herbert Kaufman—

FEDERAL JUDGE WILLIAM B. KENYON is a B. V. dry—his belief in the desirability of prohibition existed long "BEFORE VOLSTEAD."

It dates from childhood and his mother's teachings. He hasn't the slightest idea of how beer, whisky or wine tastes. In the "good old days" when Capitol oratory was chiefly lubricated with Scotch and Bourbon and members of both houses enjoyed the luxury of basement grog shops, Kenyon never exercised the senatorial privilege of tanking himself into a forensic mood.

His isn't a SYNTHETIC temperance. Wherein he differed from scores of former confreres who voted as a matter of POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY for an amendment to which they then didn't personally subscribe and haven't SINCE respected.

KENYON despises a drunkard, is nauseated by the smell of brandy, and would give his RIGHT ARM to see the entire nation ride on the water wagon.

AND yet THIS is the man who has just reversed the conviction of an Omaha bootlegger whom Federal agents arrested COLD with papers in pocket connecting him with the ownership of two stills and "a quantity of mash."

"Mere suspicion," he rules, "is not sufficient, nor does it satisfy legal requirements that the evidence secured by the search of his person showed the party to be in fact guilty."

He denounces the questionable methods by which the Government frequently procures proof of illicit drinking and vending, and sustains the Supreme Court contention that public officials are not entitled to violate PREVIOUSLY established and still UNRESCINDED laws to execute a LATER one.

The high-handed tactics of Secretary Lowman's sneaks are more abhorrent to Kenyon's judicial conscience than the misdemeanors which supposedly inspire them.

THE integrity of the Constitution is dearer to William B. Kenyon than the scotching of John Barleycorn.

SENATOR Kenyon voted for the Eighteenth Amendment because he was SINCERELY convinced that the country would be happier, more prosperous, and more orderly, without alcoholic beverages.

But JUDGE Kenyon, of the Appeal Circuit, refuses to sustain the enforcement of the act which he so ardently supported, EXCEPT through legitimate and constitutional processes.

His example casts reproach upon OTHER incumbents of the bench whose verile truckling to fanatic excess and white ribbon intolerance has inspired widespread disgust and encouraged suspicion that a considerable section of the judiciary is taking instructions from the BLUE NOSES instead of precedent, Blackstone, and the Magna Charta.

AND that sentiment will steadily gain ground until our chartered rights are again held sacrosanct and the appointed custodians of such charter are impeached for their betrayal in PROHIBITION CASES as they are regardlessly brought to account for similar dereliction in the trial of equity suits and crimes of violence.

The Government will continue to note difficulty in securing convictions under the Volstead Act until it abandons persecutive barbarities, marked cards and Paul Pry tactics.

The average citizen enters the jury box already prejudiced against the presumably bigot on the bench and the brass-buttoned bully on the witness stand.

Extremists in Congress are now pressing for ADDITIONAL millions to fence the borders and tighten the lid on the speakeasy, but no amount of money can compel community observance of a law daily becoming MORE obnoxious because of its maladministration.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

—By O. O. McIntyre—

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Small fortunes have been made in New York by a band of enterprising folk known as "lease profiteers." They are mostly women with a sense of real estate values and are within the law. It is their job to keep in close touch with building development.

Through their own observations, along with tips from employes of real estate concerns, they learn in advance of proposed building booms and move in, first acquiring long-time leases. All they have to do is wait for the actual deal to go through.

Sometimes it misses fire and that is their hazard, but if it clicks they become "holdouts." They decorate the apartment and outfit it on the installment plan. In some instances they acquire several apartments, furnish and sub-rent them.

The laws are inclined to favor those who have made such leases and they can exact a stiff price for their surrender. There have been many cases where a holdout with a year's lease to run at $150 a month has settled for as high as $20,000.

One woman who had rented 15 apartments on a tipoff of a big building plan on Forty-second street is reliably reputed to have made a cash settlement for $80,000. She had in a year's time expended only $13,000. She is now educating her two daughters in France.

In the midtown district recently, many apartment renters, through no scheming whatever, have been given neat bonuses when the time came for the buildings in which they were housed to come down. For the average apartment all cost of moving is defrayed with a gift of $1,000.

Those who live in the Fifth avenue area in the Fifties where the Rockefeller center of art was to have arisen have been treated with generosity. Many domiciled in some of the decaying structures there would have had to move soon anyway. But all received voluntary bonuses.

The New York waitress these days is rarely the gum-chewing chemical blonde with a gold tooth and flip patter. The aristocratic tea rooms and home cooking dinner places so handsomely decorated have brought a new type to the job. Many are those paying their way through night schools or taking home study courses in various arts. They give an aura of dignity to what has been considered a humble job and are swift, sure and self-effacing. One restaurant boasts of two Vassar graduates as "hostesses."

My sympathy is deep for a myopic old gentleman who, upon tapping a figure on the shoulder near the Plaza to ask for a match, turned away quickly, red to his ears. The figure was that of a derbied and mannish young lady in riding breeches.

Petty thieves hunting prospects use the hall directory in modest walk-up apartments where there are no hallmen. Having secured the name and address, it is an easy matter to telephone to see if there is anyone at home before they pay a visit.

* * *

In a crowd of 15 writers at a luncheon at the Hotel Vanderbilt yesterday a pencil was needed. The only person, as usual, who could furnish it was a waiter.

And at the same luncheon a writing gentleman was worried over an invitation he had received to meet a Ranee at a tea later in the afternoon. His dictionary had been of no help. And it was a waiter who politely intruded with: "A Ranee, sir, is the title of the wife of a Rajah." And so it is.

From Cincinnati: "You often speak of Bond street coats and Savile Row trousers but do you know that merchant tailors in this city originated the sawed-off vests and many other innovations in weskits?"

Cincinnati—where the vest begins!

Gyp merchants make a quick clean up in buildings after they have passed to the wreckers. They manage to rent the ground floor shops for a week or 10 days while demolition is taking place overhead. Then they bally-hoo "Coming Down Sales." As a rule they take advantage of the left behind window and outside signs of reputable firms and move in shoddy goods. And with shrieking banners they do a land office business.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

ON THE lower side of the abdomen there are six pairs of limbs or appendages, one pair to each segment except the last. Below the cephalothorax, there are 13 more pairs of appendages.

The structure of these appendages varies with their situation and the duties that they are intended to perform. Most conspicuous are the two pairs of whip-like feelers in front, the enormous claws, the four pairs of walking legs, and the last pair of all which, together with the last abdominal segment, form a flat plate used in the abdomen-flapping mode of retreat.

H. G. Wells.

But besides these obvious appendages there are others. There is a battery of six pairs round the mouth, having various shapes and used for smelling, tearing up and sorting food; there is a series below the abdomen of which in the male the first two pairs are specially modified for transferring spermatozoa to the female.

Moreover, some of the appendages of the cephalothorax bear gills on their bases, and are constructed in various ways so that a current of water may be passed over the gills.

A lobster does not possess anything that could be called a hand. Every one of his nineteen pairs of limbs is designed for the efficient and exclusive performance of some particular duty. They are not so much limbs as tools.

A lobster is like an armless carpenter who has his mallets and planes, his awls and chisels and reamers, his saws, bits, drill, axes, augers and sandpaper—even his knives and forks and spoons and toothpicks—sprouting a double row out of the front of his chest and belly.

On opening the lobster and examining the organs that lie within his hard exterior we find other striking contrasts with ourselves.

The armour, we find, is the lobster's skeleton; he has no bones that correspond to ours, and except in a few places where rods project from the surface into the soft interior in order to give firm attachment to the muscles of his limbs, and except for a marvelous chewing appratus in his stomach, this outer coating is the only rigid tissue he possesses.

Like the hard substance of our own skeletons it is made BY, but not OF, living cells; it is dead matter consisting largely of a horny substance called chitin, and strengthened by the deposition in it of lime salts, and it is secreted by a layer of cells that lies immediately below it.

Since the lobster lies inside his own skeleton, the mechanical arrangements of his limbs and other movable parts have to be different from ours.

The lobster's main interior, cavity in the cephalothorax, is not divided into thorax and abdomen cavities like ours; it is one large cavity. Moreover this cavity is filled with blood. It is not a special cavity as our body-cavities are; it is as if the veins of a vertebrate had swollen enormously and united together, squeezing the true body-cavity (and, incidentally, the whole lympathic system) out of existence.

Further the color of the blood is different. Instead of our red oxygen-carrying pigment haemoglobin, the lobster has a pale-blue pigment called haemo-cyanin, with copper in it instead of iron, and instead of being contained in special circulating cells this pigment is diffused, dissolved in the blood-plasma.

Within this vast blood-space his various organs are disposed, and their arrangement is quite different from that of a vertebrate. The lobster's central nervous system runs along his belly; his heart is in the middle of his back; his kidneys and bladder lies in his head and open at the bases of the antennae a little way in front of his mouth.

Our specimen eats anything that he can pick up with a strong preference for animal food —such as smaller crustaceans, molluscs, and worms, or any kind of carrion.

The lobster has no mouth comparable to ours, with lips, tongue, teeth, salivary glands and so on; the very thorough chewing that his food undergoes is done partly by the ppendages and partly in the socalled stomach.

The food is generally seized by the large claws and passed by them to the first or second pair of walking legs; these in their turn hand it to the last pair of mouth - appendages, the third maxillipedes, which tear it to shreds with their rows of sharp teeth.

ONCE OVERS

—By J. J. Mundy—

IT IS the right spirit to keep young as long as you can.

To base your service on your spirit not on your age.

But it is foolish to overtax organs not capable of standing severe demands that might have done no harm at one time but are too strenuous for middle age.

Perhaps you were an athlete twenty years ago.

Now when you are with younger men you like to show how well you have preserved your health and former agility. Then perhaps your grit and ambition carry you to a dangerous effort. They overcome your good judgment and go beyond the limits of discretion.

Perhaps in physical tests you have sought to prove to the younger men that you are still a man of vigor. And then the day after your exhibition of prowess you knew you had been foolish.

To shorten your years of usefulness by a vain exhibition of strength is very silly.

Retain your spirit but don't try to emphasize it by attempting to do things that you should know will injure you.
